(ALSO APPLIES TO BOARD COMMITTEES)

PUBLIC INPUT

A member of the public may address the Board on agenda items, before or during the Board or Committee's consideration of the item for one (1) minute per item, or at the discretion of the Chair. A request to address the Board must be submitted electronically using the tablets available in the Board Room lobby. Individuals requesting to speak will be allowed to speak for a total of three (3) minutes per meeting on agenda items in one minute increments per item. For individuals requiring translation service, time allowed will be doubled. The Board shall reserve the right to limit redundant or repetitive comment.

The public may also address the Board on non-agenda items within the subject matter jurisdiction of the Board during the general public comment period, which will be held at the beginning and/or end of each meeting. Each person will be allowed to speak for one (1) minute during this General Public Comment period or at the discretion of the Chair. Speakers will be called according to the order in which their requests are submitted. Elected officials, not their staff or deputies, may be called out of order and prior to the Board's consideration of the relevant item.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, and in accordance with the Brown Act, this agenda does not provide an opportunity for members of the public to address the Board on any Consent Calendar agenda item that has already been considered by a Committee, composed exclusively of members of the Board, at a public meeting wherein all interested members of the public were afforded the opportunity to address the Committee on the item, before or during the Committee's consideration of the item, and which has not been substantially changed since the Committee heard the item.

In accordance with State Law (Brown Act), all matters to be acted on by the MTA Board must be posted at least 72 hours prior to the Board meeting. In case of emergency, or when a subject matter arises subsequent to the posting of the agenda, upon making certain findings, the Board may act on an item that is not on the posted agenda.

TECHNOLOGY DISRUPTIONS - Although staff will do their due diligence to restore service, if joining the meeting virtually, please be aware that the Committee or Board may continue its meeting not withstanding a technical disruption that prevents members of the public from attending or observing the meeting via the two-way telephonic service or two-way audio visual platform.

CONDUCT IN THE BOARD ROOM - The following rules pertain to conduct at Metropolitan Transportation Authority meetings:

REMOVAL FROM THE BOARD ROOM - The Chair shall order removed from the Board Room any person who commits the following acts with respect to any meeting of the MTA Board:

a. Disorderly behavior toward the Board or any member of the staff thereof, tending to interrupt the due and orderly course of said meeting.
b. A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct or violent disturbance, tending to interrupt the due and orderly course of said meeting.
c. Disobedience of any lawful order of the Chair, which shall include an order to be seated or to refrain from addressing the Board; and
d. Any other unlawful interference with the due and orderly course of said meeting.

INFORMATION RELATING TO AGENDAS AND ACTIONS OF THE BOARD

Agendas for the Regular MTA Board meetings are prepared by the Board Clerk and are available prior to the meeting in the MTA Records Management Department and on the Internet. Every meeting of the MTA Board of Directors is recorded and is available at https://www.metro.net or on CD's and as MP3's for a nominal charge.

DISCLOSURE OF CONTRIBUTIONS

The State Political Reform Act (Government Code Section 84308) requires that a party to a proceeding coming before an agency involving a license, permit, or other entitlement for use including all contracts (other than competitively bid contracts that are required by law, agency policy, or agency rule to be awarded pursuant to a competitive process , labor contracts, personal employment contracts, contracts valued under $50,000, contracts where no party receives financial compensation, contracts between two or more agencies, the periodic review or renewal of development agreements unless there is a material modification or amendment proposed to the agreement, the periodic review or renewal of competitively bid contracts unless there are material modifications or amendments proposed to the agreement that are valued at more than 10 percent of the value of the contract or fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), whichever is less, and modifications of or amendments to any of the foregoing contracts, other than competitively bid contracts), shall disclose on the record of the proceeding any contributions in an amount of more than $500 made within the preceding 12 months by the party, or the party's agent, to any officer of the agency. When a closed corporation is party to, or participant in, such a proceeding, the majority shareholder must make the same disclosure. Failure to comply with this requirement may result in the assessment of civil or criminal penalties.

ADA REQUIREMENTS

RECOMMENDATION

APPROVE Motion by Yaroslavsky, Bass, Padilla, Mitchell, and Horvath to direct the Chief Executive Officer, in consultation with any relevant County or City of Los Angeles departments, to:

A. Evaluate the feasibility of temporary advertising on construction walls or solid fencing at one Metro-owned property within the City of Los Angeles, including but not limited to the Metro-owned lots on (1) the southwest corner of Wilshire Boulevard and La Brea Avenue; and (2) relevant East San Fernando Valley line parcels. The evaluation should rank candidate sites based on financial feasibility and identify any additional properties that may be well suited for this use;

   1. This evaluation should include an estimate of gross advertising revenue, projected net revenue, vendor costs, maintenance costs, permitting costs, enforcement costs to determine whether the program is likely to generate net revenue sufficient to justify implementation. If the analysis shows promise, identify options for dedicating net revenue to Metro priorities such as station maintenance, public safety, graffiti abatement, customer experience, construction mitigation, or service support;

B. Identify all existing policies and regulations related to advertising content, Olympic and Paralympic Games rules, public agency advertising standards, land use approvals, joint development agreements, federal funding requirements, or existing Metro advertising contracts; and

C. Report back in 90 days to the Finance, Budget, and Audit Committee with the findings from the evaluation, and if financially feasible, a proposed pilot framework, including recommended site or sites, legal findings, permitting pathway, revenue projections, maintenance and enforcement plan, community outreach plan, and timeline for implementation.

2. A minimum of 3 consecutive miles of street closure per event;

3. Applications should prioritize events that bring multiple communities and local businesses together around a unifying theme; and

B. Report back to the Board within 120 days to formalize the request made in Board Report - 2025-0854, with alternatives that identify funding to support Open Streets programming and events beginning in FY 2028 and continuing thereafter.

EXECUTIVE MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE MADE THE FOLLOWING RECOMMENDATION (3-0):

29. SUBJECT: KEEPING METRO AFFORDABLE, EXPANDING METRO'S SUBSIDIZED FARE AND FARELESS PROGRAMS MOTION 2026-0689

APPROVE Motion by Bass, Dupont-Walker, Richardson, Mitchell, Solis and Sandoval to direct the CEO to:

A. Develop a plan to increase participation in Metro's subsidized fare and fareless programs by at least 30 percent, including the LIFE Program, GoPass, U-Pass, the Employer Program and all existing programs that provide free or reduced-cost transit to eligible riders. The plan should include strategies to increase employer participation and encourage more employers to subsidize or provide free or reduced-cost transit with their employees;

B. Report back to the Board within 90 days with recommendations for achieving the 30 percent expansion for calendar year 2027, including but not limited to;

1. Current enrollment and utilization levels for each subsidized or fareless fare program;

2. An assessment of eligible riders consistent with an equity lens who are not currently enrolled or regularly utilizing available benefits;

3. Strategies to increase enrollment, retention, and utilization;

4. Identification of administrative, technological, or other barriers to participation;

5. Opportunities to simplify enrollment and eligibility verification;

6. Opportunities to expand digital access to fare benefits through the TAP app and other TAP system enhancements;

7. Recommendations for measuring the impact of the expansion on ridership, customer access, public safety, and other relevant outcomes.

8. Gather data that analyzes the demographics and ridership in the City of Los Angeles, the 87 cities, and unincorporated areas of Los Angeles County;

9. An assessment of the resources necessary to sustain increased participation, including potential federal, state, local, philanthropic, and other funding sources and fare recovery;

C. Expand outreach and enrollment efforts, in coordination with community-based organizations, schools, local governments, social service agencies, and other community partners, with an emphasis on reaching eligible residents who are not currently participating in Metro's subsidized fare programs; and

D. Analyze the 2021 Fareless System Initiative Study to identify opportunities for potential implementation, including consideration of operational, financial, equity, and regional impacts.

OPERATIONS, SAFETY, AND CUSTOMER EXPERIENCE COMMITTEE MADE THE FOLLOWING RECOMMENDATION (5-0):

32. SUBJECT: P2000 LIGHT RAIL VEHICLE (LRV) OVERHAUL PROGRAM CONSULTANT SUPPORT SERVICES 2026-0063

RECOMMENDATION

AUTHORIZE the Chief Executive Officer to execute Contract Modification No. 34 to Contract No PS20113000, a cost plus fixed-fee contract with CH2M Hill, Inc. for the P2000 Light Rail Vehicle (LRV) Overhaul Program Consultant Support Services, increasing the Not-To-Exceed (NTE) contract price by $810,985.32, from $11,012,090.20 to $11,823,075.52, and extending the period of performance from September 30, 2026 through June 30, 2034. This requested increase to the NTE contract price is within the current P2000 LOP budget.

SUBJECT: ENVIRONMENTAL ENGINEERING AND CONSULTING SERVICES

ACTION: APPROVE CONTRACT AWARD

AUTHORIZE the Chief Executive Officer to:

A. AWARD an Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity Cost Plus Fixed Fee Contract No. EN 136012EN089, to Veridian Transit Solutions, for Environmental Engineering and Consulting services, in the Not-To-Exceed (NTE) amount of $44,772,922 for a three-year base term, and two, one-year options in the NTE amounts of $14,787,002 and $14,808,572, respectively, for a total NTE amount of $74,368,496, subject to resolution of protest(s), if any;

B. EXECUTE Contract Modifications within the Board-approved funding; and

C. APPROVE Contract Modification Authority for Contract No. EN136012EN089 in the amount of $4,477,000, or 10% of the base term total Board-approved NTE funding amount, to cover the costs of any unforeseen services.

ISSUE

Under federal, state, and local law and to avoid fines, civil, or criminal liability, Metro is required to evaluate hazardous substances, contamination, and/or regulatory compliance for nearly every capital project and/or ongoing facilities maintenance and restoration activities. This Contract is a critical component for technical and environmental engineering support for our capital and operating projects. This Contract provides technical expertise to ensure compliance and execution of important environmental design, data generation and analysis, and environmental measurement and monitoring required by federal, state, and local jurisdictions.

BACKGROUND

Metro's Capital Improvement Projects and ongoing facilities maintenance and restoration activities require environmental engineering and consulting services. To avoid potential fines, and civil and criminal liability, it is important that Metro remain in compliance with all applicable environmental laws and regulations. This Contract provides critical technical and environmental engineering support for many of Metro's Capital and operating projects. The scope of services contemplated by this Contract has been performed continuously for over 25 years, and this Contract will be the sixth contract under which such services have been provided. The Contract provides technical and expert environmental support for environmental compliance and execution of environmental design, data generation and analysis, and environmental measurement and monitoring as required by Federal and State statutes, regulations, and local ordinances. Additionally, this Contract is necessary to execute current risk, schedule, and cost-critical tasks, including those already in the project pipeline, and to maintain momentum in supporting the delivery of current and future projects.

For the past 25 years, Metro Environmental Services Division has contracted for Environmental Engineering and Consulting services to provide environmental and geotechnical assessments, environmental site assessments, construction and industrial stormwater monitoring, noise and vibration monitoring, air quality monitoring, soil and groundwater sampling, industrial wastewater sampling, fuel storage tank system design, permitting assistance, and other regulatory testing and reporting requirements. This contract will also provide environmental emergency response, industrial hygiene support, CalGreen/LEED/ Envision tracking and certification, and unhoused encampment response.

DISCUSSION

This award is the Environmental Engineering and Consulting Services contract that supports environmental compliance for all of Metro's Capital Improvement Projects including the 2028 Olympic and Paralympic Games and Joint Development's 10K Home Commitment Program. The scope under the Contract includes environmental and geotechnical assessments, site assessments and remediation, hazardous materials abatement, construction and industrial stormwater monitoring, air quality monitoring, soil and groundwater sampling, industrial wastewater sampling, GASB 49 Environmental Liability Reporting, fuel storage tank system design, permitting assistance, and other regulatory testing and reporting requirements.

The Contract is an Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) contract, and the total Contract amount is the aggregate of all future Task Orders and option years under the Contract. The consultant is not guaranteed any work. When the need for environmental engineering and consulting services arises, staff will issue task orders for the required services under the scope of services. The Task Orders and changes will be funded from specific project or operations budgets which make up the Board-approved Metro budget for the particular fiscal year.

All of the task orders will be based on agreed-upon rates negotiated and determined at the onset of the contract. Staff will apply strict project controls in the execution of each task order to closely monitor the consultant's budget and the schedule. No funds will be obligated until a Task Order is awarded against a valid project.

To accomplish the services under each task order, the consultant will provide necessary staff, sub-consultants, equipment, software, supplies, and services. The consultant shall employ or subcontract as needed with diverse environmental professionals such as professional engineers; registered geologists, qualified stormwater developers (QSD), Certified Industrial Hygienists (CIH), and Certified Asbestos Consultants (CAC.)

DETERMINATION OF SAFETY IMPACT

This Board action will not have an adverse impact on safety standards for Metro. It will, however, increase Metro safety because sustainability-related projects and programs support the health and safety of our staff and customers who use Metro systems.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

Contract No. EN136012EN089 is an Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) contract. All task orders are individually negotiated, and the requested services from the consultant will be fully defined prior to the authorization of any funds. The Chief Program Management Officer and Project Managers are responsible for providing appropriate budgets and following task order award process protocols during the execution of each task order. Execution of work under task orders may continue beyond the Contract end date.

Obligations and authorizations made within the total Contract amount will be against specific project or operations budgets, which make up the Board-approved Metro budget for the particular fiscal year. Specific funding for this Contract will parallel the project approved by the Board under separate actions. The Executive Officers and Project Managers of each business unit and the Project Managers overseeing these projects will be responsible for providing appropriate budgets.

Impact to Budget

The source of funds for this Contract is partially included in the department's capital budget under Project Numbers 300012 - Site Remediation, Cost Center 8420 Environmental Compliance and Services, 202341-Environmental Compliance Capital Projects, and Account 50316 Professional and Technical Services. Funding for this Contract will be sourced directly from the budget of each individual project at the time it requires the service and must remain within each project's annual budget or Life-of-Project (LOP) budget. These funds are not eligible for bus and rail operations.

EQUITY PLATFORM

This Contract allows Metro projects to be responsive to environmental concerns, minimizing potential negative impacts and benefiting the community with the services the projects provide. Environmental compliance helps address the disproportionate burden that disadvantaged communities may bear by analyzing and mitigating potential impacts across a range of critical areas, including population and housing, traffic and transportation, air quality, energy, greenhouse gas emissions, public services, parks and recreation, and hazard mitigation and monitoring.

The overall Disadvantaged Business Enterprise goal for task orders funded with federal dollars is 0%. While Veridian Transit Solution made a DBE commitment, the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) has issued an Interim Final Rule (IFR) that makes changes to the DBE Program, including suspension of goals, counting of participation, and enforcement effective October 3, 2025. Metro is currently reviewing the Interim Final Rule (IFR) to identify necessary program and procedural changes to ensure full compliance. Although the DBE commitment is not a factor in the staff recommendation, an overall 28% Small Business Enterprise (SBE) and 3% Disabled Veteran Business Enterprise (DVBE) goal was established for task orders funded with state, local, Measure M and/or Measure dollars on this Task Order contract. Veridian Transit Solutions met the goal by making an overall 28% SBE and 3% DVBE commitment.

VEHICLE MILES TRAVELED OUTCOME

VMT and VMT per capita in Los Angeles County are lower than national averages, the lowest in the SCAG region, and on the lower end of VMT per capita statewide, with these declining VMT trends due in part to Metro's significant investment in rail and bus transit.* Metro's Board-adopted VMT reduction targets align with California's statewide climate goals, including achieving carbon neutrality by 2045. To ensure continued progress, all Board items are assessed for their potential impact on VMT.

*Based on population estimates from the United States Census and VMT estimates from Caltrans' Highway Performance Monitoring System (HPMS) data between 2001-2019.

As part of these ongoing efforts, this item is expected to contribute to further reductions in VMT. While this item does not directly encourage taking transit, sharing a ride, or using active transportation, it is a vital part of Metro capital projects and operations, as it ensures environmental compliance throughout design, construction, and operations. Because the Metro Board has adopted an agency-wide VMT Reduction Target, and this item supports the overall function of the agency, this item is consistent with the goals of reducing VMT.

IMPLEMENTATION OF STRATEGIC PLAN GOALS

This Contract supports Strategic Goal 2 by optimizing the delivery and performance of Metro's transportation system by supporting environmental compliance through providing environmental services to reduce impacts to the environment and increase system efficiency.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED

If Contract No. EN136012EN089 is not awarded, staff's ability to provide technical and environmental engineering support for many of our capital and operating projects will be limited. As a consequence, Metro would not be able to address potential and existing environmental liabilities. Furthermore, it would inhibit Metro's ability to remain in compliance with all applicable environmental laws and regulations to avoid potential fines, and civil and criminal liability.

As an alternative, Metro could perform all the environmental engineering and mitigation services in-house. However, to do so, Metro would need to hire additional staff with expertise across many subject areas, including engineers, geologists, surveyors, asbestos/lead inspectors, laboratory scientists, and UST design engineers, and Metro would also need to purchase environmental sampling and monitoring equipment. Staff does not recommend this alternative due to the high acquisition costs to procure personnel and equipment, as well as the potential for implementation and training delays.

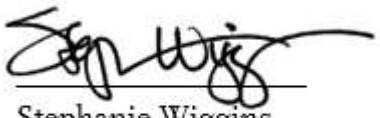
As another alternative, Metro may solicit and award individual contracts for each environmental task on an as-needed basis. Staff do not recommend this alternative. Individually procuring these environmental and engineering services may result in inconsistencies and inefficiencies and would likely create greater cumulative administrative burden and execution costs. The various environmental and engineering services required would also have to be individually competitively procured, causing significant delays. This alternative scenario would make it challenging for Metro to provide timely responses to sensitive and emergency environmental requirements from within the agency and from regulatory agencies.

NEXT STEPS



Upon Board approval, staff will execute Contract No. EN136012EN089 with Veridian Transit Solutions and issue Task Orders as needed for environmental engineering and consulting services.

A. Procurement Background

This Board Action is to approve the award of Contract No. EN136012EN089, Environmental Engineering and Consulting Services, to provide qualified staff and all necessary equipment to deliver professional services for assessing, engineering, and implementing solutions to environmental issues at any Metro site. Services include, but are not limited to, providing qualified management; planning, organizing, and executing environmental services; and assisting with information required for environmental permit applications, approvals, and agreements in compliance with regulatory requirements. Board approval of the contract award is subject to resolution of any properly submitted protest(s), if any.

The Request for Proposals (RFP) was issued in accordance with Metro's Acquisition Policy, and California Government Code §4525-4529.5 for Architectural and Engineering services. The contract type is an Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) contract for a base term of three years with two, one-year options under which services are authorized and performed on a Task Order basis at Fixed Price, Cost Plus Fixed Fee, or Time & Material.

Six amendments were issued during the solicitation phase of this RFP:

- Amendment No. 1, issued on October 10, 2025, to revise DBE requirements in response to the U.S. Department of Transportation's (USDOT) Interim Final Rule (IFR).

- Amendment No. 2, issued on October 13, 2025, to revise the submittal requirements to electronic submission, delete Exhibit 2 Schedule of Quantities and Prices, and add Exhibit 13 Certification of Prospective Contractor and Lower Tier Participant Regarding Debarment, Suspension, Ineligibility, and Voluntary Exclusion.
- Amendment No. 3, issued on October 22, 2025, to add Form 6 SBE/DVBE Regular Dealer Distributor Affirmation Form, and add Exhibit 12 Certification of Compliance with Federal Lobbying Requirements.
- Amendment No. 4, issued November 17, 2025, to revise submittal requirements to include Experience/Performance Questionnaire Form instructions, and add Experience/Performance Questionnaire Form.
- Amendment No. 5, issued November 21, 2025, to revise the Notice of Invitation to extend the proposal due date to December 19, 2025, and revise the validity period for a proposal submitted in response to the RFP to 150 days after the proposal due date.
- Amendment No. 6, issued December 11, 2025, to revise the Notice of Invitation, revise DBE/SBE/DVBE requirements, delete Exhibit 5, and delete submittal requirements Exhibit 1, Forms 1 and 3.

A total of 198 downloads of the RFP were included in the planholders' list. A virtual pre-proposal conference was held on October 27, 2025 and was attended by a total of 57 individuals representing 41 firms. There were 70 questions received for this RFP and responses were provided prior to the proposal due date.

Seven proposals were received on December 19, 2025, from the following firms listed below in alphabetical order:

1. Arcadis U.S., Inc.
2. Geosyntec Consultants, Inc.
3. Langan CA, Inc.
4. Parsons Transportation Group Inc.
5. TRC Solutions, Inc.
6. Veridian Transit Solutions (JV of Kleinfelder, Inc. and Polytechnique Environmental, Inc.)
7. WSP USA Inc.

B. Evaluation of Proposals

A Proposal Evaluation Team (PET) comprised of staff from Transportation Planning, Program Management, and Program Control was convened and conducted a comprehensive technical evaluation of the proposals received.

The proposals were evaluated based on the following evaluation criteria and the associated weightings:

- Degree of the Prime's Skills and Experience 30%
- Role and Relevant Experience and Capability of the Firms on the Prime Contractors Team 25%
- Staff Positions Identified in the Scope of Services 25%
- Project Management Approach 20%

The evaluation criteria are appropriate and consistent with the criteria developed for other A&E procurements. Several factors were considered when developing the weightings, giving the greatest importance to Degree of the Prime's Skills and Experience.

This is an A&E qualifications-based procurement; therefore, price cannot and was not used as an evaluation factor pursuant to state and federal law.

During January and February, the PET evaluated all seven technical proposals. On March 2, 2026, through March 3, 2026, Metro held in-person oral presentations with all proposing firms.

The proposing firms had the opportunity to present their key personnel and respond to the PET's questions. In general, each proposer's presentation addressed the requirements of the RFP, experience with all aspects of the required and anticipated tasks, and stressed each proposer's commitment to the success of the contract. Each proposing team was asked questions relating to each firm's previous experience performing work of a similar nature to the Scope of Services presented in the RFP.

Qualifications Summary of the Recommended Firm:

Veridian Transit Solutions ranked as the most qualified proposer due to its strong technical expertise, organized team structure, and proven track record of working with environmental engineering procedures. The firm's credentialed key personnel demonstrated efficiencies in geotechnical studies, water quality, resource management, and specification development, while maintaining an intimate understanding of Metro's internal processes. Their experienced staff ensure high-quality service, while established relationships with regulatory agencies facilitate efficient delivery of Metro goals. The proposal exceeds RFP requirements through a thoughtful management plan and onboarding program, a broad team of staff, and a strong grasp of Metro's Environmental Services Department project management structure that delineates program-level and project/task-level needs. A clear program management structure is supported by robust working relationships and a solid understanding of schedule, site access, and contractor coordination. The proposer's members' long history of successfully providing consulting services to Metro and other transit agencies, combined with a deep bench of highly qualified subconsultants, allows for the execution of multiple concurrent task orders. Each proposed management and professional staff member has extensive relevant experience and demonstrated exceptional knowledge of their respective scopes.

The Prime demonstrated a deep understanding of the scope of services requirements and objectives, along with the ability to handle multiple assignments and rapidly assign qualified personnel.

The final scoring was based on the evaluation of the written technical proposals, as supported by oral presentations, and clarifications received from the Proposers. The recommended most qualified firm is Veridian Transit Solutions (JV of Kleinfelder, Inc. and Polytechnique Environmental, Inc.). The results of the final scoring are shown below:

C. Cost Analysis

Metro completed negotiations and determined that the recommended estimated costs are fair and reasonable based on a cost analysis of labor rates, indirect rates and other direct costs in accordance with Metro's Acquisition Policy. Metro confirmed indirect cost rates based on current audits by a cognizant agency or CPA in accordance with FAR Part 31 and established provisional indirect cost rates for the first year of the contract, subject to retroactive Contract adjustments upon completion of any necessary audits. Where indirect cost rates were not supported by a current audit, Metro negotiated provisional indirect rates so as not to delay the contract awaiting audit. Metro negotiated a fixed fee factor that will be used to establish a fixed fee dollar amount for each Task Order based on the total estimated cost negotiated for the Task Order.

D. Background on Recommended Contractor

Veridian Transit Solutions is a joint venture between Kleinfelder, Inc. and Polytechnique Environmental, Inc. Kleinfelder has previously served as the prime contractor for the Metro Environmental Engineering contract, with Polytechnique acting as a subconsultant.

Kleinfelder, Inc. (Kleinfelder), a California Corporation headquartered in San Diego, California, has been in business since 1961, and is a leader in the fields of engineering, architecture, and science consulting. Kleinfelder has nearly 2,800 employees across 74 offices across the United States, Canada, and Australia. They have been working in Los Angeles since 1984. Kleinfelder has previously performed environmental services and construction support for capital projects under various Metro contracts since 2008 and has successfully performed contracts of identical scope, size, and complexity for Metro and other public agencies.

Polytechnique Environmental, Inc. (Polytechnique), headquartered in Cerritos, California, is a Los Angeles County environmental engineering company. The proposed team has successfully delivered environmental support for capital projects for the transportation industry, including all phases of environmental engineering, design, construction, and the complex real estate development process. Polytechnique staff members have provided responsive, high-quality environmental services to Metro for over 25 years, and are currently supporting Metro with engineering, compliance, and sustainability projects as a subconsultant.

DEOD SUMMARY

EN136012EN089

A. Small Business Participation

The overall Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) goal for task orders funded with federal dollars is 0%. An overall 28% Small Business Enterprise (SBE) and 3% Disabled Veteran Business Enterprise (DVBE) goal was established for task orders funded with state, local, Measure M and/or Measure dollars on this Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) Contract. Veridian Transit Solutions met the goal by making an overall 28% SBE and 3% DVBE commitment.

Proposers were encouraged to form teams that included SBE and/or DVBE firms without specific work schedules or dollar value commitments. In response to a specific Task Order request with a defined scope of work, Veridian Transit Solutions will be required to identify SBE and/or DVBE subcontractor activity and actual dollar value commitments for that Task Order. Overall SBE and DVBE achievement in meeting the commitment will be determined based on cumulative participation of all Task Orders awarded.

B. Project Labor Agreement/Construction Careers Policy (PLA/CCP)

Project Labor Agreement/Construction Careers Policy is not applicable to this Contract. PLA/CCP is applicable only to construction contracts that have a construction related value in excess of $2.5 million.

C. Prevailing Wage Applicability

Prevailing Wage requirements are applicable to this project. DEOD will monitor contractors' compliance with the State of California Department of Industrial Relations (DIR), California Labor Code, and, if federally funded, the U S Department of Labor (DOL) Davis Bacon and Related Acts (DBRA).

D. Living Wage Service Contract Worker Retention Policy Applicability

The Living Wage and Service Contract Worker Retention Policy is not applicable to this contract.

E. Manufacturing Careers Policy

The Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP) does not apply to this contract. The MCP is required on Metro's Rolling Stock RFPs, with an Independent Cost Estimate of at least $50 million.

Recommendations

A. AWARD an Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity Cost Plus Fixed Fee Contract No. EN 136012EN089, to Veridian Transit Solutions, for Environmental Engineering and Consulting services, in the Not-To-Exceed (NTE) amount of $44,772,922 for a three-year base term, and two, one-year options in the NTE amounts of $14,787,002 and $14,808,572, respectively, for a total NTE amount of $74,368,496, subject to resolution of protest(s), if any;

B. EXECUTE Contract Modifications within the Board-approved funding; and

C. APPROVE Contract Modification Authority for Contract No. EN136012EN089 in the amount of $4,477,000, or 10% of the base term total Board-approved NTE funding amount, to cover the costs of any unforeseen services.

Background

For over 25 years, Metro Environmental Services Division has awarded IDIQ contracts for Environmental Engineering and Consulting Services providing:

- Environmental & Geotechnical Assessments
- Site Assessment & Remediation
- Hazardous Materials Abatement
- Stormwater and Water Resource Management/Monitoring
- Construction Noise & Vibration Monitoring/Mitigation
- Soil, Groundwater, and Wastewater Sampling
- Fuel Storage Tank System Design
- Environmental Documentation & Permitting Support
- Environmental Liability Reporting

This IDIQ contract awards work on a Task Order basis, based on project needs, and provides the flexibility to respond to urgent or unforeseen conditions.

REVISED
FINANCE, BUDGET AND AUDIT COMMITTEE
SEPTEMBER 17, 2026

SUBJECT: METROLINK FISCAL YEAR 2026 CONTINUING RESOLUTION AND FISCAL YEAR 2027 PASSENGER RAIL SUPPORTIVE ACTIONS

ACTION: APPROVE RECOMMENDATION

CONSIDER:

A. AUTHORIZING the Chief Executive Officer or their designee to execute Metrolink's second continuing resolution to extend Fiscal Year 2026 (FY26) budget authorization through the second quarter of Fiscal Year 2027 (FY27) until January 1, 2027, and execute all necessary agreements between Metro and the Southern California Regional Rail Authority (SCRRA or Metrolink) based on the continuing resolution;

B. APPROVING additional funding in the amount of up to $365,202 for Metro's share of the San Bernardino Line 25% Fare Reduction Program using Proposition C 10%/Measure M 1% SCRRA dedicated funds and extending the program from June 30, 2025, to June 30, 2030;

C. APPROVING Burbank Airport-South Metrolink station safety improvements using Measure R 3% SCRRA dedicated funds in the amount up to $1.3 million;

D. APPROVING Pomona-Downtown Metrolink station Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) improvements using Measure R 3% SCRRA dedicated funds in the amount up to $256,720;

E. EXTENDING the lapsing dates for funds previously allocated to SCRRA for 12 State of Good Repair and capital project Memoranda of Understanding (MOU); and

F. RECEIVING AND FILING an update on Metrolink Station Planning and Updates.

SANDOVAL AMENDMENT: Direct the CEO to request Metrolink to conduct a full, transparent, and comprehensive audit of the following:

A. Train parts/locomotives and safety concerns at Metrolink;

B. A ~~forensic~~ comprehensive audit to explain the March 2026 service reduction; and

C. A review of Alstom's performance in maintaining and operating Metrolink's locomotives, under both their current and prior contract.

ISSUE

The Southern California Regional Rail Authority (SCRRA) is a Joint Powers Authority (JPA) comprising Metro and four adjacent counties (Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, and Ventura) as member agencies and operates the Metrolink commuter rail service. Metro provides the majority of the member-agency subsidy that SCRRA uses in its annual budget, which comprises Metrolink Operations, SGR, and New Capital projects. The JPA requires each member agency to approve their share of the SCRRA budget annually prior to SCRRA adopting its annual budget. Pursuant to the terms of the JPA, SCRRA is required to transmit the Metrolink budget to the member agencies by May 1st.

SCRRA has delayed the transmission of its FY27 budget to the JPA Member Agencies. At Metrolink's request, the Board approved <https://boardagendas.metro.net/board-report/2026-0209/> a three-month continuing resolution at its May 2026 Board meeting, extending budget authority through October 1, 2026, to allow additional time for budget development and service planning. As the FY27 budget development remains unresolved, SCRRA is now requesting a second three-month continuing resolution through December 31, 2026, to continue operations while finalizing the budget.

Independent of the FY27 budget development delays, several Metrolink-related items require Board consideration at this time, including providing additional funding to extend the San Bernardino Line 25% Fare Reduction Program through FY30 and programming funding for various Metro-obligated safety and ADA improvements at Metrolink stations. This report also provides an update on the progress made on several new Metrolink station projects.

BACKGROUND

SCRRA operates the Metrolink commuter rail system, providing service throughout Los Angeles County and the neighboring counties of Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, Ventura, and northern San Diego. Metrolink also connects with the Los Angeles-San Diego-San Luis Obispo (LOSSAN) intercity rail corridor, operated by Amtrak, and will ultimately provide direct connections to the future statewide high-speed rail network being developed by the California High Speed Rail Authority, Brightline West, and High Desert Corridor JPA. Union Station serves as the key transfer hub among Metrolink, LOSSAN, and Metro Rail services. In addition to Union Station, the Metrolink system also connects directly to the Cal State LA (J Line) Station, the Chatsworth (G Line) Station, and the Pomona-North (A Line) Station, with future Metro Rail station connections planned in Van Nuys and Pacoima.

Metro funds the Metrolink operating budget through Proposition C 10% and Measure M 1%, both dedicated funding sources for commuter rail.

Metrolink's operating budgets post-COVID have increasingly relied on member agency operating subsidies to backfill reduced fare revenue generation needed to support the system's increased costs and expansion. In FY19, Metrolink's farebox recovery ratio was 34%; in FY25, it dropped to 14%. Fare revenues depend on ridership levels, and strong ridership depends on reliable service and on-time performance. Metrolink's ongoing mechanical failures and ineffective management and procurement of parts and materials have undermined efforts to increase ridership and revenue recovery post-pandemic. In March 2026, Metrolink took emergency action to reduce its FY26 service level by approximately 20% due to these mechanical failures. In May 2025, the SCRRA CEO announced that this temporary action would be made permanent. The chronic mechanical failures have persisted into the first quarter of FY27.

On July 18, 2026, SCRRA submitted its first FY27 written budget proposal to the member agencies, reflecting this continued reduced level of service, for review. The proposed budget did not meet the funding targets established by either Metro or OCTA. SCRRA's proposed $149.3 million subsidy request from Metro was $12.1 million more than Metro's stated subsidy target of $137.2 million.

DISCUSSION

RECOMMENDATION A

Second Continuing Resolution to Extend Budget Authorization

At the request of SCRRA, Metro staff recommend that the Board approve a second FY26 continuing resolution through January 1, 2027, to provide SCRRA with additional time to develop a revised FY27 budget and service plan that aligns with the protocol of consensus among all of the member agencies.

RECOMMENDATION B

San Bernardino Line 25% Discount Program Extension

In April 2018 <https://metro.legistar.com/ViewReport.ashx?M=R&N=TextL5&GID=557&ID=4831&GUID=LATEST&Title=Board+Report> and May 2019 <https://boardagendas.metro.net/board-report/2019-0228/>, the Board approved $4,190,969 to support the San Bernardino Line (SBL) 25% Fare Reduction 12-month pilot program, which was developed in collaboration with the San Bernardino County Transportation Authority (SBCTA). Upon reviewing and analyzing the program's performance, staff recommend extending the program through June 30, 2030, at which time the program is projected to reach its breakeven point.

To cover anticipated expenditures from July 1, 2025, through June 30, 2030, staff request approval for an additional $365,202. This would increase the total program costs from $4,690,969 to $5,056,171.

RECOMMENDATION C

Burbank Airport - South Metrolink Station Safety Improvements

The Metrolink Burbank Airport - South Station was transferred from the State of California to Metro several years ago and is now Metro-owned. Prior to the transfer, a maintenance agreement was in place with the state and LOSSAN. Following the ownership transfer, Mero assumed responsibility for station maintenance and identified several safety and capital improvements.

Given that the station serves multiple rail operators-including UPRR, LOSSAN, and Metrolink-and directly serves the Hollywood Burbank Airport, the city of Burbank has expressed interest in assuming maintenance responsibilities. This interest is contingent upon Metro completing specified safety and state-of-good-repair improvements, as the city is not willing to accept the station in its current condition.

Metrolink recently conducted a site inspection and developed a cost estimate to address the required safety improvements. Staff recommend approval of these improvements to enable Metro to initiate negotiations with the city of Burbank for a Construction and Maintenance (C&M) Agreement under which the city would assume ongoing maintenance responsibilities.

The estimated cost to bring the station into a state of good repair is $1.3 million, to be funded with Measure R 3% funds dedicated to commuter rail capital uses.

RECOMMENDATION D

Pomona-Downtown Metrolink Station ADA Improvements

The Pomona-Downtown Metrolink station serves the San Gabriel Valley's most populous city on the Metrolink Riverside Line that runs between downtown Riverside and Union Station. Metro is responsible for making passenger rail station-related improvements on the Metrolink Riverside Line in Los Angeles County, per Section 4c of the Riverside Operating Agreement (see Attachment A).

In February 2022, the city of Pomona secured a contractor to address the US Department of Justice (DOJ) findings of 96 ADA accessibility barriers at the station, four of which were to be funded by Metro. In an October 27, 2025, letter to Metro, the city requested that Metro reimburse the city up to $256,720 for the actual costs incurred to remedy the four findings.

Metro recommends programming $256,720 in Measure R 3% funds to reimburse the city of Pomona for the costs of these four ADA improvements.

RECOMMENDATION E

Extend Lapsing Dates for 12 SGR and Capital MOUs

SCRRA rehabilitation/renovation and capital projects maintain Metrolink's system safety and safety culture, ensure the state of good repair, and modernize the Metrolink system. SCRRA's project delivery schedule for rehabilitation/renovation projects spans over a five-year period.

Recommendation F will extend the following 12 projects (seven SCRRA SGR and five capital project MOUs) that would otherwise lapse on or before June 30, 2026:

- Ticket Vending Machine Replacement Project extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2028
- Fiscal Year 2017 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2028
- Fiscal Year 2018 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2029
- Fiscal Year 2019 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2029
- Fiscal Year 2020 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2028
- Fiscal Year 2021 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2028
- Fiscal Year 2022 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2029
- Fiscal Year 2023 SGR Program extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2029
- Rotem Rail Cars Project extended from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2029
- Ramona Grade Separation Project from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2027
- Link Union Station Project from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2028
- Brighton to Roxford Double Track Project from June 30, 2026, to June 30, 2028

Due to unforeseen delays from material suppliers and project work, time extensions are being requested. SCRRA indicated that their work is in progress, that many projects are close to completion, and that they will be completed and invoiced by the requested extension date.

RECOMMENDATION F

Metrolink Station Planning and Activities

The Countywide Planning and Development Passenger Rail team continues to lead a range of Metrolink station planning, environmental clearance, and design efforts. These proposed stations are expected to deliver significant benefits, including improved regional connectivity, expanded access to reliable transit options, and enhanced first/last-mile connections for surrounding communities. In addition, the stations can support transit-oriented development, stimulate local economic activity, and increase ridership by providing convenient access to key employment, education, and activity centers. Collectively, these investments advance a more integrated, accessible, and sustainable regional transportation network.

Pico Rivera Metrolink Station - Preliminary Engineering

In February 2026, Metro completed a technical feasibility study which evaluated alternative sites for relocating the Commerce Metrolink station. An optimal location was identified in the City of Pico Rivera which offers strong regional and multi-modal connectivity and ridership potential, improved operational and freight efficiencies, and advances state, regional and local land use, housing, climate, economic, and mobility objectives. As part of the prior technical feasibility study, there was consensus from the three key cities at the staff level on the benefits of relocating the Commerce Station to Pico Rivera.

Staff have worked with key partners, such as the City of Pico Rivera, and the California High Speed Rail Authority (CHSRA) on opportunities to advance the next phase of the project. Preliminary engineering is estimated to cost $4-6 million, depending upon the level of environmental review needed. Staff are in discussions with the city on partnerships to advance the preliminary engineering. Staff is also in discussions with the CHSRA regarding a supplemental LA - Anaheim environment document or re-examination of relocating the Commerce Station to Pico Rivera. Staff are also in discussions with the City of Pico Rivera as to which agency is best suited to advance the preliminary engineering based upon available staffing and resources. Staff will return to the Board with more information and an update on efforts to advance preliminary engineering for the Pico Rivera Metrolink Station.

Pacoima Metrolink Infill Station and Mobility Hub - Preliminary Engineering

In July 2026 <https://boardagendas.metro.net/board-report/2026-0103/>, the Board programmed $6.9 million to advance the conceptual planning, environmental clearance, preliminary engineering, and community outreach for the Pacoima Metrolink Station and Mobility Hub.

To advance Board direction, staff executed a consultant task order to support the project in August 2026, initiated conceptual planning for the Metrolink station, and held a project kick-off meeting in September 2026. Staff are currently reviewing various high-level station layout concepts and coordinating with the nearby Brighton to Roxford double-track project team to identify and gain consensus on a preferred station concept.

Los Angeles General Medical Center - Preliminary Engineering

In May 2022, Metro completed the Los Angeles General Medical Center (LAGMC) Metrolink Infill Station Feasibility Study on behalf of Los Angeles County, which found that an infill station would provide increased multimodal transportation options and mobility benefits for Medical Center patients, employees, and residents of the surrounding community. The county and the city of Los Angeles agreed to support the project by reallocating $2,696,000 in State Route 710 North Mobility Improvements Projects funding to advance the LAGMC project to the next phase-preliminary engineering.

Preliminary engineering commenced in November 2024. Successful community meetings were held in February 2026, with over 75 community members participating in person and virtually. The 30% design review, geotechnical field work, and additional NEPA environmental work were completed in August 2026. This phase of the project is in the final close-out stage, with the construction cost estimate at 30% design between $100-150 million.

DETERMINATION OF SAFETY IMPACT

Approval of these recommendations will help the Metrolink system meet ADA requirements and improve safety for Metrolink passengers and the local communities where Metrolink operates. By approving this item, Metro will fund safety-related improvements to the Metrolink system to support safer travel for LA County residents and visitors, particularly those who need ADA access.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

Recommendation A extends the prior Board-approved FY26 Metrolink continuing resolution funding level for an additional three months. As this funding level may be higher than the expressed funding level the Board approved in the Metro FY27 budget, staff will reconcile any discrepancies for the remainder of the fiscal year when it brings the Metrolink FY27 budget to the Board for consideration. Therefore, no long-term financial impact is anticipated at this time.

Recommendation B will be funded with Proposition C 10% and Measure M 1% funds dedicated to Metrolink operations. The total cost for this program is $365,202.

Recommendations C and D will be funded with Measure R 3% funds dedicated to Metrolink capital and state of good repair. The total cost for these programs is $1,556,720.

Recommendations E and F have no financial impact.

EQUITY PLATFORM

The recommendations support SCRRA's Metrolink commuter rail operations, providing residents, workers, students, and families with a regional public transportation option to access jobs, resources, and services across the Greater Los Angeles region. Metrolink enables residents who may not be able to afford to live in high-cost areas to access quality jobs and services there while living in more affordable neighborhoods. These neighborhoods include Equity Focus Communities, such as Palmdale/Lancaster, the East San Fernando Valley, El Monte, Pomona, and Gateway Cities. Metro funds its share of Metrolink's overall operations as a JPA member agency. Metrolink establishes its own equity-based programs separate from Metro.

To ensure equitable access for all disabled passengers, Metro is remedying accessibility barriers at the downtown Pomona Metrolink Station to fully meet federal standards and deliver a seamless transit experience.

VEHICLE MILES TRAVELED OUTCOME

VMT and VMT per capita in Los Angeles County are lower than national averages, the lowest in the SCAG region, and on the lower end of VMT per capita statewide, with these declining VMT trends due in part to Metro's significant investment in rail and bus transit.* Metro's Board-adopted VMT reduction targets align with California's statewide climate goals, including achieving carbon neutrality by 2045. To ensure continued progress, all Board items are assessed for their potential impact on VMT.

As part of these ongoing efforts, this item is expected to contribute to further reductions in VMT. This item supports Metro's systemwide strategy to reduce VMT by investing in Metrolink operations that will improve long-distance rail transportation and further encourage transit ridership, ridesharing, and active transportation. Metro's Board-adopted VMT reduction targets were designed to build on the success of existing investments, and this item aligns with those objectives.

IMPLEMENTATION OF STRATEGIC PLAN GOALS

The recommendations support the Metro Vision 2028 Strategic Plan goals 1, 4 and 5 as follows:

- Goal 1.2: Invest in a world-class transit system that is reliable, convenient, and attractive to more users for more trips;
- Goal 4.1 Work with partners to build trust and make decisions that support the goals of the Vision 2028 Plan;
- Goal 5.2 Exercise good public policy judgment and sound fiscal stewardship.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED

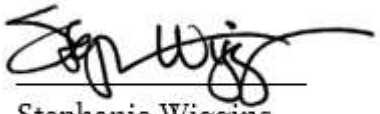
The Metro Board may elect to authorize an alternative course of action or deny the requested continuing resolution for Metrolink operations at the FY26 funding level. However, staff do not recommend this approach, as Metro has worked in partnership with SCRRA and the member agencies to ensure the continuation of Metrolink's current operations and uninterrupted service to passengers while the FY27 budget is being finalized.

The Board may also elect not to provide the funding needed to extend the San Bernardino Line 25% Discount Program through the end of FY30. The alternative would be to end the program, which would then result in San Bernardino Line riders losing access to the 25% fare reduction policy, increasing costs by 33.3% for riders during a time when economic pressures, such as high gas prices, impose additional costs to access employment, education, healthcare, and other quality of life needs. The Board could instead decide to invest the $365,202 to reduce the funding gap Metro needs to close to meet its FY27 operating subsidy target. Staff do not recommend these alternatives, as the funding makes a greater difference in attracting and retaining ridership for Metrolink at a time when growing ridership and revenue levels long-term is the most important strategy to mitigate the lack of additional operating subsidy available for Metrolink in FY27.

NEXT STEPS

Metro staff will continue to meet regularly with SCRRA executive staff and actively support the development of a revised FY27 budget proposal that will meet Metro’s FY27 operating subsidy target, gain consensus with the other member agencies, and be acceptable to bring to the Board for consideration. Following SCRRA Board action to transmit a final proposed FY27 budget to its member agencies for approval, staff will return to the Board with a recommendation for consideration and approval of Metro’s subsidy allocation.

Upon approval of this Board item, Metro will provide funding to Metrolink to complete the Burbank-South station improvements, continue the San Bernardino Line 25% fare discount program, and extend applicable MOUs to allow state of good repair and capital projects to continue through completion.



Staff will provide updates on the Pico Rivera, Pacoima and LAGMC Metrolink Station projects as needed with standalone Board items if applicable.

RIVERSIDE OPERATING AGREEMENT

THIS RIVERSIDE OPERATING AGREEMENT (this "Agreement") dated as of December 3, 1991, is entered into by Union Pacific Railroad Company, a Utah corporation ("UP"), and the Los Angeles County Transportation Commission ("LACTC") with reference to the following facts:

A. UP owns the railroad right-of-way from Riverside to Los Angeles more particularly described in Exhibit A attached hereto.

B. LACTC desires to acquire from UP, and UP desires to grant to LACTC, the right to operate passenger train service on UP's rail tracks running along such right-of-way, upon the terms and conditions contained in this Agreement.

C. Concurrently herewith, UP and LACTC are also entering into the Riverside Lease Agreement and the Hobart Operating Agreement. This Agreement and the Riverside Lease Agreement shall be construed together as provided herein and therein and are generally intended to cover LACTC's passenger service from Los Angeles to Riverside. The Hobart Operating Agreement is intended to cover LACTC's passenger service over the portion of UP's property as described therein and is not intended to include LACTC's passenger service from Los Angeles to Riverside.

NOW, THEREFORE, the parties hereto agree as follows:

1. Definitions. The following capitalized terms are used in this Agreement with the following meanings:

"AAR" shall mean the Association of American Railroads.

"Costs" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(f) of this Agreement.

"CPUC" shall mean the California Public Utilities Commission.

"Fee" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(b) of this Agreement.

"FRA" shall mean the Federal Railroad Administration.

"Full Operations Date" shall be the later of the date of completion of the construction described in the Riverside Lease Agreement and March 31, 1993.

"Hobart Operating Agreement" shall mean that certain Hobart Operating Agreement of even date herewith between UP and LACTC regarding operations over UP's right of way between Hobart Junction and Ninth Street Junction, as more fully set forth therein.

"Non-Peak Commuter Periods" shall mean time periods other than Peak Commuter Periods.

"Operating Land" shall mean that portion of the operating land owned or controlled by UP between Riverside, California and Ninth Street Junction in Los Angeles, California, as more particularly identified in Exhibit A attached hereto.

"Operator" shall mean an operator designated by LACTC to operate its commuter trains and to exercise the respective rights or obligations of LACTC under this Agreement in connection with such operation, which designation shall be subject to the approval of UP, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. Any Operator for LACTC (i) shall be financially and operationally capable of performing its obligations under this Agreement, (ii) shall be qualified under the General Code of Operating Rules, and (iii) shall not be a Class 1 freight railroad or an affiliate of a Class 1 freight railroad (provided, however, that a potential operator for LACTC shall not be disqualified under this clause (iii) solely by reason of its being the operator for a Class 1 freight railroad or a joint venturer or partner of a Class 1 freight railroad). Any Operator, acting for LACTC under this Agreement, shall do so pursuant to a written agreement between such Operator and LACTC. Any Operator shall be obligated to comply with all of the provisions of this Agreement relating to use of the Operating Land or the Tracks.

"Peak Commuter Periods" shall mean the hours of 5:30 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. for westbound LACTC trains and the hours of 4:15 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. for eastbound LACTC trains, Monday through Friday, or such other time period(s) as the parties may agree.

"Per Train Mile Rate" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(b) of this Agreement.

"Recalculation Date" shall have the meaning set forth in Section 6(f) of this Agreement.

"Riverside Lease Agreement" shall mean that certain Riverside Nonexclusive Lease of Railroad Facilities of even date herewith between UP and LACTC.

"Service" shall consist of Trains, whether occupied or empty, which are used to provide commuter rail service pursuant to the authority granted by this Agreement. "Service," as more fully defined herein, shall consist of LACTC's right to operate, along and over the Tracks and Operating Land:

(1) not more than five (5) westbound Trains and not more than five (5) eastbound Trains, Monday through Friday, with such five (5) westbound Trains including not more than one (1) Train commencing its movement during Non-Peak Commuter Periods and with such five (5) eastbound Trains including not more than one (1) Train commencing its movement during Non-Peak Commuter Periods;

(2) non-revenue generating Trains, including "deadhead" movements, which are reasonably necessary to enable LACTC to provide the Service described in clause (i) immediately above; and

(3) such additional Trains as LACTC and UP may agree upon from time to time.

Trains commencing their movements during the Peak Commuter Periods shall be considered trains moving during the Peak Commuter Periods.

"Service Commencement Date" shall mean the date which is the earlier to occur of (i) the date on which LACTC commences regularly scheduled commuter service over the Tracks or (ii) the date which is the later of December 31, 1993 or the completion of the construction described in the Riverside Lease Agreement. The parties agree to confirm such date in writing.

"Tracks" shall mean all the main line tracks, structures (including, without limitation, bridges) passing tracks, rights-of-way, signals and signal systems, switches, crossovers, interlocking devices and plants, terminal facilities, track improvements and other rail facilities now located or hereafter constructed or installed on the Operating Land.

"Train" shall consist of one or two locomotive units and commuter or passenger cars not to exceed eight in number; provided, however, that during any morning or evening Peak Commuter Period, LACTC shall be permitted to operate up to two Trains consisting of one locomotive and not more than ten commuter or passenger cars; provided further, however, that, for Per Train Mile Rate purposes, nonpassenger trains that are delivering construction materials for the benefit of LACTC and "hi-rail" vehicles shall not be included.

"Train Mile" shall mean the movement of a Train, whether or not revenue-generating, inclusive of all engines and passenger cars, over a one-mile distance on the Tracks.

2. Grant of Trackage Rights. (a) Subject to the terms and conditions set forth herein, UP hereby grants to LACTC trackage rights on and over and continued access to and use of the Operating Land and the Tracks to provide Service. LACTC and its Operator, their agents, servants, employees, consultants and contractors, shall also have the right to enter upon the Operating Land and Tracks and operate such equipment "hi-rail" vehicles, rerouting equipment, and other machinery and equipment reasonably necessary to provide the Service.

(b) LACTC and its Operator shall also have the right to enter upon any portion of the Operating Land, as may reasonably be required, to exercise all of its rights and perform all of its duties set forth in this Agreement; provided, however, that with respect to any entry other than Trains providing Service or any "hi-rail" vehicles, LACTC and its Operator shall give reasonable notice of at least forty-eight 48 hours to UP if such entry is in the ordinary course of its operations, and such other notice as reasonably possible in the case of emergency. In no event shall LACTC or its Operator, or any of their agents, servants, employees, consultants or contractors, enter upon the Operating Land without having first received permission from UP's dispatching center in accordance with then existing procedures of UP.

3. Dispatching and Control. (a) The management, operation and maintenance of the Operating Land and the Tracks shall, at all times, be under the exclusive direction and control of UP, and the movement of any and all Trains, cars, locomotives and other equipment over and along the Tracks shall, at all times, be subject to the exclusive direction and control of UP's superintendent, train dispatchers and other authorized agents and in accordance with such reasonable operating rules as UP shall, from time to time, institute in accordance with the terms and conditions of this Agreement. UP shall schedule and dispatch trains along the Tracks in a safe, reliable and on-time manner, in a manner that minimizes disruption of LACTC's passenger service as described in this Agreement and in a manner that complies with all applicable laws, regulations or rules, state or federal. UP shall provide to LACTC such reports and information as may be reasonably necessary for LACTC to conduct its operations and provide the Service.

(b) LACTC shall determine the schedules for its Trains and shall provide such schedules, and any changes thereto, in a timely manner to UP. Schedules and changes shall be subject to UP's approval, which shall not be unreasonably withheld.

(c) All operating, dispatching and maintenance decisions by UP affecting the movement of trains, cars, and engines on the Tracks shall give priority to LACTC's passenger Trains generating revenue and commencing their movements during Peak Commuter Periods, and such priority shall continue through the end of the scheduled trip for any such Train. LACTC may schedule one, but only one, Train in the morning Non-Peak

Commuter Period and one in the evening Non-Peak Commuter Period. UP shall schedule its trains so as to minimize interference with LACTC's scheduled Service but UP shall be allowed to schedule its trains in a manner that will enable UP to provide competitive freight service, including time-sensitive services to existing and future customers, during Non-Peak Commuter Periods. UP agrees that non-revenue generating Trains (including "deadhead" movements) commencing their movements during Peak Commuter Periods and all Non-Peak Commuter Period Trains shall be accorded the same priority as UP currently gives to its own intermodal and double-stack trains.

(d) UP shall not adopt, except by mutual agreement with LACTC (which shall not be unreasonably withheld), a new communications systems or signal system for use on the Operating Land or the Tracks which would adversely affect LACTC's commuter operations, unless required by any statute, law, ordinance, or governmental regulation.

(e) UP shall provide employees of LACTC or its Operator with reasonable access to UP's dispatch facilities to allow monitoring of the dispatching.

4. Train Operations. (a) UP and LACTC (directly or through its Operator) shall each be responsible for providing and operating its own trains on the Tracks and each shall operate its trains in a safe manner. UP and LACTC shall each maintain an adequate and experienced staff sufficient to operate its respective trains on the Tracks.

(b) UP shall provide to the staff of LACTC and LACTC's Operator the training as is necessary regarding UP's rules and procedures for operations on the Tracks and shall qualify the staff of LACTC and LACTC's Operator under the General Code of Operating Rules, at LACTC's expense; provided, however, that once the staff of LACTC and LACTC's Operator are so trained and qualified, and, in the reasonable opinion of UP, have become sufficiently experienced with respect to operations on the Tracks, such staff of LACTC or LACTC's Operator may conduct such training and qualifying for new members of its staff.

(c) LACTC shall be responsible for providing, operating and maintaining station, platform and ticketing facilities and parking to serve LACTC's passengers and any and all security for such station, platform and ticketing facilities and parking. No passenger stations or ticketing facilities or parking therefor shall be located on the Operating Land without the prior mutual agreement of UP and LACTC. Any platforms for passenger loading and unloading shall be at such locations as proposed by LACTC and approved by UP, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld and shall be subject to a lease agreement by UP as lessor and LACTC as tenant, substantially in the form of Exhibit C attached hereto. It is understood that subject to the foregoing sentence, LACTC shall be entitled to such platforms at five (5) locations along the tracks (not including the platform to be located in Riverside) or such larger number of platforms as UP may approve, which approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. Any such stations, platforms and ticketing facilities and parking and any other construction performed under this Agreement shall comply with all standards of the CPUC. UP shall not require that any such stations, platforms and ticketing facilities and parking or any such other construction comply with standards more restrictive than applicable CPUC standards.

(d) UP and LACTC and its Operator shall comply (i) with all applicable laws, regulations or rules, state or federal, covering the operations on, and the inspection, testing or safety of, the Operating Land, the Tracks, trains and other equipment thereon, and any personnel employed in the maintenance and operation thereof, (ii) with the General Code of Operating Rules and any successor publication, and (iii) with all of UP's timetables, general orders and bulletins and other standards relating to such operation, maintenance, condition, inspection, testing or safety, which timetables, general orders, bulletins and other standards shall be provided in writing by UP to LACTC.

(e) Neither LACTC nor UP shall have any responsibility for inspecting, maintaining, servicing or repairing any locomotives, hi-rail vehicles, passenger cars, freight cars or other equipment used by the other party on the Operating Land or the Tracks. If, by any reason of mechanical failure or for any other cause, the trains or other hi-rail vehicles of UP or LACTC or its Operator become stalled or disabled on the Tracks and are unable to proceed, or fail to maintain the speed required of trains to meet normal schedules or if in emergencies crippled or otherwise defective trains or items of equipment are on or otherwise blocking or impeding operations on the Tracks, then the party whose trains or items of equipment are involved in the incident shall be responsible for furnishing motive power or such other assistance as may be necessary to haul, help or push such equipment or trains, or remove the disabled equipment. By mutual agreement of the parties or upon receipt of reasonable notice from the other party that the response of the party whose trains or items of equipment are involved in the incident has not been adequate relative to the scheduled uses of the Tracks, such other party may, but shall not be required to, render such assistance as may reasonably be required in light of such scheduled uses, and the party whose trains or items of equipment are involved in the incident shall reimburse the other party, within thirty (30) days after receipt of the bill therefor, for the cost and expense of rendering any such assistance.

(f) UP shall, at least three (3) days in advance or as soon as otherwise practicable, notify LACTC of any investigation or hearing concerning the violation of any operating rule, safety rule, regulation or order or instructions of UP by any of the employees of LACTC or its Operator. Such investigation or hearing may be attended by any official of LACTC or its Operator, and any such investigation shall be conducted in accordance with any applicable collective bargaining agreement.

(g) Each of UP and LACTC shall obtain and maintain all regulatory approvals as may be required for the conduct of their respective operations on the Operating Land and the Tracks.

(h) UP and LACTC shall have exclusive responsibility for the provision of claims handling service in connection with any aspect of their respective operations on the Operating Land and the Tracks, and in no event shall either assert any right to require the other or any of the other's affiliates to provide, or bear any of the costs and expenses arising from, such operations.

(i) UP and LACTC shall have exclusive responsibility for the provision of the services of railroad police or law enforcement personnel in connection with their respective operations on the Operating Land or the Tracks, and in no event shall either assert any right to require the other or any of the other's affiliates to provide, or bear any of the costs and expenses arising from such services.

5. Maintenance, Repairs and Capital Expenditures.

(a) UP shall be solely responsible for performing all construction, maintenance and repairs on the Operating Land and the Tracks, including, without limitation, the repair of trackage, structures and signals, installation of ties and ballast, surfacing work, and replacement in-kind of existing facilities such as trackage, structures and signals. UP shall use reasonable and customary care, skill and diligence in the performance of construction, maintenance and repairs on the Operating Land and the Tracks. All construction, maintenance and repairs shall be done in a manner that minimizes disruptions to operations of LACTC and in a manner that complies with all applicable laws, regulations or rules, state or federal.

If UP desires to conduct construction, maintenance or repair activities on a portion of the Tracks over which LACTC has regularly scheduled commuter Service such that there is less than eight hours between the scheduled moving of LACTC's last scheduled westbound Train in the morning Peak Commuter Period and LACTC's first scheduled eastbound Train in the afternoon Peak Commuter Period, then UP may request that LACTC reschedule one or more of its trains to allow UP to utilize, in an efficient manner, an eight-hour crew for such construction, maintenance or repair activities. Any such request shall be in writing and shall be delivered to LACTC no less than one week in advance. LACTC shall have no obligation so to reschedule its trains, but LACTC shall cooperate with UP to coordinate such construction, maintenance or repair activities and shall make reasonable efforts to accommodate any such request.

(b) Not less than once every six (6) months, UP shall provide to LACTC a written estimated schedule of all scheduled construction, maintenance and repairs anticipated by UP for the forthcoming twelve (12) months. To the extent not disclosed in such schedule, then whenever practicable, UP shall provide to LACTC at least one (1) week advance written notice of any construction, maintenance or repairs to the extent that the same may interfere with LACTC's operations. When one (1) week advance written notice is not practicable (for example, in emergencies), UP shall nonetheless provide to LACTC, as soon as practicable, written notice of any construction, maintenance or repairs.

(c) UP shall maintain an adequate and experienced staff sufficient to maintain and repair the Operating Land and the Tracks.

(d) UP shall maintain (which maintenance shall include capital expenditures as appropriate) all of the main line Tracks at no less than FRA Class 4 standards, except as outlined in UP's timetable in effect on the date hereof. With respect to those portions of the main line Tracks which currently would not allow Lessee's Trains to travel thereon at speeds of up to 70 miles per hour (according to FRA standards), UP shall investigate the cost and feasibility of improving such portions to allow Lessee's Trains to travel at speeds of up to 70 miles per hour (according to FRA standards) and to the extent that such improvements are feasible and can be made at a reasonable cost, UP shall, at its cost and expense make such improvements. Additionally, UP and LACTC shall jointly investigate the cost and feasibility of improving the existing Tracks, or portions thereof as the parties may agree, to allow trains to travel at speeds of 79 miles per hour (according to FRA standards); provided, however, that LACTC shall bear the cost and expense of any improvements necessary to allow trains to travel at speeds in excess of 70 miles per hour.

(e) Without the prior written consent of LACTC, UP shall not materially re-locate the Tracks or otherwise modify or remove any of the Tracks in a manner that would have a material effect on the operations of LACTC on the Tracks, including the scheduling or timeliness of LACTC Trains on the Tracks; provided that this Section 5(e) shall not prohibit UP from maintaining and repairing the Tracks in accordance with its obligations under this Agreement.

(f) The parties understand that LACTC intends to construct certain passenger facilities in connection with the passenger service operated under this Agreement and that such passenger facilities will comply with all standards of the CPUC. To the extent such standards apply to any construction under this Agreement, such construction shall comply with such standards. Additionally, UP shall not require that any such construction comply with standards more restrictive than applicable CPUC standards, without the consent of LACTC.

(g) After the date hereof, before UP hires or contracts with any outside firm to do (i) any designing or engineering of any improvements to be made on the Property relating to the Tracks or (ii) any construction thereof, UP shall first consult with LACTC regarding such outside firm and any such outside firm shall be subject to the approval of LACTC, which shall not be unreasonably withheld.

6. Consideration. (a) UP is granting to LACTC the trackage rights set forth in this Agreement in partial consideration of the "Purchase Price" being paid by LACTC under that certain Purchase and Sale Agreement dated as of November 1, 1991. As further consideration for UP's agreement to perform as described in this agreement, LACTC shall make the payments to UP described in Section 6(b) of this Agreement.

(b) LACTC shall pay to UP a fee (the "Fee") equal to $5.75 (the "Per Train Mile Rate") for each Train Mile moved by LACTC over the Tracks pursuant to this Agreement. Such calculation shall not include trains moved under the Hobart Operating Agreement.

(c) The Fee calculated under this Section 6 and the "Fee" calculated under Section 7 of the Riverside Lease Agreement shall be calculated jointly to determine the aggregate Fee payable hereunder and thereunder. Because the Per Train Mile Rate under this Agreement shall always equal the Per Train Mile Rate under the Riverside Lease Agreement, the aggregate Fee payable hereunder and thereunder shall equal the Per Train Mile Rate multiplied by the aggregate number of Train Miles moved by LACTC over the Tracks pursuant to this Agreement and over the "Tracks" pursuant to, and as defined in, the Riverside Lease Agreement.

(d) Within forty-five (45) days after the end of each calendar month, LACTC shall (1) furnish to UP the number of Train Miles moved over the Tracks (and the "Tracks" as defined in the Riverside Lease Agreement) by LACTC during such calendar month and (2) subject to the aforesaid minimum, pay to UP the Fee for such calendar month.

(e) From and after the Full Operations Date, the aggregate Fee hereunder and under the Riverside Lease Agreement shall be computed at a minimum of six (6) trains per day, Monday through Friday, regardless of whether or not that many number of Trains actually operate. Prior to the Full Operations Date, the Per Train Mile Rate shall apply to each train providing public passenger service, without any applicable minimum number of trains per day.

(f) As of July 1 of the year in which the seventh anniversary of the Service Commencement Date occurs and as of July 1 in every seventh year thereafter (each such date being referred to as a "Recalculation Date"), the Per Train Mile Rate shall be, upon the request of either party, recalculated by the parties, as set forth in this Section 6(f). The parties shall agree on the Per Train Mile Rate which will allocate to LACTC its share of Costs, based on the anticipated annual number of train miles that LACTC will move over the Tracks (and the "Tracks" as defined in the Riverside Lease Agreement) in the succeeding seven year period as compared to the anticipated annual number of total train miles that all parties using the Tracks (and the "Tracks" as defined in the Riverside Lease Agreement) will move over the Tracks (and the "Tracks" as defined in the Riverside Lease Agreement) in the same period. In determining such share of Costs and the anticipated annual number of train miles, the parties shall consider the actual Costs and the actual train miles for the three years preceding the Recalculation Date in addition to their expectations for the succeeding seven year period. "Costs" shall mean all costs and expenses incurred with respect to the Tracks (and the "Tracks" as defined in the Riverside Lease Agreement) which are normally included as Dispatching Costs, Maintenance-of-Way & Structures--Operating Expenses and Maintenance-of-Way & Structures--Capital Expenditures. In the absence of agreement, the matter will be arbitrated in the manner prescribed in Section 10 of this Agreement.

(g) The parties understand and agree that the original Per Train Mile Rate of $5.75 is based on the assumptions that LACTC's allocable share of costs per train mile is as follows:

Dispatching Costs	$ .89
Maintenance, Way and Structures--Operating Expenses	$1.90
Maintenance, Way and Structures--Capital Expenditures	$2.96
TOTAL PER TRAIN MILE RATE	$5.75

(h) Commencing on July 1, 1994, the Per Train Rate shall be adjusted upward or downward as of July 1 of each year (other than a year in which the Per Train Mile Rate is recalculated under Section 6(f) of this Agreement) to compensate for the increase or decrease in the cost of labor and material, excluding fuel, as reflected in the final Annual Indexes for Charge-Out Prices and Wage Rates (1977=100) included in the Railroad Cost Indexes issued by the AAR. In making such determination, the final "Material Prices, Wages Rates, and Supplements Combined (excluding fuel) Index" for the West shall be used, and the final index figure for the calendar year 1993 shall be taken as the base; provided, however, that after any recalculation under Section 6(f) above, the final index figure for the calendar year preceding the most recent Recalculation Date shall be taken as the base. Adjustment for the Per Train Mile Rate shall be achieved by calculating the percent of increase or decrease, as the case may be, in the index figure for the calendar year ending on the December 31 prior to the July 1 on which the adjustment is to be made relative to the index figure for 1993 (or the calendar year preceding the most recent Recalculation Date, as the case may be) and increasing or decreasing the Per Train Mile Rate Fee by such percentage; provided, that such adjustment shall be made to the nearest cent.

i) By way of example, assuming "A" to be the "Material Prices, Wage Rates, and Supplements Combined (excluding fuel) Final Index Figure, Western District" for the calendar year 1993; "B" to be the "Material Prices, Wage Rates and Supplements Combined (excluding fuel) Final Index Figure for the calendar year 1994; and "C" to be the original $5.75 Per Train Mile Rate, the Per Train Mile Rate to be effective July 1, 1994, would be determined by the following formula:

$$\frac{B}{A} \times C$$

ii) In the event the base for the AAR Railroad Cost Indexes issued by the Association of American Railroads shall be changed from the year 1977, appropriate revision shall be made in the base (established as herein provided) for the calendar year 1993 (or the calendar year preceding the most recent Recalculation Date, as the case may be). If the AAR or any successor organization discontinues publication of the AAR Railroad Cost Indexes, an appropriate substitute for determining the percentage of increase or decrease shall be negotiated by the parties hereto. In the absence of agreement, the matter will be arbitrated in the manner prescribed in Section 10 of this Agreement.

7. Property Taxes. To the extent any real property taxes are payable with respect to any portion of the Operating Land, UP shall pay such real property taxes prior to delinquency and shall protect, defend, indemnify and hold LACTC harmless from and against any and all liability, loss, cost, damage or expense (including, without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees) LACTC may sustain or incur on account of any such real property taxes.

8. Liability, Indemnification and Insurance. The liability, indemnification and insurance provisions set forth in Exhibit D attached hereto are hereby incorporated by reference.

9. Breaches and Defaults. (a) Subject to the arbitration provision set forth in Section 10, should either party hereto fail to perform any of its respective obligations hereunder (the defaulting party), the aggrieved party shall give to the defaulting party reasonable written notice of such non-performance, breach or default. The defaulting party shall have a reasonable period of time to cure that default, but in no event to exceed thirty (30) days from the date of notice. If the defaulting party fails, refuses or neglects to cure within such time, the aggrieved party shall have the right to cure the breach or default itself, charge the costs and expenses thereof to the defaulting party and pursue its remedies pursuant to Section 9(e) of this Agreement.

(b) If any failure on the part of any party to perform in accordance with this Agreement shall result in a governmental fine, penalty, cost or charge being imposed or assessed on or against the other party, such other party shall give prompt notice to the non-complying party, and the non-performing party shall promptly reimburse, defend and indemnify the other party for such fine, penalty, cost or charge and all expenses and attorneys' fees incurred in connection therewith.

(c) Failure on the part of LACTC to comply with any of the provisions of Section 8, requiring insurance coverage, shall constitute a default giving rise to a right to UP to terminate this Agreement by giving LACTC ten (10) days' prior written notice.

(d) Failure on the part of LACTC to replace any Operator which, on a "for cause" basis, becomes reasonably unacceptable to UP, within a reasonable time following notice, shall constitute a default hereunder, giving the UP the right to terminate this Agreement upon giving LACTC thirty (30) days' written notice.

(e) Should LACTC fail to make any payment required hereunder when due or fail in any other respect to perform as required under this Agreement, and such default shall continue for a period of ninety (90) days after notice in writing of such default is given by UP to LACTC, or LACTC shall fail to cure defaults described in paragraphs 9(b), (c), and (d), above, within the time periods set forth, UP may, at its sole election, exclude LACTC from the use of the Track and Operating Land and/or may terminate this Agreement. Thereupon, LACTC shall surrender to UP all of the Track and Operating Land, and LACTC shall have no claim or demand upon UP as a result thereof.

UP may waive any default, but no such action of UP in waiving any default shall affect any subsequent default of LACTC or impair any rights of UP resulting therefrom.

10. Arbitration. If at any time a question or controversy shall arise between the parties hereto dealing with the construction of any part of this Agreement or concerning the observance or performance of any of the conditions herein contained or the rights or obligations of either party under this Agreement, either party shall submit such question or controversy to arbitration under the Commercial Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association as hereinafter provided. Such question or controversy shall be submitted to a single, competent disinterested arbitrator if the parties hereto are able to agree upon such arbitrator within twenty (20) days after the party desiring such arbitration shall notify in writing the other party. If such single arbitrator cannot be agreed upon before the expiration of the twenty (20) days, and either party wishes to pursue arbitration of the matter, arbitration shall be had before a board of three (3) persons to be named as follows: the party demanding such arbitration shall give the other party notice of such demand, stating specifically the question or questions to be submitted for decision or the point or points in controversy, and nominating a person who has the required qualification to act as one arbitrator; the party to whom such notice is given shall appoint a second arbitrator and give the party hereto demanding arbitration notice in writing of such appointment within twenty (20) days from the time of such notice. If, at the expiration of the twenty (20) days from the receipt of such notice, the party receiving it has not notified the party demanding the arbitration of its nomination of a second arbitrator, the party making the demand may make such selection. The first and second arbitrators shall select a third, and if the arbitrators chosen shall be unable to agree upon a third arbitrator within a period of twenty (20) days from the date of appointment of the second arbitrator, the third arbitrator may be appointed upon ten (10) days' notice upon motion or application of either party hereto by the Chief or Presiding Judge, or judge acting as Chief or Presiding Judge, of the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, California. The parties agree that each shall bear its own costs of arbitration, including any costs associated with the arbitrator selected by each said party. The parties agree to split equally the costs of the third arbitrator. In the event a dispute is arbitrated by a single arbitrator, the parties agree to share all costs of said arbitrator equally.

The arbitrator or board of arbitrators (hereafter "arbitrator(s)") so constituted as aforesaid shall set the date, time and place for each hearing, shall give to each of the parties, at least ten (10) days' advance written notice of the date, time and place of the initial hearing and shall proceed without delay to hear and determine the matters in dispute. The parties may offer such evidence as is relevant and material to the dispute and shall produce such evidence as the arbitrator(s) may deem necessary to an understanding and determination of the dispute. The arbitrator(s) or other person authorized by law to subpoena witnesses or documents may do so upon the request of any party. The award shall be made promptly by the arbitrator(s) and, unless otherwise agreed by the parties or specified by law, no later than thirty (30) days from the date of closing the hearing. Each of the parties hereto may be represented by counsel or other authorized representative at any hearing. The party intending to be so represented shall notify the arbitrator(s) and the other party of the name and address of the representative at least three (3) days prior to the date set for the hearing.

The award of such arbitrator(s), or of a majority of them, shall be final and binding upon the parties to such arbitration, and each party shall immediately make such changes in the conduct of such party's business or such payment as restitution, as the case may be, as required by such award. The books and papers of the parties hereto, so far as they relate to matters submitted to arbitration, shall be open to the investigation of the arbitrator(s).

The parties agree that the arbitrator's(s') award may be entered with any Court having jurisdiction and the award may then be enforced as between the parties, without further evidentiary proceedings, the same as if entered by the Court at the conclusion of a judicial proceeding in which no appeal was taken. Arbitration shall be the sole remedy for defaults under this Agreement.

11. Memorandum of Agreement. The parties shall cause a memorandum of this Agreement in the form attached hereto as Exhibit B to be recorded in the real property records of Los Angeles County and Riverside County, California.

12. Effectiveness; Termination. (a) This Agreement shall not become effective until it has been approved by the Los Angeles County Transportation Commission, the Riverside County Transportation Commission and the San Bernardino Associated Governments, as members of LACTC, and thereafter this Agreement shall be effective and shall burden the Operating Land in perpetuity, unless terminated pursuant to Section 12(b) or Section 12(c).

(b) LACTC may terminate this Agreement upon sixty (60) days prior advance written notice to UP of LACTC's intention to terminate, which notice shall set forth the termination date. After such termination date, LACTC shall have no further obligation under this Agreement.

(c) If LACTC ceases to operate Trains over the Tracks for a period of five years, then this Agreement shall terminate and LACTC shall have no further rights hereunder.

13. Assignment. (a) LACTC may assign all of its rights hereunder to, and all of LACTC's obligations and duties hereunder may be assumed by, a financially and operationally capable joint powers governmental agency, including, without limitation, the Southern California Regional Rail Authority. LACTC shall give UP at least sixty (60) days' prior written notice of any such assignment and, at UP's request, LACTC shall provide reasonable evidence that such proposed assignee is financially and operationally capable. The enabling legislation and other charter documents for the proposed joint powers governmental agency shall provide it with powers and authority that are not less extensive than those of LACTC set forth in this Agreement, and such powers and authority as are required to incur and satisfy the obligations and duties so assumed. Thereafter, the successor governmental agency, and not LACTC, shall be primarily obligated to UP hereunder for performance of, and compliance with, all of the obligations and duties of LACTC set forth in this Agreement.

(b) UP may not sell all or any portion of its interest in the Operating Land and the Track, and UP may not assign or otherwise delegate any of its rights and duties hereunder in connection with a sale of its interest in the Operating Land and the Track, without the prior written consent of LACTC which shall not be unreasonably withheld (and in any event shall not be withheld if such sale will not have a materially adverse impact on the current or intended operations of LACTC), except that UP may, without the consent of LACTC, transfer:

(i) the Operating Land and the Tracks and assign its rights and duties hereunder to a financially and operationally capable class 1 railroad; provided that UP shall give LACTC at least forty-five (45) days' prior written notice of any such sale, assignment, or delegation and, at LACTC's request, UP shall provide reasonable evidence that any purchaser, assignee, or delegee is financially and operationally capable;

(ii) any portion of the Operating Land not within fifty (50) feet of the centerline of any now or hereafter existing main line Track; and

(iii) any portion of the Operating Land to any party if (1) UP shall have first offered to sell such portion to LACTC at the fair market value thereof, (2) LACTC shall have expressly declined such offer or shall have failed to accept such offer within three months after receiving written notice thereof from UP and (3) within one year after first offering to sell such portion to LACTC, LACTC shall have closed such sale, at a purchase price no less than offered to LACTC.

Any sale or assignment of UP's interest in the Operating Land or the Tracks shall be subject to LACTC's rights under this Agreement.

14. Force Majeure. Each party will be excused from the performance of any of its obligations hereunder to the other party where such nonperformance is occasioned by any event beyond its control, which shall included without limitations, any order, rule, or regulations of any federal, state, or local governmental body, agency, or instrumentality, work stoppage, accident, natural disaster, or civil disorder, provided the party so excused hereunder shall use all reasonable efforts to minimize its nonperformance and to overcome, remedy, cure, or remove such event as soon as reasonably practicable.

15. Notices. All notices, demands, requests, and other communications under this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed properly served if delivered by hand to the party to whose attention it is directed, or same shall be deemed to have been properly served and delivered on the fifth day after being mailed by registered or certified mail, return receipt requested, with postage prepaid and addressed as follows:

If intended for LACTC:	Los Angeles County Transportation Commission 818 West Seventh Street Los Angeles, CA 90017 Attention: Mr. Richard Stanger
If intended for UP:	Union Pacific Railroad 1416 Dodge Street Omaha, Nebraska 68179 Attention: Mr. A. L. Shoener
With a copy to:	Vice President-Law Union Pacific Railroad Company 1416 Dodge Street, Room 830 Omaha, NE 68179

Each party may designate by notice in writing substitute parties and/or a new address to which any notice, demand, request or communication shall thereafter be served.

From time to time by written notice to the other party, each party shall designate its representative for operations matters under this Agreement. With respect to discussions with such representative on matters of operations under this Agreement, each party shall be entitled to rely on the responses and decisions made by the other party's representative so designated.

16. Governing Law. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of California.

17. Severability. Each provision of this Agreement shall be interpreted so as to be effective and valid under applicable law to the fullest extent possible. If any provision contained herein shall for any reason be held invalid, illegal or unenforceable in any respect, then, in order to effect the purposes of this Agreement, it shall be construed as if such provision had never been contained herein.

18. Entire Agreement. This Agreement, including the exhibits attached hereto, contains the entire agreement between LACTC and UP with respect to operations on the Operating Land and the Tracks. No modifications or amendments to this Agreement shall be binding upon either party unless set forth in a document duly executed by both LACTC and UP.

19. No Third Party Beneficiaries. This Agreement, including, without limitation, the provisions set forth on Exhibit D hereto, is for the benefit of the parties hereto and their successors and assigns only, and shall not be deemed to inure to the benefit of any third parties.

20. No Partnership. It is the intention of the parties not to render the parties liable as partners of each other. Neither party shall be liable for obligations incurred by the other party, except as expressly provided in this Agreement. Nothing in this Agreement nor any of the activities of parties pursuant to this Lease shall be construed to create a partnership of any kind between the parties.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties to this Agreement have duly executed it as of the day and year first above written.

Metrolink FY26 Continuing Resolution and FY27 Passenger Rail Supportive Actions

Finance, Budget and Audit Committee

Metro

Recommendations

A. AUTHORIZING the CEO or their designee to execute Metrolink's second continuing resolution to extend Fiscal Year 2026 (FY26) budget authorization through the second quarter of FY27 until January 1, 2027, and execute all necessary agreements between Metro and the Southern California Regional Rail Authority (SCRRA or Metrolink) based on the continuing resolution;

B. APPROVING additional funding in the amount of up to $365,202 for Metro's share of the San Bernardino Line 25% Fare Reduction Program using Proposition C 10%/Measure M 1% SCRRA dedicated funds and extending the program from June 30, 2025, to June 30, 2030;

C. APPROVING Burbank Airport–South Metrolink station safety improvements using Measure R 3% SCRRA-dedicated funds in the amount up to $1.3 million;

D. APPROVING Pomona–Downtown Metrolink station Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) improvements using Measure R 3% SCRRA-dedicated funds in the amount up to $256,720;

E. EXTENDING the lapsing dates for funds previously allocated to SCRRA for 12 State of Good Repair and capital project Memoranda of Understanding (MOU).

F. RECEIVING AND FILING an update on Metrolink Station Planning.

Metro

Recommendation A: Metrolink FY27 Budget Development Update

- FY27 budget unresolved; Metrolink requests a second three-month continuing resolution to continue operations while the budget is finalized.
- Metro's $137.2M operating subsidy is consistent with actual expenditures in recent years
  - Funding: Proposition C 10% and Measure M 1%
- SCRRA submitted its first FY27 budget proposal on July 18, 2026
  - Continues current service level following the March 2026 20% service reduction
  - Exceeds Metro's FY27 funding target by $12.1M and OCTA's by $6.0M (combined 70% of subsidy)
  - Cost drivers: Mandated 5% Alstom contract escalation, fuel (+31%), FY26 crew levels, wage increases
  - A revenue forecast error accounts for ~$8M of Metro's $12.1M gap
- Member agencies must revise budget assumptions and service levels to meet subsidy targets

Metro

Recommendations B-C: Passenger Rail Supportive Actions

- Recommendation B: San Bernardino Line 25% Fare Reduction Program
  - Extends the program through 2030, when it is projected to break even
  - No additional funding needed after 2030; program then integrates into Metrolink's permanent fare structure

- Recommendation C: Burbank Airport–South Station Safety Improvements
  - City of Burbank has expressed interest in assuming maintenance once Metro completes safety and ADA work
  - Site inspections estimate up to $1.3M needed for state of good repair and ADA compliance

Metro

Recommendations D-F: Passenger Rail Supportive Actions

- Recommendation D: Pomona–Downtown Station ADA Improvements
  - DOJ identified 96 ADA accessibility findings at this station
  - Measure R 3% funds reimburse the City of Pomona up to $256,720 for four deficiencies

- Recommendation E: MOU Extensions for State of Good Repair and Capital Projects
  - Extends lapsing dates on 12 MOUs due to supply chain and unforeseen project delays

- Recommendation F: Metrolink Station Planning Update
  - Staff continue leading station planning, environmental clearance, and design efforts, including preliminary engineering for:
    - Pico Rivera Metrolink Station – Preliminary Engineering
    - Pacoima Metrolink Infill Station and Mobility Hub – Preliminary Engineering
    - Los Angeles General Medical Center – Preliminary Engineering

Metro

Next Steps

- Staff continue working with SCRRA to develop a revised FY27 budget proposal that meets Metro's operating subsidy target
  - Once the SCRRA Board transmits a final FY27 budget, staff will return to the Board with a recommendation

- Upon approval, Metro will fund the Burbank–South improvements, the San Bernardino Line fare discount program, and the Pomona station ADA improvements

- Updates on the Pico Rivera, Pacoima, and LAGMC station projects will come as standalone Board items if needed

- If the FY27 budget is not finalized by December 31, 2026, the CEO will amend the FY26 Metrolink MOU to authorize the second-quarter continuing resolution

EXECUTIVE MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE
SEPTEMER 17, 2026

SUBJECT: RAIL STATION NAMES - WESTSIDE PURPLE (D LINE) EXTENSION, SECTION 3

ACTION: APPROVE RECOMMENDATION

WITHDRAWN:

~~ADOPT the staff recommendation for the following official and operational station names for the two stations that comprise Metro Rail's D Line Extension, Section 3:~~

~~Official Station Name: Wilshire/UCLA~~
~~Operational Station Name: Wilshire/UCLA~~

~~Official Station Name: Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr~~
~~Operational Station Name: Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr~~

ISSUE

Metro is procuring signage and other permanent station identification materials for the Westside Purple (D Line) Extension Project, Section 3 stations. As construction is fully underway an official and operational station name, consistent with 'Metros Property Naming Policy <https://boardagendas.metro.net/board-report/2017-0080/> approved in February 2017, needs to be adopted by the Board to enable Metro's contractor to produce wayfinding and station signage for the new stations.

BACKGROUND

The revenue service date for the Westside Purple (D Line) Extension Project, Section 3, is expected to be in fall 2027. The project is currently making significant headway at 85% completion overall as running rail installation was completed and systems testing has started for the Section 3 project. Both stations also have permanent electrical power. In accordance with Metro's Property Naming Policy, Community Relations began soliciting suggestions for permanent station names from community stakeholders, which included residents, commercial stakeholders, the Business Improvement Districts, adjacent cities to the alignment, elected officials, and institutional stakeholders in late 2025.

DISCUSSION

The 2003 Board-approved Property Naming Policy states that rail stations will be named in a simple and straightforward way to assist customers in navigating the system and the region. The policy states that names must be brief enough for quick recognition and retention, and must be based primarily on geographic location, referring to a nearby street or freeway, a well-known destination or landmark, a community or district name, or a city name. The policy also states that single names for stations are preferable, and that if multiple names are used, they are to be separated by a slash.

Properties may have a Board-adopted official name and a shorter operational name; the official name is used in Board documents and legal notices while the operational name may be used more commonly in signage and customer materials.

Community Input

From September through November 2025, Metro Community Relations conducted a comprehensive outreach and engagement program to gather public input on the permanent names of the two Section 3 D Line stations, Westwood/UCLA and Westwood/VA Hospital stations, located at Wilshire Boulevard and Gayley Avenue and Wilshire Boulevard and Bonsall Avenue, respectively.

Metro Community Relations conducted targeted outreach throughout the project area to explain Metro's station naming process and solicit public input. Engagement activities included approximately 15 community events and organizational meetings in Westwood and Century City, as well as presentations to the City of Los Angeles Board of Public Works, the Westwood Village Improvement Association, the Westside Cities Council of Governments' Transportation Committee, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) students, UCLA Government & Community Relations, Westwood residents, and attendees of D Line Extension construction update meetings.

Veteran-focused outreach included a four-day information booth at the West Los Angeles VA Medical Campus and email solicitations to 87 veteran-affiliated contacts and community leaders, resulting in 386 responses related to the Westwood/VA Hospital Station.

Metro also promoted participation through social media, the Section 3 project website, weekly construction notices, targeted project emails, monthly newsletters, and the digital platforms of community and institutional partners. Collectively, these in-person and online efforts generated more than 1,285 submissions for the two stations.
Following the public submission period, Metro Research reviewed proposed names for consistency with Metro's Property Naming Policy and conducted a rider survey to evaluate eligible alternatives. The recommended station names reflect the community input, rider survey findings, and staff policy review.

Survey Results

More than 1,200 station names submitted by the community were reviewed and screened by Metro staff based on the property naming guidelines. The most common and highly suggested community submitted names were then included as part of a research survey. The survey was fielded in January 2026 with 200 Metro riders and 200 Infrequent/Non-Metro riders, in which the ease of navigation of each potential station name was evaluated. The demographic composition of survey respondents mirrors Metro On-Board Survey and Census demographics, respectively. The top names from community input were included.

For the Westwood/UCLA station, “Wilshire/UCLA” is perceived as the easiest name option among both Metro Riders and Infrequent & Non-Riders. The ease of all potential name options for the Westwood/VA Hospital Station are similar among both Monthly Riders and Infrequent & Non-Riders.

% Who Perceive Name will be Easy for Navigation - Westwood/UCLA Station

	Westwood/ UCLA (A)	Wilshire/ UCLA (B)	Wilshire/ Westwood (C)	Westwood Village/UCLA (D)
Monthly Riders	72%	77%	74%	67%[B, C]
Infrequent/Non-Riders	66%	70%	66%	69%

% Who Perceive Name will be Easy for Navigation - Westwood/VA Hospital Station

	VA Medical Ctr/West LA (A)	Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr (B)	West LA/Veterans Med Ctr (C)	Wilshire/ Veterans Med Ctr (D)
Monthly Riders	59%	64%	64%	63%
Infrequent/Non-Riders	68%	69%	67%	70%

Significance Results (McNemar’s test with continuity correction): A, B, C, D indicates statistical significance at 95% confidence vs. the column indicated by letter.

Staff Recommendation

The table below shows the Original Placeholder names and the Recommendation for Official and Operational Station Name. The recommended official and operational station names are the result of community outreach and engagement, a rider survey, and staff review to ensure consistency with Metro’s Property Naming Policy.

A map of these stations showing the proposed official and operational names is included as Attachment A.

Original Placeholder	Recommended Official and Operational Station Name
Westwood/Wilshire	Wilshire/UCLA
Westwood/VA Hospital	Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr

Wilshire/UCLA
The new station is located in the neighborhood of Westwood at the intersection of Wilshire Bl and Gayley Av. Consistent with Metro's Property Naming Policy, Wilshire/UCLA is recommended as the new station name because it provides a clear geographic reference, identifies a major regional destination, and remains concise for wayfinding and customer use. The station is located less than a mile from the UCLA campus and will serve as one of the primary transit gateways to the university.

Metro's Property Naming Policy states:
Properties will be named with the maximum benefit and convenience of the transit system user in mind. Naming will provide customers with travel information in a simple, straightforward, and unified way to assist patrons in successfully navigating the transit system and correspondingly the region. Property names will reflect the following principles:

Transit system context - Names will provide information as to where a property is located within the context of the entire transit system; property names will be clearly distinguishable with no duplication.

Property area context - Names will provide specific information as to the location of the property within the context of the surrounding street system, so that users can find their way around after their arrival and to support system access via automobile drop-off and parking.

The staff recommendation meets these guidelines and principles by providing clarity and maximum benefit for the transit user. Consistent with Metro's Property Naming Policy, the staff recommendation is "Wilshire/UCLA" for the official name and for the operational name.

Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr
Consistent with Metro's Property Naming policy, the Recommended Official Station Name, Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr, provides a clear geographic reference, identifying a major regional destination, and remaining concise for wayfinding and custom use. The name also accurately reflects the station's location adjacent to the current VA Medical Center campus while maintaining consistency with Metro's established naming conventions along the Wilshire corridor, helping riders quickly identify the station's location and destination served.

The staff recommendation meets these guidelines and principles by providing clarity and maximum benefit for the transit user. Consistent with Metro's Property Naming Policy, the staff recommendation is "Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr" for the official name and for the operational name. The VA was notified of the proposed station name recommendation in July 2026 and, to date, has informally not objected. Metro is currently awaiting their formal concurrence.

DETERMINATION OF SAFETY IMPACT

Adoption of these names does not affect the incidence of injuries or healthful conditions for patrons or employees. Therefore, approval will have no impact on safety.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

Station identification signage in the right-of-way has been fabricated for train testing. Costs are expected to be incurred to fabricate station name signs and will be borne by the LOP budget of Purple (D Line) Extension Project Section 3 - 865523. The costs are estimated to range from $500,000 to $680,000

Impact to Budget
The funding sources for the Purple (D Line) Extension Section 3 project are the combination of federal grant, Measure R 35%, and Measure M 35%. These funds are not eligible for bus & rail operating and capital expenses.

EQUITY PLATFORM

This staff recommendation will benefit all Metro riders utilizing the new stations and navigating the Metro system by improving customer experience. The recommended station names were voted on by the public and are consistent with Metro's Property Naming Policy. The outreach performed by Metro Community Relations to solicit suggestions for permanent station names was open to all members of the community, regardless of race, residency, or other social and demographic factors.

Should the Board adopt the recommended station names, new and existing transit users will find the new stations easy to locate and use, thereby increasing transit equity in Los Angeles County.

VEHICLE MILES TRAVELED OUTCOME

VMT and VMT per capita in Los Angeles County are lower than national averages, the lowest in the SCAG region, and on the lower end of VMT per capita statewide, with these declining VMT trends due in part to Metro's significant investment in rail and bus transit.* Metro's Board-adopted VMT reduction targets align with California's statewide climate goals, including achieving carbon neutrality by 2045. To ensure continued progress, all Board items are assessed for their potential impact on VMT.

As part of these ongoing efforts, this item is expected to contribute to further reductions in VMT. This item supports Metro's systemwide strategy to reduce VMT through investment activities that will improve Metro's customer experience, safety, and community engagement strategies and further encourage transit ridership, ridesharing, and active transportation. Metro's board adopted VMT reduction targets were designed to build on the success of existing investments, and this item aligns with those objectives.

*Based on population estimates from the United States Census and VMT estimates from Caltrans' Highway Performance Monitoring System (HPMS) data between 2001-2019.

IMPLEMENTATION OF STRATEGIC PLAN GOALS

This recommendation supports Metro's goal of providing high-quality mobility options that enable people to spend less time traveling. The recommendation also supports Metro's goal of enhancing communities and lives through mobility and access to opportunity.

Both goals are supported because, when completed, the Purple (D Line) Extension subway will make travel between downtown Los Angeles and the Westside easier and more convenient for riders, especially riders in underserved communities, who do not have access to a vehicle or cannot carpool or afford rideshare services.

Adding seven new stations to Metro's ever-expanding transit network, the Westside Purple (D Line) Extension subway will provide all Metro transit riders a reliable connection between downtown LA and Westside communities, including West LA and Westwood.

Adoption of the permanent station names will make navigating the stations of the Purple (D Line) Extension simpler by using names that are easily recognizable and that reflect the stations' locations relative to known communities and familiar neighborhoods.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED

The Board could choose to select alternate names for the stations. This alternative is not recommended because the community input received during the station naming process overwhelmingly supported maintaining the original geographically based station names.

NEXT STEPS

Staff will work with the Westside Purple (D Line) Extension, Section 3 to implement the station names as adopted by the Board.

Metro

RECOMMENDATION FOR BOARD ACTION

Adopt the staff recommendation for the following official and operational station names for Metro's Purple (D Line) Extension Section 3:

Official Station Name	Operational Station Name
Wilshire/UCLA	Wilshire/UCLA
Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr	Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr

Metro

BACKGROUND/RELEVANT POLICY

Board-approved Property Naming Policy

(Revised 2017)

Purpose of Station Names

- Assist customers in navigating the system

Criteria for Names

- Based primarily on geographic location
- Nearby street or freeway
- Well-known destination or landmark
- Community, district or city name
- Not named for individuals
- Preferred max. of 24 characters for ADA/general readability
- Simple, quick recognition
- Single names preferred; multiple names separated by slash

Station Name Types

- "Official Station Name" board-adopted station name may be used in documents and legal notices
- "Operational Station Name" may be used more commonly and/or when space is limited and on signage, customer materials
- General guidelines, exceptions can be made

Public outreach and engagement

- Required prior to station naming recommendations.
- Includes local/regional stakeholders, current and potential Metro Bus and Rail riders.

Metro

PUBLIC OUTREACH & ENGAGEMENT

- Collectively, these in-person and online efforts generated more than 1,285 name submissions for the two stations. Significantly higher than previous campaigns.
- Per naming policy, public outreach and engagement is required
- Metro conducted outreach and engagement from September 2025 through November 2025.
- Outreach included community events, briefings, and presentations to the City of Los Angeles Board of Public Works, the Westwood Village Improvement Association, the Westside Cities Council of Governments' Transportation Committee, University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA) students, UCLA Government & Community Relations, Westwood residents, and attendees of D Line Extension construction update meetings.
- Veteran-focused outreach included a four-day information booth at the West Los Angeles VA Medical Campus and email solicitations to 87 veteran-affiliated contacts and community leaders, resulting in 386 responses related to the Westwood/VA Hospital Station.

Metro

SURVEY RESEARCH AND MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

Survey Research

- Consistent with Metro's Property Naming Policy, Metro surveyed 200 riders and 200 potential riders.
- Among Spanish-Dominant Riders, "Wilshire/UCLA" is perceived as easier and more likely to be ranked easiest.
- For the Westwood/UCLA station, "Wilshire/UCLA" is perceived as the easiest name option among both Metro Riders and Infrequent & Non-Riders.
- For the Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr station, "Wilshire/VA Medical Ctr" is perceived as the easiest name option among both Metro Riders and Infrequent & Non-Riders.

Westwood/UCLA Station Deck Removal Begins October 17
Starting October 17, 2025, Metro will begin removing temporary deck panels at the Westwood/UCLA Station. This work is a major construction milestone and will restore Wilshire Boulevard after years of underground excavation. Deck removal will require the closure of westbound Wilshire between Westwood Boulevard and Veteran Avenue for 10–12 weekends through December, with detours in place. Eastbound traffic will remain open with lane reductions. Additional impacts include temporary closures on Gayley Avenue and Westwood Boulevard in later phases. | Full Notice

Westbound Wilshire Directional Closure – Wilshire/San Vicente
On Saturday, October 4, from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m., westbound Wilshire Boulevard will be closed at San Vicente Boulevard to support restoration work. A signed detour will direct traffic via San Vicente, Burton Way, and Robertson. Eastbound Wilshire will remain open with two lanes. Local and emergency access will be maintained, along with pedestrian routes. Expect reduced lanes on northbound La Cienega near Wilshire. | Full Details

REGULAR BOARD MEETING

SUBJECT: BUS ACQUISITION OF 220 FORTY-FOOT BATTERY ELECTRIC BUSES

ACTION: APPROVE RECOMMENDATIONS

AUTHORIZE the Chief Executive Officer to:

A. AWARD Contract No. OP118576(2)000 with ElDorado National (California), Inc. (ENC), for the manufacturing and delivery of 220 Battery Electric Buses (BEBs) in the amount of $337,698,727.58 for the base contract, including taxes and delivery; exclusive of any contract option buses, subject to the resolution of any properly submitted protest(s), if any;

B. INCREASE the Life-Of-Project (LOP) for Capital Project 201078 from $52,000,000, established to purchase up to 40 BEBs under the Washington State contract, by $382,355,185 to purchase up to 220 Battery Electric Buses (BEBs) and provide funding for professional and technical support, internal labor, and contingencies, for a total LOP of $434,355,185; and

C. NEGOTIATE AND EXECUTE future contract modifications to the contract up to $1,000,000.

BASS AMENDMENT: Direct the CEO to:

A. AWARD the base contract of 220 Battery Electric Buses (BEBs) to El Dorado Nation Inc.;

B. REQUIRE that the exercise of any contract option(s) for the purchase of Battery Electric Buses beyond the 220-bus base order (“Option Vehicles”) be subject to Board approval;

C. DIRECT that the exercise of an option to purchase the remaining 1,600 Option Vehicles be structured for purposes of Board authorization in increments not to exceed 300 BEBs. The Board reserves the right to not exercise any option and to rebid the first option and any subsequent options presented;

D. Any request to the Board to approve the purchase of Option Vehicles shall include an evaluation regarding contractor's performance with respect to the following;

1. Adherence to established vehicle delivery timelines aligned with;

   i. Fleet replacement requirements;
   ii. Depot electrification;
   iii. Infrastructure readiness;
   iv. Retirement schedules for aging compressed natural gas (CNG) buses;

2. Demonstrated operational reliability, range, efficiency, and technical performance of delivered BEBs in revenue service; and

3. Compliance with US Employment Program commitments, including:

   i. Contract specific labor values forms
   ii. Job creation/retention metrics
   iii. Workforce training
   iv. Commitment to hire disadvantage workers
   v. Certified payroll reporting
   vi. Compliance with labor standards and Metro's Manufacturing Careers Policy.

ISSUE

New zero-emission buses are required to help Metro transition to a ZEB fleet and replace Compressed Natural Gas (CNG) buses that have reached the end of their useful life. To support this goal, the contract award will authorize the purchase of 220 BEBs and increase the LOP budget to fund the acquisition of the BEBs.

BACKGROUND

At its July 2017 meeting, the Board approved Motion 50, issued by Directors Bonin, Garcetti, Najarian, Hahn, and Solis (Attachment A), which endorsed a ZEB Strategic Plan to transition Metro's entire bus fleet to zero-emission by 2030. This was contingent on cost and performance being equivalent to CNG buses and on continued advancements in charging infrastructure.

In 2018, the California Air Resources Board (CARB)'s Innovative Clean Transit (ICT) regulation mandated that all transit agencies in the state operate zero-emission fleets by 2040. In addition, ICT ZEB purchase requirements for large transit agencies require 25% of bus purchases to be zero emissions by 2023, 50% by 2026, and 100% by 2029. Metro has met all state-mandated program requirements a decade earlier than the ICT mandate of 2029.

At its January 2023 meeting, the Board authorized staff to issue a federally funded Best Value Request for Proposals (RFP) using competitive negotiations pursuant to PCC § 20217 for the procurement of new BEBs and charging infrastructure. In April 2024, Metro released an RFP for zero-emission buses, with a base order of 260 battery-electric buses (BEBs) and 20 hydrogen fuel cell electric buses (FCEBs), and options to purchase up to 1,980 ZEBs.

In November 2025, staff canceled the RFP for several reasons, including the proposers not meeting certain safety requirements, deviations sought on Metro's Terms and Conditions and the Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP), high price of the BEB (7.4% over the Independent Cost Estimate (ICE) per bus), as well as the entry of new battery electric bus manufacturers in the US market after release of the RFP.

In December 2025, Metro issued two solicitations: OP118576(2), for a base order of 220 battery-electric buses (BEBs) with options for up to 1,600 additional BEBs, representing a potential total of 1,820 vehicles, as well as OP139029, for 20 BEBs. The technical specifications in these solicitations were refined by eliminating prescriptive requirements for less critical features while ensuring a continued focus on safety for both operators and riders.

The first solicitation, OP118576(2), included a delivery schedule designed to align bus deliveries with the retirement of CNG buses and depot electrification projects at Divisions 9 and 18. The second solicitation, OP139029, was issued to encourage participation by newer manufacturers and support continued growth within the U.S. bus manufacturing industry.

DISCUSSION

The decision to cancel and re-release solicitations has led to an increase in the number of proposers, the submission of proposals with lower costs than the Independent Cost Estimate (ICE), reduced lead times for bus deliveries, and the incorporation of critical safety requirements into the bus design by proposers.

The staff recommendation presents the contractor who is most advantageous to Metro for the purchase of a base order of 220 battery-electric buses, while providing meaningful employment opportunities and competitive wages to the workforce that will build them. ENC's offer represents the highest-rated offer to Metro for BEBs when all technical and pricing factors are considered in accordance with the RFP evaluation criteria, including U.S. content and the U.S. Employment Plan. The Procurement Summary (Attachment B) provides detailed evaluation results and rankings for all proposers, including the weighted scores for each evaluation factor.

ENC was originally founded in 1975 as National Coach Corporation and went through many changes throughout the years, with facilities in Gardena, CA, Chino, CA, Carson, CA and other manufacturing facilities in Kansas. In 2003, ElDorado National, California opened their Riverside, CA manufacturing facility where they still operate today. As part of their parent company REV Group, formerly Allied Specialty Vehicles, ENC was awarded a 40' CNG bus contract by LA Metro in October of 2017. The total quantity of ENC buses purchased by LA Metro through base and option contracts is 554. These buses continue to operate in revenue service and serve many areas throughout the Metro service area.

In January 2024, REV Group declared its intention to cease operations at ENC due to supplier challenges and a highly competitive transit bus market. Although ENC was initially scheduled to close in October, Rivaz Inc. announced on October 18, 2024, that it had acquired ENC from REV Group.

Rivaz Inc. is a clean-tech company based in Pasadena involved in extracting critical battery materials and manufacturing zero-emission commercial vehicles.

A few notable agencies that also operate ENC buses are PACE Suburban Bus, City of Gardena, and Victor Valley Transit.

The new BEBs will include new technology and safety enhancements, such as an integrated operator compartment, an advanced driver assistance system (collision avoidance), an acoustic vehicle alerting system, and an optional mirrorless driver assistance camera system. The BEB range is estimated at 174-250 miles on a single charge.

The base order of 220 BEBs will be assigned primarily to Divisions 9 (El Monte) and 18 (Carson) to support the electrification of North Hollywood to Pasadena BRT and other local routes. Bus deliveries will begin in Spring 2028. The Contract also includes options for up to an additional 1,600 BEBs. The contract will include an assignment clause that allows Metro to assign any unused bus options to any municipal operator that would like to purchase buses under Metro's contract.

Metro's Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP) was applied to this procurement, and all proposals were thoroughly evaluated to ensure that the information provided was sufficiently supported and aligned with the requirements of the USEP program. A critical component of this evaluation is the Labor Value Form, which is essential to vetting USEP proposals because it provides details about the basis for the estimate on retained and newly created jobs, the classification of jobs to be retained or created, and the wages and benefits associated with those jobs for this contract. By applying MCP, ENC must attract and retain skilled workers, support workforce development, and ensure compliance with labor standards.

DETERMINATION OF SAFETY IMPACT

The new BEB buses incorporate several features that will improve operator, passenger, and pedestrian safety. Some of the safety enhancements that may be on new buses include self-leveling ADA boarding ramps, improved vehicle monitoring, pedestrian warning systems, video monitors, real-time video security system accessibility, and improved passenger door sensors. Operator compartments will also be integrated into the bus design to improve operator safety and security. In addition, the buses will offer increased space for strollers, reducing the need to fold them. This enhancement will facilitate easier entry and bolster safety for young children and their caregivers.

FINANCIAL IMPACT

The total requested LOP increase is a combination of the contract amount for the 220 BEB base order of $337,698,727.58, 10% contract modification authority, and internal labor, professional, and technical support, for a total of $382,355,185.34. Available project funds will be budgeted under project 201078 in cost center 3320 Zero Emission Acquisition and Implementation. The initial LOP for $52,000,000 was approved in November 2025 for the purchase of up to 40 BEBs on the Washington State Department of Enterprise Services contract. This is a multi-year contract, and the cost center manager, project manager(s), and Sr. Executive Officer of Vehicle Engineering and Acquisition will be responsible for budgeting the costs in future years.

Impact to Budget

Funding for base order buses will come from a combination of state, federal, and local funds. $42.5M local funds are eligible for bus and rail operating and capital projects. Funding and expenditures for the project are detailed in Attachment D.

EQUITY PLATFORM

The acquisition of 220 BEBs will operate on routes restructured under the NextGen transit service plan, with service provided by Division 9 in El Monte and Division 18 in Carson. The service areas of the corridors are 147 square miles, encompassing 2.2 million people in 650,000 households and 750,000 employees. Therefore, the corridors contain approximately 21% of the County's population and approximately 20% of the County's employment.

Priority populations are defined as disadvantaged or low-income communities under Senate Bill 535 (SB 535) and Assembly Bill 1550 (AB 1550). There is great overlap between these areas and areas that Metro defines as Equity Focus Communities (EFC). The zero-emission bus program projects are targeted at benefiting communities with some of the greatest mobility needs in Los Angeles County. The projects' service corridors are composed of 88% in Low-Income Communities as identified by AB 1550, 73% in Disadvantaged Communities as identified by SB 535, and 61% in Equity Focus Communities as defined by Metro's EFC definition. EFCs benefiting from the zero-emission bus transit acquired as part of this project or located in, but are not limited to, El Monte, Rosemead, Paramount, Willowbrook, Bellflower, and Hawthorne.

ElDorado National (California), Inc. (ENC), a Transit Vehicle Manufacturer (TVM), is on the Federal Transit Administration's (FTA) list of eligible TVMs. However, the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) has issued an Interim Final Rule (IFR) that makes changes to the DBE Program and pauses the reporting and submission requirements for DBE goals. Until further notice, TVMs are not required to submit DBE goals. However, as referenced above, Metro's MCP will apply to this contract.

VEHICLE MILES TRAVELED OUTCOME

VMT and VMT per capita in Los Angeles County are lower than national averages, the lowest in the SCAG region, and on the lower end of VMT per capita statewide, with these improving VMT trends due in part to Metro's significant investment in rail and bus transit.* Metro's Board-adopted VMT reduction targets align with California's statewide climate goals, including achieving carbon neutrality by 2045. To ensure continued progress, all Board items are assessed for their potential impact on VMT.

As part of these ongoing efforts, this item is expected to contribute to further reductions in VMT. This item supports Metro's systemwide strategy to reduce VMT through capital investments and operational purchase activities that will improve and further encourage transit ridership, ridesharing, and active transportation. Metro's Board-adopted VMT reduction targets were designed to build on the success of existing investments, and this item aligns with those objectives.

*Based on population estimates from the United States Census and VMT estimates from Caltrans' Highway Performance Monitoring System (HPMS) data between 2001-2019.

IMPLEMENTATION OF STRATEGIC PLAN GOALS

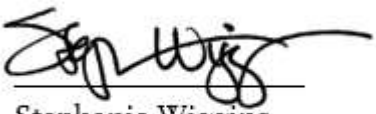
These recommendations support Goal #3, Enhance communities and lives through mobility and access to opportunity, and Goal #4 Transform LA County through regional collaboration and national leadership.

ALTERNATIVES CONSIDERED

The Board may choose not to purchase BEB buses and continue using CNG buses, which is not recommended because the current bus fleets have reached or are expected to exceed their useful life. Operating CNG buses past their useful life requires additional investment to replace costly components on aged chassis. Extending vehicle life also adversely impacts fleet reliability and diminishes the quality of service provided to Metro's passengers. Lastly, extending CNG bus operations conflicts with Metro's Zero-Emissions Goal.

One of the proposers filed a protest on July 22, 2026, on the contract award to ElDorado National California, Inc. Metro reviewed the claims cited by the proposer in their letter and denied the protest on August 28, 2026. Subsequently, the proposer filed an appeal to the protest decision on August 21, 2026. After careful review, consideration, and investigation of the claims set forth in the appeal, Metro determined the appeal did not have merit and was denied on September 10, 2026. The protest period for this procurement has expired.

NEXT STEPS



Upon Board approval, staff will execute the contract award with ENC and issue a Notice to Proceed.

REVISED
JULY 27, 2017

Motion by:

DIRECTORS BONIN, GARCETTI, NAJARIAN, HAHN and SOLIS
AS AMENDED BY SOLIS, KUEHL and BARGER

FRIENDLY AMENDMENT BY FASANA

Strategic Plan for Metro's Transition to Zero Emission Buses

LA Metro has developed a comprehensive plan to deliver a complete transition to zero emission electric buses by 2030. The transition plan is contingent on two primary factors: continuous advancements in electric bus technology (which must increase range, reduce bus weights, reduce charging times, extend battery life cycles), as well as a drop in prices as the technology develops.

As electric bus technology continues to advance, our electric grid is becoming cleaner by gradually eliminating coal from our energy portfolio and replacing it with renewable sources. A full transition to electric buses coupled with renewable energy sources promises mobility with significantly lower environmental impacts from this form of transportation.

In order to maintain our bus fleet in a state of good repair, Metro plans to continue replacing its aging bus fleet at approximately 200 buses per year. With firm local hiring requirements in Metro bus procurement, routine bus procurement presents a recurring opportunity that bolsters our local labor force in perpetuity.

In 2012, Metro's U.S. Employment Plan resulted in the award of an $890 million contract to Kinkisharyo, a factory in Los Angeles County, and 404 quality railcar manufacturing jobs. Similarly, Metro can leverage recurring bus replacements to bolster labor throughout Los Angeles County

Metro plans to spend nearly one billion dollars on bus procurements in the next ten years That level of investment, coupled with a transition to all electric buses, presents an opportunity for LA County to demonstrate leadership on combating climate change, and can make Los Angeles the central marketplace for new electric bus technology: a County rich with quality manufacturing jobs rooted in technologies that provide mobility, sustain a healthy environment and create career paths in clean energy technologies.

SUBJECT: MOTION BY BONIN, GARCETTI, NAJARIAN, HAHN AND SOLIS AS AMENDED BY SOLIS, KUEHL AND BARGER

RECOMMENDATION

WE THEREFORE MOVE that the Board:

A. ENDORSE the Strategic Plan for Metro's Transition to Zero Emission Buses;

B. DIRECT the CEO to create a zero emission bus infrastructure working group comprised of Metro staff, federal and state regulators and local utility companies to track market availability and to cultivate ongoing collaboration among stakeholders. The working group will monitor market rates for emerging zero emission bus technology to support Metro's 2030 transition plan:

1. Working group to report to the Board annually with the latest technology innovations to support the cost/benefit analysis of fleet conversion

2. MTA to host an industry forum to solicit innovative solutions to delivering the 2030 plan;

C. AMEND the Metro federal legislative plan to advocate for local jobs as a critical factor in the evaluation criteria of MTA procurements; and

D. DEVELOP an equity threshold consistent with Title VI regulations for priority deployment of electric buses in underserved communities.

FURTHER MOVE that the Board direct staff to:

A. As part of establishing a working group:

1. EXPAND the invitation to regional air quality regulators (e.g. South Coast Air Quality Management District), the American Public Transportation Association and California Transit;

2. EXAMINE and TRACK vehicle technology and performance, energy production and pricing, infrastructure needs and life-cycle analysis and creative funding opportunities.

B. COORDINATE with the County of Los Angeles to explore opportunities to develop a countywide incentive structure to promote and attract more companies to manufacture, assemble and produce zero-emission transit vehicles and related technologies and infrastructure in Los Angeles County;

C. Widely PROMOTE and ENCOURAGE municipal transit agencies/operators to participate in the established process by which to co-procure ("piggyback procurement" provisions) zero-emission transit vehicles;

D. ENSURE that MTA maintains the flexibility to explore the best available technologies that contributes to zero-emissions and/or net-negative emissions in the Los Angeles County public transit sector.

FRIENDLY AMENDMENT BY FASANA that staff report back to the board with a timeline and any commitments by parties before we undertake our next bus purchase and answers to the following questions:

A. Will electric buses and their batteries deliver the guaranteed range and service?

B. Can municipal and electric utilities timely invest in the grid in order to power electric buses?

C. Which strategies will maximize Metro's ability to receive cap and trade credits?

D. How and when can charging infrastructure be deployed at our bus divisions? More importantly, how will such infrastructure be paid for?

E. Why is Metro's role critical for the adoption of low NOX engines in the trucking industry? What assurances do we have that this will take place when Metro has operated cleaner engines since the 1990s without adoption of these technologies by the trucking industry?

F. What are the resiliency impacts to our service if electricity or natural gas service is disrupted? What is our back-up plan?

G. Metro can intervene in regulatory proceedings at the California Public Utilities Commission for investor owned utilities regarding transportation electrification and equivalent natural gas proceedings as appropriate. Metro needs to assess the current regulatory schedule for such proceedings, develop advocacy position, and indicate that our adoption of electrification may be affected if electric transportation infrastructure is funded by shareholders, recovered through rates, and implemented on a timely basis.

H. Conversely, how will Metro undertake the capital investments directly? Foothill Transit has intervened in the active proceeding. Antelope Valley and other providers are engaged. Metro needs to be more actively engaged and needs to report back to our Board on what is at stake. In SCE's service area, demand charges make the operating costs of electric buses more costly than natural gas vehicles. Are we working to influence changes to the rate schedules?

I. Can RNG be adopted without direct Metro involvement by substituting RNG for natural gas purchased out of state? We should participate in any state framework that could create linkages between Metro's adoption of RNG and RNG implementation by the trucking industry.

PROCUREMENT SUMMARY

A. Procurement Background

This Board Action is to approve Contract No. OP118576(2)000 issued in support of the manufacturing and delivery of a base buy of two hundred and twenty (220) Battery Electric Buses (BEBs). Board approval of contract awards is subject to the resolution of any properly submitted protest(s), if any.

Request for Proposals (RFP) No. OP118576(2) was issued in accordance with Metro's Acquisition Policy, and the contract type is a firm fixed price. The Diversity and Economic Opportunity Department (DEOD) did not recommend a Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) goal for this procurement, as it is not applicable. This procurement falls under the Federal Transit Administration's (FTA) Transit Vehicle Manufacturer (TVM) goal in accordance with 49 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) Part 26.49. However, Metro's Manufacturing Careers Policy will apply to this procurement.

Ten amendments were issued during the solicitation phase of this RFP:

- Amendment No. 1, issued on 12/24/2025 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 2, issued on 1/9/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 3, issued on 1/9/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;

- Amendment No. 4, issued on 1/16/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 5, issued on 1/23/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 6, issued on 1/30/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 7, issued on 2/6/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 8, issued on 2/13/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 9, issued on 2/24/2026 clarified and modified the Technical Specification and Solicitation Terms;
- Amendment No. 10, issued on 5/11/2026, BAFO.

The solicitation was advertised across six different platforms: The Wave, Los Angeles Daily News, Los Angeles Times, La Opinion, Transit Magazine and Passenger Transport. A total of 76 firms downloaded the RFP and were included in the planholders' list. A virtual pre-proposal conference was held on January 13, 2026, and was attended by 59 participants representing 13 firms. Additionally, a virtual Technical Q&A session was held on January 29, 2026, with 40 participants representing seven firms. There were 254 questions received for this RFP and responses were provided prior to the proposal due date.

A total of three proposals were received on March 6, 2026.

B. Evaluation of Proposals

A diverse Proposal Evaluation Team (PET) consisting of staff from Bus Acquisitions, Construction Management/ Alternative Delivery and the Diversity and Economic Opportunity Department (DEOD) was convened and conducted a comprehensive technical evaluation of the proposals received.

The proposals were initially evaluated based on the pass/fail minimum qualifications criteria outlined in the RFP. Part of the pass/fail requirements included proposers demonstrating that they are a transit manufacturer that will comply with the final assembly requirements in the United States (U.S.); have past experience manufacturing Buy America-compliant transit buses for the U.S. public transit market; and demonstrate successful past experience manufacturing buses that utilize key components and subsystems similar to those in the proposed vehicle, particularly BEB propulsion systems.

The PET determined that all three proposals met the minimum qualification requirements and were further evaluated based on the following weighted evaluation criteria:

- Project Management Experience 300 Points
- Experience and Past Performance 200 Points
- Price 200 Points
- Technical Compliance 200 Points
- Availability Framework 50 Points
- U.S. Employment Program 50 Points

The evaluation criteria are appropriate and consistent with criteria developed for other, similar Rolling Stock acquisition procurements. Several factors were considered when developing these weights, giving the greatest importance to Project Management Experience.

On March 13, 2026, the PET met to review the evaluation criteria package, complete confidentiality and conflict of interest forms and receive the three proposals to initiate the evaluation phase. Evaluations were conducted from March 13, 2026, to March 25, 2026.

On April 3, 2026, the Contract Administrator requested clarifications and/or supplemental information necessary to fully evaluate all three firms. On April 13, 2026, the firms submitted their responses to the clarification requests and provided supplemental information as requested. The PET subsequently re-evaluated the proposals based on the additional information provided and established a competitive range.

Of the three proposals received, all three were determined to be within the competitive range. The three firms within the competitive range are listed below in alphabetical order:

1. ElDorado National (California), Inc. (ENC)
2. New Flyer of America Inc. (New Flyer)
3. RIDE Mobility, LLC. (RIDE)

No firms were determined to be outside the competitive range.

From May 4, 2026 to May 7, 2026, the evaluation committee conducted negotiations with the firms in the competitive range. The firms' project managers and key team members had an opportunity to present each team's qualifications and respond to the PET's questions.

An invitation to submit a Best and Final Offer (BAFO) was issued on May 11, 2026 to all firms in the competitive range. BAFO submittals were received on May 22, 2026, and were reviewed and evaluated by the PET. The PET reviewed the BAFOs and prepared a recommendation-for-award memorandum on June 2, 2026.

Qualifications Summary of Firms within the Competitive Range:

ElDorado National (California), Inc.

ElDorado National (California), Inc. is based in Riverside, California. The company was founded as National Coach Corporation in 1975. In 1991, the company was combined with the Kansas-based bus builder ElDorado Motors, operating as ElDorado National until its rebranding to ENC.

ENC proposes to build the LACMTA bus orders in its Riverside, California facility. ENC's transit agency clients include City of Gardena, Franmar Leasing LLC, Salt Lake City Airport, Pace-Headquarters, and LACMTA.

New Flyer of America Inc.

New Flyer of America Inc. is a Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada based corporation, founded in 1930 and is a subsidiary of New Flyer Industries (NFI) Group.

New Flyer proposes to build the LACMTA bus orders in its Anniston, Alabama facility. New Flyer's transit agency clients include Maryland Transit, Miami-Dade Transit, New Jersey Transit, NYCTA, WMATA and LACMTA.

RIDE Mobility, LLC

RIDE Mobility, LLC is based in Pasadena, California and is the U.S. subsidiary of Build Your Dreams (BYD), a Chinese-based bus manufacturer.

RIDE proposes to build the LACMTA bus orders in its Lancaster, California facility. RIDE's transit agency clients include Antelope Valley Transit Authority, Los Angeles Department of Transportation, Long Beach Transit, San Francisco Municipal Transportation Agency, and LACMTA.

U.S. Employment Program (USEP) Evaluation Framework:

The Request for Proposals allocates 50 points to the USEP evaluation: (1) 25 qualitative points for Disadvantaged Worker Commitment, Workforce Training, Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) commitments, Minimum Fringe Benefits, and Minimum Hourly Wages; and (2) 25 quantitative points based on each proposer's Total Dollar Commitment relative to the highest commitment submitted. Proposals were evaluated in accordance with the Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP), which requires measurable, contract-specific workforce commitments rather than general practices.

USEP Evaluation Summary:

On July 16th staff, found an inconsistency in the scoring for the USEP and it was identified that it affected all 3 proposers equally. Specifically, the weighted average of 25% for the Total Dollar Commitment was inadvertently calculated into the scoring formula twice for both the V/CM and DEOD scoring matrices. The formula has since been corrected, and an audit was performed to validate the USEP scores and ranking for all firms. As a result, the overall USEP scores for ENC and RIDE increased. ENC's original score was 25.37 and with the correction it has now increased to 37.29 as well as RIDE's score increasing to 36.50 from the original 17.75 score. The clerical error resulted in no impact on New Flyer's original evaluation score for USEP or their ranking. New Flyer's score remains the same at 5.50.

- ENC received an overall score of 37.29/50 (21.40 pts for qualitative evaluation and 15.89 pts for quantitative evaluation). ENC provided a contract-specific USEP Total Dollar Commitment of $107,387,488 and the most comprehensive contract-specific workforce plan. ENC provided measurable commitments for hiring, workforce hours, wages, benefits, Disadvantaged Worker participation, and workforce investment. ENC also demonstrated how it would achieve those commitments through structured employee training, mentorship, career development, and workforce retention. Additionally, the proposal included partnerships with community colleges, workforce agencies, veterans' organizations, and re-entry programs to strengthen recruitment and develop a skilled manufacturing workforce.

- Ride Mobility received an overall score of 36.50/50 (11.50 pts for qualitative evaluation and 25 pts for quantitative evaluation). Ride Mobility submitted the highest contract-specific USEP Total Dollar Commitment of $169,003,115, earning the maximum quantitative score. Although Ride Mobility provided contract-specific workforce commitments, the proposal provided minimal detail regarding workforce training, employee development, Disadvantaged Worker implementation, and supporting workforce initiatives. As a result, Ride Mobility received a lower qualitative score despite having the highest workforce investment.

- New Flyer of America received an overall score of 5.50/50 (5.50 pts for qualitative evaluation and 0 pts for quantitative evaluation). New Flyer expressly stated that it was not making commitments for New Hires or Retained Workers and did not submit contract-specific Labor Value Forms. However, partial credit was given for the Minimum Hourly Wages and Minimum Fringe Benefits criteria based on the labor agreements that were provided as part of the proposal. New Flyer did not include any USEP commitments for the Disadvantaged Worker Commitment, Workforce Training, Full Time Equivalent (FTE) Commitments, or USEP Total Dollar Commitment criteria, resulting in the score of 0 for these criteria.

C. Cost/Price Analysis

The recommended price has been determined to be fair and reasonable based upon adequate price competition, an Independent Cost Estimate (ICE), technical evaluation, fact finding, negotiations and the BAFO.

The variance between Metro's ICE and the Negotiated or NTE Amount for the Base and Options for the recommended awardee's price is $1,140,345,789.70 (29.41%). The difference is primarily attributable to prevailing market conditions, such as inflation fluctuations and tariff-related impacts. These considerations were factored into the development of the ICE through an analysis of current market trends to assess their economic influence on pricing. Additionally, the reference data used in forming the ICE was limited to select vehicle Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs), resulting in more emphasis placed toward higher-end specifications. The data also included historical LACMTA procurement information, necessitating adjustments to reflect current year values. Given the age of some datasets, challenges may arise in accurately escalating figures to the present year despite the application of appropriate escalation rates. Another key reason for the difference between ICE and proposer values is increased competition in procurement. The entry of a new vehicle OEM in the market encourages cost reduction to make proposals more competitive. This factor is hard to quantify, as each vehicle OEM assesses its own risk tolerance when striving for a winning bid.

Proposer Name	BAFO Amount Base Buy (220)	BAFO Amount Option Buy (1,600)	BAFO Amount Optional Vehicle Configuration	BAFO Negotiated or NTE Amount (Base Buy and All Options)
METRO ICE	$447,815,203.05	$3,429,866,837.89	$234,801.80	$3,877,916,842.74
ENC	$337,698,727.58	$2,392,437,288.45	$7,435,037.02	$2,737,571,053.05
New Flyer	$402,195,890.19	$2,817,737,238.89	$11,525,088.49	$3,231,458,217.57
RIDE	$374,093,055.59	$2,668,352,447.92	$35,129,109.40	$3,077,574,612.91

Based on the cost analysis, staff determined that all three proposers submitted fair and reasonable pricing, with ENC offering the best value to LACMTA.

D. Background on Recommended Contractor

The recommended firm, ElDorado National (California), Inc., located in Riverside, California, has been in business for 51 years and is a leader in manufacturing buses for transit agencies. ENC temporarily paused operations in late 2024 during an ownership transition, then fully restarted production and deliveries in Apri 2025 under new ownership by Rivaz Inc. ENC serves diverse markets including public transit, paratransit, airports, parking facilities, and universities.

ENC has provided services for Metro, and its performance has been satisfactory.

BUS ACQUISITION OF 40' BATTERY ELECTRIC BUSES/OP118576(2)000

A. Small Business Participation

El Dorado National (California), Inc. (ENC), a Transit Vehicle Manufacturer (TVM), is on the Federal Transit Administration's (FTA) list of eligible TVMs. However, the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) has issued an Interim Final Rule (IFR) that makes changes to the DBE Program and paused the reporting and submission requirements of the DBE goals. Until further notice TVMs are not required to submit DBE goals.

B. Living Wage and Service Contract Worker Retention Policy Applicability

The Living Wage and Service Contract Worker Retention Policy is not applicable to this contract.

C. Prevailing Wage Applicability

Prevailing wage is not applicable to this contract.

D. Project Labor Agreement/Construction Careers Policy

Project Labor Agreement/Construction Careers Policy is not applicable to this Contract. PLA/CCP is applicable only to construction contracts that have a construction related value in excess of $2.5 million.

E. Manufacturing Careers Policy

The Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP) applies to this contract and is required for Metro Rolling Stock procurements with an Independent Cost Estimate of $50 million or greater. Based on the funding, Metro will implement the applicable United States Employment Plan (USEP). The MCP requires contractors to support quality job creation and retention, invest in U.S. and Los Angeles County manufacturing facilities, provide workforce training opportunities, and expand career pathways for low-income residents and individuals facing barriers to employment.

VEHICLE ENGINEERING AND ACQUISITION

BUS ACQUISITION OF 220 FORTY-FOOT BATTERY ELECTRIC BUSES (BEBs)

Regular Board Meeting
September 24, 2026

Metro

RECOMMENDATION

AUTHORIZE the Chief Executive Officer to:

A. AWARD Contract No. OP118576(2)000 with ElDorado National (California), Inc. (ENC), for the manufacture and delivery of 220 Battery Electric Buses (BEBs) in the amount of $337,698,727.58 for the base contract, including taxes and delivery; exclusive of any contract option buses, subject to the resolution of any properly submitted protest(s),if any;

B. INCREASE the Life-Of-Project (LOP) for Capital Project 201078 from $52,000,000, established to purchase up to 40 BEBs under the Washington State contract, by $382,355,185 to purchase up to 220 Battery Electric Buses (BEBs) and provide funding for professional and technical support, internal labor, and contingencies, for a total LOP of $434,355,185; and

C. NEGOTIATE AND EXECUTE future contract modifications to the contract up to $1,000,000.

Metro

ISSUE

New BEBs are needed to support Metro's transition to a zero-emission (ZE) fleet and to replace CNG buses that have reached the end of their useful life.

Staff recommends approving the contract award for 220 BEBs and increasing the life-of-project budget to support Metro's ZE goal and maintain safe, reliable bus service.

In November 2025, the staff canceled the first RFP for ZE buses due to multiple reasons, including:

- Unmet safety requirements, including a fully integrated operator compartment
- Deviations from the Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP) and Metro's Terms and Conditions
- BEB pricing being 7.4% above the Independent Cost Estimate (ICE)

Delays in awarding the contract will result in the following:

- Loss of funding due to expenditure deadlines, including $168,200,050 in state funds that require a contract award before the end of February
- Inability to replace CNG buses, impacting service
- Misalignment of bus deliveries with infrastructure projects, including Division 18 electrification

- New Flyer — Did not submit contract-specific Labor Value Forms (LVFs) or measurable workforce commitments, including Full-Time Equivalents (FTEs), Direct Hours, wages/benefits, or USEP Total Dollar Commitment. Received partial credit for corporate wage and fringe benefit information; all other qualitative criteria received no credit.

- ENC — Submitted comprehensive contract-specific LVFs, including FTEs, Direct Hours, workforce training, disadvantaged worker commitments, facility capital investment, and compensation commitments.

- Ride Mobility — Submitted the highest USEP Total Dollar Commitment, receiving the maximum quantitative score. However, the qualitative proposal included limited workforce training commitments and only the minimum disadvantaged worker commitment, resulting in lower qualitative scores.

Metro

THE FULL SCORING PICTURE (APPEAL RECAP)

Across all six evaluation factors, ENC's 833.92 leads New Flyer's 769.26 and RIDE Mobility's 633.57.

Metro

DISCUSSION

The staff's recommendation identifies the firm that offers Metro the greatest advantages. ENC's offer represents the highest rating and the best value for Metro when all technical and price factors are considered in accordance with the RFP evaluation criteria. Metro's Manufacturing Careers Policy (MCP) was applied to this procurement.

The order of 220 BEBs will mainly go to Divisions 9 (El Monte) and 18 (Carson) to help electrify routes from North Hollywood to Pasadena BRT and nearby areas. Bus deliveries will start in spring 2028 to align with infrastructure projects. The contract also offers options to buy up to 1,600 more BEBs.

The LOP increase includes funding for 220 BEBs, contract modification authority not to exceed 10%, internal Metro labor, and professional and technical consulting support.

The addition of Ambassadors/Security Officers was a wonderful change -

Is it possible to add movable Kiosks (with cameras) to the METRO Stations for METRO Ambassadors/ Security Officers?

This would allow METRO Ambassadors/ Security Officers to have counters where people could find them and 2) allow Kiosk/walking Patrol shifts for Ambassadors/ Security Officers -

This might greatly improve the working conditions for METRO Ambassadors/ Security Officers

Dear Members of the Metro Board:

Why is Metro suing Burbank over the BRT? Four years ago, Burbank asked Metro to hold off on dedicated lanes until the line reaches 17,500 daily riders in order to maximize lane carrying capacity. The difference in BRT travel time with mixed-flow in Burbank: a mere sixty-seconds.

Metro staff claims the BRT will hit 30,000 riders on day one, yet they refused Burbank's request. Why? Probably because none of the existing BRT lines carry 17,500 riders, so staff knows ridership will fall short. If Metro's projections are true, and 17,500 riders are reached, a simple bucket of paint is all it would take to convert a shared to a dedicated lane.

Now four years latter, with SB 79, dedicated lanes will trigger development that will severely impact Burbank, substantially exceeding the City's sewage treatment capacity and potentially bankrupting the City. Instead of cooperating, Metro is pushing SB 1361 to silence cities.

Please drop the lawsuit against Burbank, agree to the 17,500 trigger, stop SB 1361, and be a good neighbor.

Thank you. Sincerly,
Susan O'Carroll

Dear Board Members,

As a 25 year resident of the Inland Empire and small business owner in Orange County, I support funding of Metrolink to the maximum extent possible.

The roads from Inland Empire to the businesses in OC are jam-packed daily. Metrolink is one of the most effective ways to get cars off the road. Metrolink riders benefit all residents, whether they use the service or not. Moreover, lower costs are essential to get more riders and keep routes from getting canceled.

I have ridden for 25 years to many OC businesses and Metrolink is a valuable asset to our community.

Thank you,

Brent Goldberg

Attention Metro Board:

I would like to be added to a metro board or open meeting this month.

There is a very strong push by multiple outside companies to unionize drivers. This would be a disaster for the community and lead to unreasonable increases in consumer costs and the closure of countless numbers of businesses. High prices for rideshare will NOT increase ridership of metro because they are two very different products.

Rideshare is an important first mile and last mile connection with public transportation and has vital flexibility for late night safety of individuals who need to travel after public transportation connections and operations become difficult to use. Restaurants and bars depend on increased consumer use when parking is a limiting factor for access. Delivery services keep thousands of restaurants alive through increased consumer volume.

My vision is very complex and hard to explain in a single introduction email. Some of the points are explained in the following white paper but there is more to the subject than I can open within this email. The important factor is that Metro and private rideshare providers work together in expanding Metro Micro and Metro bus lines to better connect Angelenos with vital transportation connections. The primary goal is to reduce congestion at affordable prices and reduce VMT throughout the county.

I would like to discuss this further with the board or create a presentation at a board meeting. This project can be funded immediately outside of the current budget as it is important to make important changes prior to Union creation. The Union will just exist to collect fees from already abused drivers, and the consumers and passengers will pay considerably more for rides.

I wish to make a case to hire myself as a rideshare transportation liaison to help regulate rideshare and the gig industry in Los Angeles County. I graduated Summa Cum Laude from Arizona State University in Urban Planning with a minor in Sustainability. I have been a rideshare driver for both Lyft and Uber since October 2016 and have completed more than 42,000 rides and driven more than 400,000 miles around Los Angeles since that time. I have seen the issues with drivers and passengers all over the county driving in many neighborhoods in a single day. I am aware of the tactics and how the rideshare companies treat their drivers and how they manipulate their pay.

Protecting Mobility, Public Safety, and Economic Opportunity in Los Angeles: The Case Against Gig Driver Unionization Without Fleet Regulation

Executive Summary

Los Angeles has developed one of the nation's largest app-based transportation and delivery ecosystems. Millions of residents rely on rideshare and delivery services for commuting, accessing public transportation, late-night travel, restaurant meals, and small business commerce. This ecosystem supports drivers, restaurants, retailers, bars, entertainment venues, airports, hospitals, hotels, and thousands of consumers who either do not own vehicles or choose not to drive.

Efforts to significantly increase mandatory compensation for app-based drivers through collective bargaining or sector-wide labor agreements, without simultaneously addressing the oversupply of drivers, could produce unintended consequences. If labor costs rise substantially while the number of active drivers remains unrestricted, transportation networks may become less efficient, consumer prices could increase, demand could decline, and earnings opportunities may ultimately fall for many drivers.

This paper argues that Los Angeles should prioritize comprehensive regulation of fleet size rather than labor price controls alone. The region's transportation agencies, including Metro and local policymakers, should recognize that driver oversupply contributes to congestion, inefficient utilization of public roads, and declining driver productivity.

Introduction

The debate surrounding gig worker unionization often focuses on improving wages and benefits. While improving worker livelihoods is an important public policy objective, transportation markets operate differently than traditional employment relationships.

App-based transportation is a two-sided marketplace balancing:

- Consumer demand
- Driver supply
- Dynamic pricing
- Geographic coverage
- Wait times
- Traffic congestion

Policies affecting one component inevitably influence all others.

The Economics of Oversupply

Los Angeles currently has a large population of part-time rideshare and delivery drivers.

When too many drivers compete for a limited number of rides:

- Idle time increases.
- Deadhead miles increase.
- Road congestion worsens.
- Driver productivity declines.
- Individual earnings decrease.

If mandatory wage floors or collectively bargained compensation requirements significantly increase operating costs without reducing fleet size, transportation network companies may respond by:

- Raising fares
- Increasing delivery fees
- Reducing incentives
- Limiting driver access to the platform
- Reducing service in lower-demand areas

Higher prices may discourage discretionary trips and deliveries, reducing trip volume.

Consumer Price Effects

Transportation demand is price sensitive.

As rides become more expensive:

- Some consumers drive themselves.
- Others cancel trips.
- Restaurant delivery orders decline.
- Late-night travel decreases.
- Entertainment spending contracts.

Reduced transaction volume means fewer opportunities for drivers despite higher compensation per completed trip.

The result may be lower aggregate earnings distributed across a larger driver population.

Impact on Restaurants and Local Businesses

Restaurants increasingly depend on delivery platforms.

Many newer restaurants operate in lower-cost commercial corridors while serving customers across the metropolitan region.

If delivery costs increase substantially:

- Fewer orders may be placed.
- Average order frequency may decline.
- Small restaurants with thin operating margins may experience financial stress.
- Independent operators could face disproportionate impacts compared with larger chains.

The restaurant industry is closely connected with:

- Entertainment venues
- Bars
- Breweries
- Ghost kitchens
- Small retailers

Any reduction in delivery demand may have broader effects throughout local commercial districts.

Nightlife and Public Safety

Rideshare services have become an important transportation option for individuals consuming alcohol.

Higher ride prices could reduce utilization among price-sensitive customers.

Some individuals may choose to drive rather than pay substantially higher transportation costs.

If that behavioral response occurs on a meaningful scale, impaired driving incidents could increase. (More DUI arrests and deaths)

The magnitude of this effect should be evaluated using empirical traffic safety data, but it represents an important public policy consideration whenever transportation prices are increased.

First-Mile and Last-Mile Transit Connections

Los Angeles Metro cannot serve every origin and destination directly.

Rideshare frequently fills critical transportation gaps by providing:

- First-mile transit access
- Last-mile transit connections
- Late-night mobility
- Access in neighborhoods with limited bus frequency
- Mobility for residents without automobiles

Maintaining affordable rideshare complements—not competes with—public transportation.

Pricing policies that reduce rideshare availability may weaken overall transit accessibility.

Congestion and Fleet Management

One issue that receives comparatively little attention is driver oversupply.

A large number of drivers circulating while waiting for requests contributes to:

- Vehicle miles traveled
- Traffic congestion
- Curb conflicts
- Airport congestion
- Increased emissions
- Reduced driver utilization

Rather than focusing exclusively on compensation, policymakers should consider whether the number of active drivers better matches transportation demand.

A more balanced fleet could improve:

- Driver earnings
- Consumer wait times
- Road efficiency
- Environmental outcomes

A Role for Metro

Metro already serves as the region's transportation planning agency.

Its responsibilities include promoting efficient movement of people throughout Los Angeles County.

Metro should work with municipal governments and state regulators to study:

- Appropriate active driver capacity
- Geographic distribution of drivers
- Congestion impacts
- Integration with transit
- Peak versus off-peak demand
- Airport operations
- Event-based transportation demand

A data-driven licensing framework could improve utilization while protecting mobility.

Policy Recommendations

1. Conduct a Regional Fleet Capacity Study

Determine the number of active rideshare and delivery drivers needed to meet demand while minimizing unnecessary congestion.

2. Develop Active Driver Management Tools

Explore mechanisms that better align active driver supply with real-time demand.

3. Evaluate Transportation Cost Impacts

Request economic impact analysis before adopting compensation policies that substantially affect consumer prices.

4. Protect Affordability

Recognize affordable rideshare as essential transportation infrastructure for many residents.

5. Coordinate Transportation Policy

Transportation agencies should coordinate rideshare regulations with transit planning rather than regulating each independently.

6. Monitor Public Safety

Study whether transportation affordability influences impaired-driving behavior and use evidence-based findings to guide policy.

Conclusion

App-based transportation has become an integral component of Los Angeles' transportation network and local economy. While improving compensation for gig workers is an important objective, compensation policies should be considered alongside fleet size, consumer demand, congestion, and business impacts.

A transportation system with significantly higher operating costs and an unrestricted supply of drivers' risks reducing overall efficiency, increasing prices, and limiting access to mobility services that residents, restaurants, and businesses increasingly depend upon.

Los Angeles should pursue balanced transportation policy that protects workers while preserving affordable mobility, supporting local commerce, reducing congestion, and integrating rideshare effectively with the region's public transportation network. Careful, evidence-based regulation of driver supply may offer a more sustainable path than compensation mandates alone.

I recommend creating a dedicated department to coordinate with gig companies, Metro, and local transportation agencies to improve affordable, safe connections for residents and travelers throughout Los Angeles County.

MEMORANDUM: INVITATION TO JOINT ROUNDTABLE ON REGIONAL TRANSIT INFRASTRUCTURE

TO: Regional Labor Unions (ILWU, Building Trades), Municipal Planning Departments, Neighborhood Councils, and Community Stakeholders
FROM: Project Leadership / Transit Advocacy Coalition
DATE: July 2026
SUBJECT: Joint-Use Transit Initiative: Downtown LA to the Port of San Pedro Extension

1. PURPOSE & VISION
This memo serves as a formal invitation to a collaborative Roundtable and Town Hall to review a structural proposal for a dedicated Metro Rail Extension & Joint-Use Freight Corridor linking Downtown Los Angeles directly to the Port of San Pedro. As the nation's largest port complex, the Harbor Gateway lacks high-capacity passenger rail infrastructure—straining working-class commutes and limiting economic mobility. This project intends to bridge that gap while optimizing multi-modal cargo transport.

2. OBJECTIVES OF THE ROUNDTABLE
* Establish a framework for a comprehensive Community Benefits Agreement (CBA) prioritizing local hire, environmental protections, and transit equity.
* Secure labor and civic alignments to package this proposal for direct presentation to the LA County Board of Supervisors Infrastructure Deputies.
* Evaluate statutory avenues for implementation, optimizing both the 2027 legislative approval pathway and alternative public ballot initiative strategies.

3. KEY AGENDA ITEMS

* Corridor Alignment: Utilizing existing rights-of-way (e.g., Harbor Subdivision extensions).
* Joint-Use Coordination: Mitigating freight-passenger dual alignment realities.
* Economic & Environmental Justice: Addressing zero-emission targets and workforce protections for impacted communities like Wilmington, Torrance, and Southeast LA.

4. NEXT STEPS & ACTION
We request your leadership's presence at the upcoming preliminary session. Feedback gathered here will directly shape the formal brief submitted to the Board of Supervisors Executive Planning Deputies.

Please RSVP your designated representative to the coordinating committee coordinator.

Dear Metro Board,

I am a homeowner in Los Angeles, 90031, and I am leaving a general public comment to strongly support increased fare enforcement on all Metro trains and buses.

Fare enforcement has increased slightly in May 2026, but that increase is not sufficient.

Metro must rerun to at least 2018 levels of fare enforcement when Metro was doing about 350,000 checks per day.

We know fare enforcement has increased safety and security, now we must do it more.

Thank you.

Hello the Board of Directors,

I'd like to bring to your attention couple of potentially savings topics.

1. Consolidating fast and slow buslines stops. Using an example of 761 and 233 and their stops on opposite sides of Magnolia on Van Nuys. Riders would usually prefer to take the first bus coming in but if they are at the 233 stop and thee 761 is coming they cannot relocate to the 761 stop on time. The implied benefit would be savings taxpayers money by building and maintaining only 1 new design bus stop instead of 2.

2. Preventing illegal ridership on subway. There is only a single realistic way how to prevent riding for free and it's guarding the entries to stations. This way we would not only teach illegal riders to buy tap cards but also preserve the system from damages. The current Police enforcement is pretty much non-existent. They enter a car, ask to show tap cards, look at whatever riders show them, don't have time to verify validity of tap cards and leave. And, of course abusers know that...

I'd be more than happy to contribute with my physical ridership experience as needed.

Regards,
Vladimir Flener

RE.: Perla Board of Directors Position on Broadway Bus Transit Project

Dear Metro Board Members:

Perla on Broadway Homeowner Association (Perla HOA) represents the Perla building, a 35-story, 450-unit condominium tower located at 400 S. Broadway. Our building has over 500 residents, each with a strong stake in Downtown Los Angeles, and particularly in the Historic Broadway Corridor.

As members of the Save Historic Broadway coalition, the Perla HOA and its residents urge Metro and LADOT to preserve existing pedestrian improvements and sidewalk extensions and to remove the Historic Broadway segment between 1st and 12th Streets from any proposal to install full-time bus-priority lanes or additional traffic lanes.

Perla HOA is actively engaging in ongoing conversations with city leaders and staff regarding the Broadway Streetscape Dress Rehearsal, in coordination with the Historic Core Business Improvement District (HCBID) and other local stakeholders. As presented so far, the project lacks sufficient detail regarding how the individual blocks along Broadway would be addressed. We believe the most successful outcome will result from a collaborative planning process in which project designers walk the corridor with property owners, businesses, and other stakeholders to better understand block-by-block conditions and incorporate that discovery into the final design.

Most Perla residents chose to live in DTLA because of walkability, nearby businesses, and the pedestrian-focused lifestyle that streets like Broadway provide; we are a residential community and our needs and desires should be considered. Many Perla residents work in DTLA and the Historic Core and are committed to its rejuvenation.

The proposed bus-priority plan through Broadway would destroy the Historic Core neighborhood in favor of rapid transit. Adding a dedicated priority bus lane would be intrusive and destroy the character of the neighborhood, just when it is struggling to bounce back after COVID.

PERLA
ON BROADWAY

We support transit access to Broadway and Downtown Los Angeles. We also support keeping buses moving with signal priority, better stop design, and smarter operations. But Historic Broadway is not a generic traffic corridor. It is a historic theater district, a small-business corridor, a residential neighborhood, a visitor destination, and one of Downtown Los Angeles's most important pedestrian streets. It should be treated as a destination, not converted into a bus highway.

Metro's own materials state that the project would narrow the existing Broadway Dress Rehearsal painted sidewalk extensions from 14 feet to 6 feet between 2nd Street and 11th Street. Existing pedestrian improvements and sidewalk extensions should be preserved, not narrowed or removed. Narrowing them would be a direct step backward for pedestrian space, sidewalk activity, street life, and the long-promised vision of a safer and more walkable Broadway.

Grand Central Market and Il Caffè are among Downtown's brightest examples of successful street activation, and their outdoor parkway seating should not be sacrificed. Other small businesses along Broadway also depend on pedestrian activity, curb access, deliveries, pickup, and a street environment that invites people to linger.

This project would directly and negatively affect both residents who live on or immediately adjacent to Broadway, all Downtowners, as well as visitors and tourists to our community. The value of living Downtown is walkability, nearby businesses, sidewalk life, and pedestrian-focused amenities. Metro should protect that — not undermine it.

Broadway's future should not be decided without DTLA/Historic Core residents, Downtown business owners, and Broadway stakeholders leading the conversation. Please preserve existing pedestrian improvements and sidewalk extensions and remove the Historic Broadway segment between 1st and 12th Streets from the full-time bus-priority-lane scope.

We appreciate your consideration.

Metro Board of Directors

Dear Metro Board Members:

Support for a dedicated Metro Board seat for the City of Long Beach

Thank you for undertaking Metro's governance review in light of Measure G and the evolving structure of Los Angeles County government. Metro has correctly identified the importance of ensuring that its Board continues to provide strong regional representation, accountability, and effective transportation leadership for all residents of Los Angeles County.

Gateway Cities Council of Governments ("Gateway Cities") is a joint powers authority of 27 cities (including Long Beach) and 11 unincorporated areas in southeast Los Angeles County, with over two million residents. In fact, if we were one city, we would be the fifth largest in the United States; if we were one state, we would be the 38th most populous in the country. We are over 5% of California's population, but have over 14% of the disadvantaged community census tracts in the state. At the same time, we have four of the 19 Community Air Pollution Program (AB 617) designations in California, neighborhoods that require mitigation to improve air quality and reduce greenhouse gases.

This letter memorializes the position of the Gateway Cities as articulated through public comment and call-in testimony during the Ad Hoc Board Composition Committee's May 27, 2026 meeting. Gateway Cities supports the creation of a dedicated Metro Board seat for the City of Long Beach. Our support is based on two straightforward considerations.

First, Long Beach is uniquely situated among Los Angeles County cities outside the City of Los Angeles. At approximately 455,000 residents, Long Beach is the County's second-largest city and is significantly larger than other cities represented through the City Selection Committee process. Its population, economic importance, and role in the regional transportation network justify direct representation on the Metro Board.

Second, a dedicated Long Beach seat would create a more equitable opportunity for representation among the remaining Gateway Cities communities. While Long Beach has approximately 455,000 residents, the balance of the Gateway Cities subregion represents roughly 1.6 million residents across multiple cities.

Providing Long Beach with its own seat would allow the remaining cities to compete for representation on a more level playing field and better reflect the diversity of interests throughout the subregion.

This approach is also consistent with existing governance structures. The City of Los Angeles maintains direct representation on the Metro Board while participating in various regional and intergovernmental organizations. Similarly, recognizing Long Beach's unique size and importance through a dedicated seat would strengthen—not diminish—regional representation.

As for the LA County proposal to give a seat on the Metro Board to every Supervisor and the elected County Executive when those separate events take place, that dilution of representation is not necessary. No other governmental entity in the County has five seats on the Metro Board, much less 10. The County can retain its five seats and choose who to fill them.

Gateway Cities has also reviewed proposals concerning representation for small cities and transit riders. We are not opposed to further consideration of either proposal and recognize the value of ensuring that Metro benefits from a broad range of perspectives. However, we believe that establishing a dedicated Long Beach seat should remain a priority as the Board evaluates potential reforms.

We respectfully urge the Committee to recommend a Board composition that recognizes both population realities and the need for fair subregional representation. A dedicated Long Beach seat would accomplish these objectives while providing greater opportunity for representation among the remaining Gateway Cities and other cities participating in the City Selection Committee process.

Thank you for your consideration of these comments and for your commitment to ensuring that Metro's governance structure continues to reflect the diversity and transportation needs of Los Angeles County. Feel free to reach out with any questions regarding our support for the proposed Metro Board governance structure at hdelatorre@gatewaycog.org.

The Honorable Karen Bass, Chair
Metro Board of Directors

RE: ITEM #5 (METRO BOARD MEMBER COMPOSITION AND APPOINTMENT STRUCTURE)

Dear Chair Bass and Members of the Metro Board of Directors:

On behalf of the San Gabriel Valley Council of Governments (SGVCOG), representing 31 cities and nearly two million residents across the San Gabriel Valley, we appreciate Metro's efforts to thoughtfully evaluate the agency's governance structure. The SGVCOG recognizes that the implementation of Measure G and the future expansion of the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors present an opportunity to examine Metro's governance structure and ensure that it continues to provide effective oversight, accountability, and representation for the diverse communities served by Metro.

Following discussion of the governance alternatives currently under consideration, the SGVCOG respectfully expresses its support for Alternative D – Maintaining Board Appointments. The San Gabriel Valley has long benefited from Metro's subregional representation model, which provides each of Los Angeles County's major subregions with a direct and meaningful voice in regional transportation decision-making through the City Selection Committee process. This governance framework has been instrumental in ensuring that transportation investments, policies, and priorities reflect the diverse needs of communities across the County while maintaining an appropriate balance between countywide leadership and local representation.

As one of Los Angeles County's largest subregions, the San Gabriel Valley encompasses 31 of the County's 88 cities and is home to nearly two million residents. The region accounts for a significant share of the County's population, economic activity, transit ridership, and transportation infrastructure, including major freeway, transit, and goods movement corridors that are critical to the mobility of the broader region. Preserving meaningful and guaranteed subregional representation is essential to ensuring that the unique needs, priorities, and perspectives of San Gabriel Valley communities continue to be reflected in Metro Board deliberations.

The SGVCOG believes Alternative D best balances governance stability, regional equity, and local accountability, and therefore supports this alternative because it:

- Preserves the existing subregional representation framework and the dedicated San Gabriel Valley seat;
- Maintains accountability to local jurisdictions through representation by elected officials;

- Provides continuity and governance stability during the implementation of Measure G;
- Avoids unintended consequences that could diminish the voice of local governments and subregions within Metro governance; and
- Addresses future County governance changes by allowing for the participation of the elected County Executive in Metro governance without disrupting the Board's established balance of countywide and subregional representation.

The SGVCOG is particularly concerned that alternatives involving substantial restructuring of the Board could weaken the established balance between countywide and subregional interests that has served Metro and Los Angeles County well for decades. While we appreciate ongoing discussions regarding rider engagement, subject matter expertise, and community representation, we believe such objectives can be advanced without altering the core framework that guarantees representation for the County's diverse subregions.

Furthermore, the SGVCOG believes that any future consideration of Board expansion should be guided by the principle of enhancing rather than diminishing subregional representation. As Los Angeles County moves from five to nine Supervisorial Districts, it is particularly important that any resulting governance changes not come at the expense of the four subregional municipal seats that provide direct representation for the County's remaining 87 cities. The existing City Selection Committee structure ensures that cities throughout Los Angeles County maintain a meaningful voice in regional transportation policy and investment decisions and should remain a foundational element of Metro governance.

As one of the County's largest and most populous subregions, the San Gabriel Valley's representation on the Metro Board should be maintained at a minimum and, if governance changes are contemplated in the future, consideration should be given to increasing opportunities for representation from large subregions that are responsible for a substantial share of the County's population, economic activity, transportation infrastructure, and transit ridership.

The SGVCOG also believes that Metro's governance structure should continue to strike an appropriate balance between countywide leadership and local representation. Metro's success as a regional transportation agency has been built upon collaboration among Los Angeles County, the City of Los Angeles, and the County's diverse cities and subregions. Preserving this balance will remain critical as Metro advances major transportation investments and prepares for future growth and mobility challenges.

As Metro continues its governance review, the SGVCOG respectfully urges the Metro Board to prioritize geographic equity, local government accountability, and dedicated subregional representation. These principles have been essential to fostering collaboration among Los Angeles County's cities and ensuring that transportation investments reflect the needs of all communities throughout the region.

Thank you for your leadership and for the opportunity to provide input on this important discussion. We look forward to continuing to work collaboratively with Metro throughout the governance review process and appreciate your consideration of the San Gabriel Valley's perspective.

Sincerely,

Re: Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority Motion to add new Board Seat for Labor

Dear Metro Board of Directors,

The LA/OC Building & Construction Trades Council along with The Los Angeles County Federation of Labor are writing to express our strong support for the motion to create three additional voting seats on the Metro Board of Directors, including one specifically for a labor representative. As you know, at tomorrow's Metro Board Meeting, the Metro Board of Directors will be voting on a proposal which would add 3 members to the staff recommendation for the Board: a rider appointed by the county supervisors residing in an unincorporated area, the County Executive, and a labor representative. This proposal gives the working people of this community a meaningful seat at the table of one of our most important public agencies.

The Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority consists of several Board Members, who set policy, coordinate, plan, fund, build, and operate transit services and transportation programs throughout Los Angeles County. Labor has always been at the heart of these programs and has been the staunchest of partners with Metro from program inception to system operations. Metro's Project Labor Agreement and Construction Careers Policy make union labor an essential part of Metro's construction program, and we have already played an important part in many of the biggest wins for Metro over the last decade and more. With 28 major infrastructure projects slated for delivery by 2028 and the 2028 Olympics driving major transit investments, labor is the engine behind Metro's slate of projects. The rationale is clear: Labor is the foundation that has already built Metro projects. Labor should have a vote on what gets built.

The timing of this proposal also makes sense. Former Metro Board Chair Dutra formed an Ad Hoc Board Composition Committee to review the board's structure, meaning this push for a full voting labor seat is landing at a moment when board composition is already actively under review. As a member of the ad-hoc committee, Executive Secretary Ernesto Medrano has worked with his colleagues to make this idea a reality. The Metro Board seat proposals for small cities and transit rider advocates are also being voted on in this same meeting, a clear sign that the Board is already actively considering adding voices beyond the current elected-official structure. But even within the elected official structure, the County Executive will be elected by all of Los Angeles County and be responsible for representing the entire region. Without the County Executive being seated on the Board, there will be significant portions of unincorporated LA County without representation. Item 57 ensures that the entirety of our county is receiving the representation it deserves.

The LA/OC Building & Construction Trades Council sees firsthand how the hard work of our members continues to build the essential infrastructure that keeps California safe, connected, and moving forward. We strongly support making a member of our labor family a full voting member on the LA Metro Board, and we respectfully urge your support for this proposal.

Respectfully,

Ernesto Medrano
Executive Secretary

Agenda items #5, 55, 56, 57 (Metro Board composititon reform)

SUPPORT

Reform of the Metro Board is long overdue and highly support a board member must be a rider. However, I am a bit wary that "regular transit rider" is too broad as I don't want fare evaders and people who blast loud music be represented on the board just because they fit the "rider" description either. I would like the "rider" to be a representative who has a background in finance, law, construction, engineering, procurement, security, mass transit management, real estate development experience, etc. much as how mass transit riders of such backgrounds are the ones who are on the board in places like New York, London, Paris, Tokyo, Seoul, Taipei, Hong Kong and Singapore.

Agenda items #47 (Award BEB contract to El Dorado National)

SUPPORT

I understand Supervisor Hahn held some reservations in the Operations, Safety, and Customer Service Meeting last week as it's not union made. But I would like to remind that El Dorado National is a California based company which is based in Riverside, and that our precious taxpayer dollars should be used to help California based businesses and retain our taxpayer dollars right here in SoCal as well as going for who is able to provide the best price and top points as top priority rather than whether it's unionized or not. And, we should be supportive of this Riverside based company to help build their experience and technical know-how so that we can move away from the New Flyer and Gillig duopoly system. What better way to do that by investing our taxpayer dollars into a company based right here in CA and in Riverside? And if something needs fixing, it's much more quicker to call up a company and bring in technicians from Riverside than where ultimately the money goes to a company based in Winnipeg, Canada.

Support awarding the BEB contract to El Dorado National.

NEEDS MORE CONSIDERATION

I am formally OPPOSED to Metro forever funding the open streets and CicLAvia events as if it is welfare benefit for City of LA and shady non-profit organizations who are more interested in keeping Metro forever funding these types of events rather than the original intent of these events which was to permanently designate certain areas of City of LA to be car-free zones and be permanently open streets for pedestrians and cyclists. Rather it seems they would prefer to help keep the existence of these 501(c)(3) organizations funded and not have City of LA do it's job of creating car free zones in past places where CicLAvia has taken place, such as along Hollywood Blvd, Sunset Blvd, Melrose Ave, Koreatown, Silverlake/Echo Park, Highland Park, etc. all of which are within City of LA boundaries.

Item #13 seems to reduce the funding to this program which I would support, but long term this program should not be made permanent and MOVE to defund this program so that precious funding should be retained for Metro services (more faregates, TAP to Exit, better maintenance of stations and buses, etc.) and redirect the responsibility to the City of LA and LADOT to move past these events from pilot festivity stage to a permanent car-free section for their own city.

Dear Metro Board,

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Thank you,

Dear Metro Board,

As a car-free Angeleno (well, Santa Monican) and therefore regular user of the Metro, I wanted to make my position clear on tomorrow's Items:

- Item #5: At the very least, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. In addition:
  - Metro should require professional qualifications for all appointed board members (c'mon this feels basic)
  - Create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance (do the job)
  - Adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.
- Item #55: doesn't guarantee a seat for the County CEO when it should.
- Item #56: adding another small city seat risks division; we need a regional approach.
- Item #57: It's fine to add the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do NOT support changing the City of LA threshold.

Dear Metro Board,

Unfortunately, I have to work and cannot attend or call into Thursday's meeting. However, as a Los Angeles resident and occasional metro rider, I have to weigh in on some important issues that are up for discussion. One of my deepest desires as an Aneleno is to have public transit be a more viable, reliable option for me and my neighbors.

Regarding Item #5, the staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members (as is standard in most major cities internationally), create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

For Item #55, if it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; that should be amended.

On Item #56, I do not support adding another small city seat.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Personally I would also really like to see a minimum ridership requirement for anyone serving on the metro board. If the board makes decisions regarding this public service, then they should use it!

Dear Metro Board,

I am writing in my personal capacity regarding Items 5, 55, 56, and 57.

Item 5 — DO NOT SUPPORT, MAJOR AMENDMENTS NEEDED
I appreciate staff's work, but I believe the recommendation reflects the minimum amount of reform rather than the level of reform Metro deserves. At a minimum, the future County Executive should have a dedicated voting seat on the Board. Additionally, Metro should require professional qualifications for appointed Board members, establish minimum participation requirements with meaningful consequences for chronic non-participation, and revise its recusal rules so that motions require a majority of the non-recused members to pass.

Item 55 — DO NOT SUPPORT
I cannot support this motion because it does not guarantee the future County Executive a dedicated voting seat on the Metro Board. As Los Angeles County's governance evolves under Measure G, Metro's governance should evolve alongside it. The County Executive will provide continuity, administrative expertise, and a countywide perspective that no other position can offer.

Item 56 — DO NOT SUPPORT
Adding another small-city seat moves Metro in the wrong direction. The Board should be structured to encourage regional thinking, not further incentivize parochial decision-making. Metro exists to operate an integrated transportation network that serves the entire county, and its governance should reflect that mission.

Item 57 — SUPPORT ONLY IF AMENDED
I support adding the County Executive as a dedicated voting member of the Metro Board. However, I do not support raising the population threshold for the City of Los Angeles, which would effectively reduce the City's representation. The County Executive seat should be added without eliminating an existing Los Angeles seat.

Metro has grown into one of the largest and most consequential transit agencies in the United States. Its governance should reflect that reality by prioritizing expertise, accountability, participation, and regional decision-making over jurisdictional politics.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Metro Board,

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Thank you,

Dear Metro Board,

I'm a regular Metro and Metrolink rider and serve on the Northridge South Neighborhood Council, where first/last mile transit access is one of my main issues. I've read the staff report and the motions. Here's where I stand.

Item 5 — Alternative A: Not Enough

Alternative A lets appointing authorities seat riders or subject matter experts, but doesn't require it. Metro's own outreach — 1,300+ engagement touchpoints, 900 survey responses — found that rider representation was the single most consistent ask from the public. Responding to that with a "you can if you want to" isn't reform.

Beyond the rider seat, I want the Board to go further on three things:

Professional qualifications. There are zero qualification requirements to govern a $9 billion agency. That should change. Transportation planning, engineering, public health, finance — something.

Participation requirements with real consequences. Members routinely walk in and out of meetings because Metro is a secondary responsibility. Cap absences, require regular system ridership, and actually enforce it.

Fix the recusal rules. Right now a recusal is effectively a no vote — motions still need a majority of the full 13-member board. If two members recuse, you still need 7 out of 11. The threshold should adjust to non-recused members only. Recusal should remove someone from the vote, not let them quietly block it.

Item 55 — Bass, Najarian, Barger, Dupont-Walker: Support with one caveat

This is the right motion. It guarantees a dedicated voting rider seat, gives the County CEO a clear path to the board under Measure G, and requires one of the Mayor's public appointees to be a transit advocate. The MBTA and WMATA have both made this commitment in statute — Metro should too.

My one caveat: the CEO seat should be guaranteed, not left to the Board of Supervisors' discretion. Giving the same body that controls the County delegation the option to include the CEO isn't the same as guaranteeing it.

Item 56 — Hahn, Richardson, Sandoval: Cannot support

I get the concern — smaller cities do face real disadvantages in the City Selection Committee's population-weighted process. But adding a dedicated small city seat makes the parochialism problem worse, not better. The board already struggles with members prioritizing their own districts over the regional system. One more seat built around a single jurisdiction's interests isn't the fix. If smaller cities need more voice, that conversation belongs in the City Selection Committee and League of Cities processes, not in board composition.

Item 57 — Fasana Proposal: Partial support

I support a dedicated County CEO seat. The CEO will be the only elected official with a countywide mandate, and their responsibilities will overlap directly with Metro's work. Leaving that seat optional for the Board of Supervisors doesn't cut it.

I don't support changing the City of LA threshold from 35% to 43.75%. Per the 2020 Census, LA City's share of the combined city population is about 43.4% — just below the proposed cutoff — so this change would immediately strip a seat from the City's contingency. And the staff report notes this share has straddled the 43.75% midpoint at every census since 1960, so the seat would likely keep flipping back and forth. Meanwhile, 74% of Metro ridership originates in the City, 64.8% of bus revenue-miles run through it, and it holds 56% of the County's zero-vehicle households. Cutting City representation based on a population technicality when the City generates most of the system's actual usage doesn't make sense.

Thanks for the opportunity to comment.

Dear Metro Board,

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Thank you,
Serafin Avalos, Jr.

Dear Metro Board,

I am writing to oppose items 5, 55, 56, 57.

For Item 5, the recommendation by staff is the least amount of reform possible. The Board needs to make sure the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. In addition, Metro should require professional qualifications for all appointed board members. They also need to create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

Item 55 does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO. Anything that does not require a seat for the County CEO should be a non-starter.

On Item 56, the Board does not need another small city seat. We need regional planning, not more small city parochialism.

On Item 57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Thank you,
MC Guerry

Hello Metro Board,

Having gone from exclusively driving in LA to get around to being car free and taking metro and the bus for the last five years, I feel I should have some say and have some stake in getting Metro leadership that are actual subject matter experts (and Metro users) on the system.

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. If Metro wants to be the "world class" transit system it always claims it wants to be, and properly serve their everyday riders, then it should be led by those who are actually experts in transit. The reason our system has so many ongoing issues is because of the fact that our board is compromised simply of politicians who do not use the system themselves and only want to serve in the best interests of their own constituents, which does not represent ALL Metro riders in the slightest.

Dear Metro Board,

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Thank you,
Tommy Truong

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Thank you,
Wyatt Zadoorian

Dear Metro Board,

- On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. Again? Why?
At a minimum, the Board should ensure the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

- On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Let's accelerate progress and transit with the proper thoughtful and ambitious changes much needed already.

Thank you,

Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

Dear Ad Hoc Committee,

Metro's current board structure has significant underlying issues, and unfortunately, Alternative A fails to address them. As it stands, there is no requirement for board members to actually use the transit system they oversee, and outside professional commitments frequently interfere with their attendance. Furthermore, the current setup seems to incentivize ribbon-cutting ceremonies over true operational excellence.

I ask that you:

- avoid siloing specific interest groups to a single seat (especially non-voting); issues like rider experience and labor should be a concern of all board members

- ensure that the County Executive is a voting member

- institute professional qualifications for all appointed board members

- create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance

- adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote

We have a once-in-a-generation opportunity to fix these structural deficits at the board level. Let's get it done.

Thank you,

Brett Keating

Dear Metro board,

I ride metro for roughly two commutes per week. If train frequency was higher and delays were less frequent (e.g. due to lack of signal pre-emption), I would hope to ride it more frequently. If metro board members experienced this every week, I would imagine these issues would have a higher chance of being resolved.

Given this, on Item #5 I believe Metro should: (i) require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, (ii) create minimum participation requirements (e.g. taking transit every week to work) for members with consequences for non-compliance, and (iii) adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

Item #55 does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

Item #56 does not clearly benefit the interests of the majority of riders.

For Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

For item #27 I urge you to vote NO for diverting $35.5 million in Transportation Development Act (TDA) funding from transit to road projects while Metrolink is facing major service cuts.

Finally for item #13, the Board should direct staff to find an alternative funding source to preserve open streets funding at current levels, and make it permanent, and make sure staff follow Board directions and not the other way around.

I am personally not a fan of how politician heavy our Metro board of directors is set up to be, especially as some members are city council members or mayors that represent my district but that I don't actually have a voice as they are not from my city and thus are not truly accountable to me or voters in my city. I think ensuring that the future County CEO is a full member of the board is a step in the right direction. Some politicians should be on the board, and the CEO will be accountable to everyone. Additionally, I strongly support requiring any appointees to have relevant experience. This is how many transit agencies across the country pick their appointees.

Hello.

I am writing a GENERAL COMMENT on item 5.

My name is Des Ruggels. I am a resident of Los Angeles County and am in support of the Fasana-Horvath motion on Metro governance. This motion would give riders a dedicated spot on the board (most board members do not ride transit) and would also give labor a spot. This motion also gives more power to the County instead of the individual cities, allowing for region-wide decisions to be less impacted by municipal politics (as a Burbank resident, this point is especially important).

Please support the Fasana-Horvath motion on Metro governance so riders and labor are properly represented when important decisions on transit are made.

Thank you.

Dear Ad Hoc Committee,

Metro's board structure has real problems, and Alternative A doesn't fix any of them. Right now, there's no requirement that board members use the system they're leading, and day jobs often interfere with attendance. There are also incentives for more ribbon cuttings over operational excellence.

Dear Ad Hoc Committee,

Metro's board structure has serious problems, and Alternative A fails to address any of them.

Right now, there is no requirement that board members use the system they're leading, and the meeting schedule interferes with attendance for those with day jobs.

This plan is not a real alternative, in fact it worsens the situation by incentivizing ribbon cuttings over operational excellence. We need true leadership, public accountability, and a transportation service that serves the needs and meets the standards of the community it serves.

I ask that you:

- Do not silo specific interest groups to a single seat, especially non-voting seats.
-Ensure that issues like rider experience, and labor be a concern of all board members.
-Institute professional qualifications for all appointed board members.
- Establish minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance.
- Adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

This is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to fix the gaping holes caused by the structural problems at the board, please champion solutions to these issues.

Thank you,
Wendy Ruiz

Dear Metro Board,

On Item #5, staff's recommendation is suggesting the least amount of reform possible. At a minimum, the Board should ensure that the future County Executive has a dedicated voting seat. Furthermore, I want Metro to require professional qualifications for all appointed board members, create minimum participation requirements for members with consequences for non-compliance, and adjust recusal rules to allow for a majority of the non-recused to pass a vote.

On Item #55, it does not guarantee a seat for the County CEO; it should.

On Item #56, adding another small city seat risks further parochial decision making; we need more regional thinking, not tribalism.

On Item #57, I support adding the County CEO as a dedicated seat, but I do not support changing the City of LA threshold, effectively removing a board seat from the City of LA contingency.

LA Metro Board Clerk,

I am writing to express strong support for reforming the Los Angeles Metro Board to better reflect the needs of riders and the expertise required to guide a modern transit system. Metro is responsible for one of the most complex transportation networks in the country, yet its governing structure does not currently include dedicated transit professionals or direct rider representation. This gap limits Metro's ability to make decisions rooted in operational knowledge, lived experience, and long-term planning.

A reformed board should include appointed transit experts with backgrounds in transportation planning, engineering, and system operations. Their insight would help ensure that Metro's strategies are grounded in evidence, feasibility, and best practices used by successful agencies worldwide. Equally important is the inclusion of rider representation. Riders understand the system's day-to-day realities — reliability, safety, accessibility, and service gaps — in ways that cannot be captured through occasional public comment alone.

Metro must also be empowered to pursue long-term transit projects without being constrained by short-term political cycles. Transformational infrastructure requires continuity, stability, and a governance model that prioritizes durable mobility outcomes over temporary political wins. A board that integrates expert and rider voices would help safeguard Metro's long-range vision and strengthen accountability. Los Angeles deserves a Metro Board designed for the future; informed, inclusive, and committed to building a reliable, sustainable, and equitable transit system. I urge policymakers and community leaders to support meaningful governance reform.

If Metro wants to be the "world class" transit system it always claims it wants to be, and properly serve their everyday riders, then it should be led by those who are actually experts in transit. The reason our system has so many ongoing issues is because of the fact that our board is compromised simply of politicians who do not use the system themselves and only want to serve in the best interests of their own constituents, which does not represent ALL Metro riders in the slightest.

Hi Metro Board,

I am writing in support of Items 5, 55, and 56.

Metro should benefit from perspectives beyond elected officials alone. I support expanding eligibility to include transit riders, advocates, and subject matter experts who can bring valuable firsthand and professional experience to the Board.

At the same time, simply allowing a rider to be appointed is not enough. Riders should have a guaranteed voting seat, which is why I strongly support Item 56.

There is an important difference between someone who uses Metro occasionally and someone who depends on it as their primary transportation. When a bus does not arrive or a train is significantly delayed, some riders may be able to call an Uber or drive instead. Others may be late to work, lose wages, miss school, miss appointments, or be left without another option. Those experiences should be directly represented in the decisions that shape the system.

I also believe one rider seat should be understood as a starting point, not the full extent of rider representation. Metro serves an extremely large and diverse county, and one person cannot fully represent workers, students, seniors, disabled riders, parents, immigrants, and communities with very different levels of service.

As Metro develops the selection process, it should prioritize people who regularly depend on Metro and who understand the consequences when the system fails. That lived experience is a form of expertise and should be treated as such.

I ride Metro every day, and I am committed to helping make it better because people like my parents and me deserved better when we had to rely on it. Current and future riders deserve better as well.

I respectfully urge the Board to vote FOR Items 5, 55, and 56.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

In solidarity,

Adriana Bravo

Hi,
This month the board has the opportunity to address critical deficiencies in its board makeup by de-politicizing and professionalizing the Metro Board.

While I am pleased to see the attachment to item 5 recommend that all appointing bodies appoint subject matter experts with rider experience, and asks them to pledge to take metro multiple times a month, these should all be explicit requirements. I have no faith that any flexibility will be used in practice without making it a specific requirement. A simple language alteration, requiring subject matter expertise and requiring regular ridership, would turn this from an empty motion into a spectacular one, and would eliminate the need for advocacy groups to fight this on the state level, which is coming absent this change.

Second, I am in staunch opposition to the small cities seat in item 56 and the adjustment of LA population threshold in 57. Each would even further dilute YIMBY majorities with NIMBY representation, and would be disastrous for the board.

A labor representative is also not ideal, as labor is likely to prioritize building highways, when our environmental goals should lead to a cessation of further highway construction/widening.

Ultimately, subject matter expertise should be the guiding light on who belongs on the board, and regular ridership should be required of all members. There is risk of a dedicated rider representative removing the perceived obligation of other board members to keep rider experience and concern in mind, and this is mitigated by enforcing regular ridership for all members.

Finally, while board reform is being contemplated, a bureaucratic flaw in board rules must be altered - when a board member recuses from a vote for any reason, the threshold to clear a majority should thusly be lowered - else, all recusals effectively become 'no' votes, eliminating the point of half of all recusals in the first place. This is completely nonsensical and opens the door to corruption.

In regards to agenda items about changing Board membership (5, 55, 56) they're all horrible. Part of the reason Metro runs such an unreliable service is that the Board is made up 100% of people who do not rely on transit (riding Metro to board meetings doesn't count). Too often the Board throws riders under the bus for the sake of political expediency. There need to be actual riders on the Board, not just 1, and not just riders hand picked by LA county's anti-transit political class.

On item 13, the Planning and Programming Committee recommendations; I would like to express how outrageous it is that Metro is preparing to zero out open street funding essentially at the bidding of corrupt unaccountable international organizations. FIFA, and the IOC/LA28 should not be in a position to unilaterally dictate an end to open street events that Angelenos love (orr attach ridiculous terms, why does CicLAvia have to be on the day of the FIFA final and then nothing for the rest of the year?) Who in the world does this Board see as its main constituency??? This isn't an issue in any other host cities but ours, why is this even being considered? Why is the Metro Board filled with so many people who are so anti everything but cars?

Metro is again proposing to waste millions of dollars on unnecessary freeway and roadway construction. So many studies have shown that this kind of construction does not improve safety, reduce emissions, nor traffic. It is akin to Donald Trump bombing school children to open the straight of Hormoz and then bombing more when it doesn't open. It doesn't work, it just makes our world worse.

The metro board is expanding highway construction at a rapid pace, almost as if we need to create climate warming all by ourselves. Please stop. Don't think of the children, think of yesterday's heat wave pounding Los Angeles, and just make it stop.

I ask that you vote no on these measures.

Dear Members of the Metro Board,

I am writing to express my strong support for the passage of Item #9.

The Northeast Valley communities view the Metrolink Station at Van Nuys Blvd. and San Fernando Road as a vital connection to the light rail line currently under construction from San Fernando Road south to the Van Nuys Metrolink Station.

Crucial to the success of this station is the planned mobility hub at the corner of San Fernando Road and Van Nuys Blvd., which is urgently needed. The light rail construction has required removing significant on-street parking along Van Nuys Blvd. in Pacoima, creating a growing hardship for local businesses. The mobility hub will greatly help alleviate this issue.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Hello,

I am an incoming UC Riverside CS PhD student, starting this fall. Although I will not reside in LA county, as a near-future SoCal resident I have a stake in LA county matters, and the proposed ~$120 million for freeway widenings in Item 10 are insult on top of injury, especially coming on top of the nearly $1 billion approved for highway expansions two months before (see https://la.streetsblog.org/2026/05/28/metro-may-2026-board-updates-budget-east-valley-rail-noho-pasadena-river-path-and-more). Though it may seem I am not impacted by these projects, I will likely use Metrolink a lot for visiting friends in LA county and traveling to other universities in the SoCal area for academic collaborations, and LA Metro, facetiously claiming budget constraints, reduced their contribution to Metrolink by $6.1 million—pennies compared to what Metro has and is planning to spend on highway widenings in Item 10 and putting that system at risk of drastic service cuts (on top of the service cuts in March!) and a transit death spiral. It's like if the Cookie Monster said "oh we need to be conservative with our limited amount of cookies!" I can see your hand in the jar giving away all the cookies to highway expansion!

I distinctly remember Mayor Karen Bass a few months ago facetiously comparing the non-existent impacts of the K Line North extension claimed by some NIMBYs to the harmful impacts of past freeway projects/widenings, despite voting for highway expansions plenty of times (see https://la.streetsblog.org/2025/04/25/metro-and-caltrans-break-ground-on-105-freeway-expansion, https://la.streetsblog.org/2026/03/20/metro-plans-to-spend-nearly-900m-expanding-freeways-next-year-a-40-percent-increase). Well, now she and the Metro board have the chance to put their money where their mouths are and reject Item 10, and not only restore but also increase their contribution to Metrolink.

Thanks,
S.N.

To whomever it may concern,

My name is Leya Luo and I am a UCLA graduate student who relies on public transportation to navigate the city of Los Angeles and the state in general. I believe highway widening projects are a waste of time and money that do not solve any of the problems they claim to fix, disproportionately burden underprivileged communities and worsen existing health disparities, and will also lead to worsening air pollution and other harmful environmental effects. Thus, I am opposed to funding any highway widening projects as almost anything else would be a better use of the money.

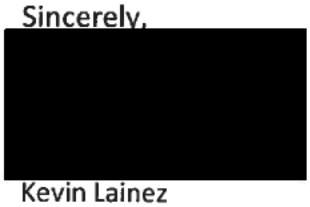
RE: City of Commerce Support for the Eastside Transit Corridor Phase 2 Project

Dear Metro Board Chair and Board Members:

On behalf of the City of Commerce, I am pleased to express the City's strong support for the Eastside Transit Corridor Phase 2 Project. This transformative investment will improve regional mobility, expand access to jobs, education, healthcare, and other essential destinations, and strengthen transportation connections throughout Southeast Los Angeles County.

For many years, Metro has worked with corridor cities, community members, businesses, and regional stakeholders to advance this project and thoughtfully respond to public input. The City appreciates Metro's commitment to collaboration and recognizes the extensive planning that has brought the project to this important milestone.

The Eastside Transit Corridor Phase 2 Project will provide lasting regional benefits by improving access to major employment centers, supporting workforce mobility, strengthening connections to one of the County's most significant economic corridors, and creating new opportunities for residents, businesses, and visitors. Approximately two miles of the Initial Operating Segment are located within the City of Commerce, including the future Commerce/Citadel Station, which will further enhance connectivity and economic opportunity within the City.



As part of the current environmental review process, we understand that the Metro Board will determine the preferred Maintenance and Storage Facility (MSF) location from among the evaluated alternatives, including MSF Option 3, which is located within the City of Commerce. We recognize that a maintenance and storage facility is an essential operational component needed to support the safe, reliable, and efficient operation of the light rail system.

If the Metro Board ultimately selects MSF Option 3, the City is open to and committed to continuing to work closely with Metro throughout project development, design, and implementation to ensure the facility reflects the City's operational, economic development, land use, and community priorities. We look forward to partnering with Metro to ensure the facility successfully supports both the long-term needs of the regional transit system and the City of Commerce.

The City also looks forward to continuing its partnership with Metro throughout final design and implementation to maximize opportunities for economic development, mobility, and community benefit while maintaining efficient traffic circulation, preserving access for residents and businesses, and minimizing construction and long-term operational impacts.

We appreciate Metro's longstanding partnership with the City of Commerce and respectfully encourage the Metro Board to continue advancing the Eastside Transit Corridor Phase 2 Project. The City remains committed to working collaboratively with Metro to deliver a project that serves both our local community and the region for generations to come.

Sincerely,

Kevin Lainez

Dear Metro Board of Directors,

The LA/OC Building & Construction Trades Council along with The Los Angeles County Federation of Labor are writing to express our strong support for the motion to create three additional voting seats on the Metro Board of Directors, including one specifically for a labor representative. As you know, at tomorrow's Metro Board Meeting, the Metro Board of Directors will be voting on a proposal which would add 3 members to the staff recommendation for the Board: a rider appointed by the county supervisors residing in an unincorporated area, the County Executive, and a labor representative. This proposal gives the working people of this community a meaningful seat at the table of one of our most important public agencies.

The Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority consists of several Board Members, who set policy, coordinate, plan, fund, build, and operate transit services and transportation programs throughout Los Angeles County. Labor has always been at the heart of these programs and has been the staunchest of partners with Metro from program inception to system operations. Metro's Project Labor Agreement and Construction Careers Policy make union labor an essential part of Metro's construction program, and we have already played an important part in many of the biggest wins for Metro over the last decade and more. With 28 major infrastructure projects slated for delivery by 2028 and the 2028 Olympics driving major transit investments, labor is the engine behind Metro's slate of projects. The rationale is clear: Labor is the foundation that has already built Metro projects. Labor should have a vote on what gets built.

The timing of this proposal also makes sense. Former Metro Board Chair Dutra formed an Ad Hoc Board Composition Committee to review the board's structure, meaning this push for a full voting labor seat is landing at a moment when board composition is already actively under review. As a member of the ad-hoc committee, Executive Secretary Ernesto Medrano has worked with his colleagues to make this idea a reality. The Metro Board seat proposals for small cities and transit rider advocates are also being voted on in this same meeting, a clear sign that the Board is already actively considering adding voices beyond the current elected-official structure. But even within the elected official structure, the County Executive will be elected by all of Los Angeles County and be responsible for representing the entire region. Without the County Executive being seated on the Board, there will be significant portions of unincorporated LA County without representation. Item 57 ensures that the entirety of our county is receiving the representation it deserves.

The LA/OC Building & Construction Trades Council sees firsthand how the hard work of our members continues to build the essential infrastructure that keeps California safe, connected, and moving forward. We strongly support making a member of our labor family a full voting member on the LA Metro Board, and we respectfully urge your support for this proposal.

Respectfully,

Re: COMMENT IN SUPPORT OF RECOMMENDATION B – AGENDA ITEM NO. 12 – EASTSIDE TRANSIT CORRIDOR PHASE 2 PROJECT

Dear Honorable Board Members:

This firm represents Prologis, Inc. ("Prologis"), owner of the approximately 13.8-acre property located at 2100 Yates Avenue in the City of Montebello ("Prologis Property"). This letter concerns Agenda Item No. 12, the Eastside Transit Corridor Phase 2 Project, scheduled for consideration at the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority Board of Directors' regular meeting on July 23, 2026, and, specifically, Recommendation B, which would approve the 9-acre Maintenance and Storage Facility ("MSF") Site 3 in the City of Commerce for the 4.7-mile Initial Operating Segment ("IOS"). Prologis incorporates by reference its May 22, 2024 comments on the Final Environmental Impact Report and its June 26, 2026 comments on the National Environmental Policy Act Environmental Assessment ("EA").

Prologis supports Recommendation B and respectfully urges the Board to approve staff's recommendation as presented.

Staff's recommendation appropriately right-sizes the MSF to the IOS's actual operational needs. Metro has determined that Site 3 can accommodate up to 39 light rail vehicles, exceeding the IOS minimum requirement of 12 vehicles; would utilize five parcels Metro has already acquired; would require no additional business relocations; would avoid the displacement of nine businesses and approximately 500 jobs; and would reduce acquisition, construction, and environmental impacts. Metro's cost-benefit analysis ranks Site 3 first, with a score of 6.2 compared to 5.7 for Site 2, and concludes that Site 3 would provide similar mobility and accessibility benefits at a lower cost, with a shorter construction duration and fewer impacts to adjacent properties and businesses.

Prologis recognizes and appreciates Metro staff's careful evaluation of the relevant property-owner, business-displacement, operational, environmental, and construction considerations, and commends staff for recommending the alternative that would avoid or substantially reduce those impacts. Accordingly, Prologis respectfully urges the Board to adopt Recommendation B as presented.

Because Agenda Item No. 12 is limited to the IOS while maintaining the full nine-mile Eastside Transit Corridor Phase 2 Project, Prologis's support for Recommendation B does not withdraw, waive, or modify its prior comments, objections, positions, claims, or rights concerning the EA, Metro's 2024 approvals under the California Environmental Quality Act, the full nine-mile Project, or any future proposal affecting the Prologis Property. Prologis expressly reserves all rights and remedies related to these matters.

Very truly yours,

Paige H. Gosney

RE: Opposition to Agenda Item 13, File 2026-0432, Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update

Dear Members of the Metro Board:

On behalf of AARP California and our members across Southern California, I respectfully urge the Board to pull Agenda Item 13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda and reject the staff recommendation as currently proposed.

Metro's Open and Slow Streets Program has been a hallmark investment in community mobility, active transportation, public health, and neighborhood engagement for more than a decade. Created in 2013, the program has funded over 100 events across Los Angeles County with the goals of encouraging walking, biking, transit use, community engagement, and equitable access to transportation options.

As written, the staff recommendation would leave large-scale Open Streets events without dedicated Metro funding through 2027 and into the first half of 2028, while also delaying a decision regarding a permanent program until after the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

AARP California is deeply concerned that this approach places the future of Open Streets programs at risk and deprives Los Angeles County residents of valued programming and community building opportunities. Programs such as CicLAvia, ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets, Camino City Terrace, and similar community-based Open Streets events have demonstrated their value by connecting residents with transit, encouraging physical activity, supporting local businesses, and creating safer opportunities for people of all ages and abilities to walk, bike, roll, and engage with their communities.

These benefits are particularly important for older adults. Open Streets events allow residents of all ages and abilities to experience safe, accessible public spaces, reduce social isolation, and explore transportation options that support independence and healthy aging. They also provide communities with a tangible opportunity to experience the benefits of safer streets and multimodal transportation investments—which voters supported and approved through ballot initiatives like Measure M.

At a time when Southern California is preparing to welcome the world, we should be expanding access to programs that promote mobility, health, community connection, and transportation choice. Open Streets events have proven to be an effective and popular way to achieve these goals.

We urge Metro to build upon this success and provide a path forward that strengthens, rather than weakens, this important program and the progress made towards a more age-friendly, connected, and inclusive Los Angeles County.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Luis Campillo
Regional Director, Southern California

Subject: AGAINST Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432 — Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update – Please Pull from Consent Agenda

Dear Metro Board Members,

On behalf of CicLAvia thank you for the opportunity to submit written public comment. We are writing to ask you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open streets events unfunded from now through the first half of 2028 and defers any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympics & Paralympics Games. That's a two-plus-year gap with no funding and no plan, long enough to put the open streets program's survival at risk.

This threatens regional open streets organizations and programs like CicLAvia and ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets. These events matter well beyond the region's biggest cities: smaller cities rely on them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation. Metro spent a decade building this movement. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multimodal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics and Paralympics Games.

We are asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a funding solution that keeps open streets events running now, instead of tabling the conversation until after the Olympics.
- Fund open streets events through 2027 and into 2028, rather than delaying the decision.
- Make open streets events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival every cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made these events successful across the region.

Please pull Agenda Item #13 from consent.

Thank you,

RE: AGAINST Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432 — Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update — Please Pull from Consent Agenda

Dear Members of the Board,

On behalf of Pedal Movement, I am writing to ask you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion. As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028, and defers any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympics. A change of this consequence should not pass without debate.

Pedal Movement is a Long Beach-based bikeshare and mobility company. We operate the City of Long Beach's bikeshare system, run a retail bike shop and bike valet service, and provide mobility consulting across the region. This work gives me a specific vantage point on what open streets events actually do.

They are among the most effective transit and active-mobility demand generators the region has. This past weekend, both CicLAvia and Beach Streets brought large crowds into our region's streets, and our team saw the effects firsthand: people who don't normally feel safe get to enjoy their streets, families discover routes they return to, and residents connect car-free travel to the transit lines that get them there. Our valets parked hundreds of bikes at Beach Streets and CicLAvia and the Long Beach Bikeshare program experienced its busiest day of the year. That is precisely the ridership and mode-shift outcome Metro says it wants. Cutting the program for more than two years walks away from Metro's own goals at the moment they matter most.

These events also sustain an entire ecosystem of small mobility businesses. Companies like ours — along with the bike shops, vendors, and community organizations that line these routes — rely on open streets as moments of visibility, revenue, and community trust that no marketing budget can replicate. A funding gap does not merely shrink events; it undercuts the regional workforce that makes active transportation real on the ground.

Long Beach, CA 90802

njrusso@pedalmovement.com

Open streets matter well beyond LA's largest cities. Many of the smaller communities we serve use these events to bring safe biking, walking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in this kind of infrastructure. Erasing regular events erases that access.

I respectfully ask the Board to:

1. Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is revisited puts the program's survival at risk.
2. Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028 — without delaying the decision.
3. Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival every cycle.
4. Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made these events successful.

Metro should be proud of spending more than a decade building this movement into a proven model. As a company whose entire business is getting people out of cars and onto bikes and transit, I can tell you it works — and that walking it back now, as the world prepares to arrive for the Olympics, is the wrong move.

Please pull this item from consent.

Nick Russo

Re: AGAINST Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432 — Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update – Please Pull from Consent Agenda

Dear Los Angeles Metro Board Members,

On behalf of the UCLA Graduate Students Association (GSA), the official elected body representing nearly 14,000 UCLA graduate and professional students, I write to express our strong opposition to Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) and respectfully request that you pull it from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Graduate and professional students at UCLA depend on a public transportation system that is reliable, affordable, accessible, and sustainable. Our students live in communities across Los Angeles County and rely on Metro buses and rail, walking, biking, and other forms of active transportation every day to travel to campus, research laboratories, hospitals, internships, classrooms, and workplaces. Public transit is not simply an option for many of our members. It is the infrastructure that allows them to contribute beyond our campus while navigating life across the nation's second largest city and region.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 while delaying any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympic and Paralympic Games. This creates significant uncertainty for organizations such as CicLAvia and ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets and threatens programs that expand access to safe, people-centered transportation in communities throughout Los Angeles County.

This proposal comes at precisely the wrong time. UCLA will serve as the Athletes' Village for the 2028 Olympic and Paralympic Games, while Metro is advancing transformative investments including the D Line Extension to Westwood and the Sepulveda Transit Corridor, which will connect the San Fernando Valley to the Westside with a station at UCLA. Together, these investments will fundamentally reshape how students, workers, residents, and visitors travel throughout Los Angeles County. Open street events are a natural extension of this vision, encouraging people to discover Metro, walk, bike, and embrace a safer, more connected, and multimodal transportation network. As UCLA prepares to welcome the world, Metro should be expanding opportunities for residents to experience sustainable mobility, not scaling them back.

Los Angeles has already demonstrated the power of this approach during the 2026 FIFA World Cup. Students and residents alike used Metro to travel between neighborhoods, attend matches, and participate in free community celebrations such as "Kick It in the Park" watch parties across the region. These events showed that when transit, active transportation, and public spaces work together, Los Angeles can welcome the world while strengthening connections within our own communities. Open street events extend that legacy by making sustainable transportation visible, accessible, and enjoyable long after international events have ended.

For UCLA students, open street events are not simply recreational programs. They encourage transit ridership, improve access to safe walking and biking infrastructure, support community well-being, connect neighborhoods, and make it easier for students to choose affordable transportation over driving. They reinforce Metro's long-term goals of increasing ridership, reducing emissions, improving safety, and building a transportation system that serves everyone.

We respectfully ask the Board to pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent agenda to allow for full public discussion. We further urge the Board to identify a funding solution that keeps open street events operating without interruption, provide funding through 2027 and into 2028, establish open street events as a permanent Metro program rather than a competitive grant opportunity, and preserve the multi-neighborhood format that has made these events successful across Los Angeles County.

We, UCLA graduate and professional students, are building our futures in Los Angeles and deserve a public transportation system that is reliable, accessible, sustainable, and designed around people. Continued investment in open street events advances those priorities and reflects the region's commitment to a more connected future. We respectfully urge you to pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent agenda and protect this vital program.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Subject: AGAINST Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432 — Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update – Please Pull from Consent Agenda

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Emmanuel J. Estrada, Councilmember for the City of Baldwin Park, CA. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics. This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk.

These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk.

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

RE: Agenda Item 13, File #2026-0432 - Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update
PUBLIC COMMENT IN OPPOSITION TO STAFF RECOMMENDATION AS WRITTEN

Dear Chair and Members of the Committee,

On behalf of CicLAvia and ActiveSGV, thank you for the opportunity to submit a comment on July 15, 2026, Planning and Programming Committee's meeting agenda item: Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update. We want to begin, genuinely, with gratitude. For more than a decade, Metro has been an extraordinary partner in reimagining what Los Angeles County's streets can be. Metro's investment helped open streets grow from a bold experiment into a proven regional model, such as CicLAvia and 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets, to one that has put hundreds of thousands of county residents on foot, on bikes, and on transit, many for the first time. Metro's support did not just fund events; it helped build a multimodal culture in this county, connecting corridors to bus and rail, introducing new riders to the system, and making public transit feel like a natural, comfortable part of everyday life for communities across Los Angeles County. We do not take that partnership for granted, and we do not want to lose it.

It is precisely because of that partnership that we write today with real disappointment. The staff report before you responds to a motion, authored with vision by Directors Horvath, Dutra, Solis, Hahn, Sandoval, and Yaroslavsky, that directed the CEO to chart a path toward a permanent, sustained Open and Slow Streets Program and to secure a minimum of $1 million to keep large-scale events alive between the FIFA World Cup and the 2028 Olympic and Paralympic Games. We are grateful to those Board members for their leadership in recognizing what is at stake and for pushing staff toward a durable solution. Regrettably, the staff report does not deliver on that direction.

Where the Staff Report Falls Short

- No path to a permanent program. Rather than recommending how to transition Open and Slow Streets from a pilot to a permanent program, as directed, staff push that decision to a Cycle 8 report in 2028, two years from now, and after the very Olympic and Paralympic Games this motion was meant to prepare us for.
- No dedicated Metro funding for the gap months and years. The motion asked Metro to identify a minimum of $1 million to fund an abbreviated grant cycle. Instead, the report asks local jurisdictions to fund events themselves out of Local Return and TDA Article 3, sources Metro does not control, that vary widely by jurisdiction, and that was not what the Board directed.

- No protection for large-scale, multi-community events. The report is silent on preserving the 4+ mile, multi-neighborhood format that has driven Open Streets' equity and ridership outcomes, risking a shift toward small, tourism-oriented "fan zone" activations in its place.
- An unaddressed, near-total gap in 2027. As currently structured, Cycles 6 and 7 fund essentially no events in the 2027 calendar year at all, a full year without a single large-scale Metro-supported Open Streets event, at the exact midpoint between two global events the region is preparing to host.
- A missed deadline. The Board directed this report back in March 2026. It arrives four months later, in July, further compressing the runway to plan for 2027 and into 2028.

The Numbers Tell the Story: Cycles 4, 5, and 6/7 Compared

A review of Metro's own grant records across Cycles 4, 5, and 6/7 makes clear that the shift underway in this program is not a minor adjustment, it is a fundamental change in what "Open and Slow Streets" means in Los Angeles County.

Metric	Cycle 4	Cycle 5	Cycles 6 & 7
Funded Events	12	16	~30
Total Route Miles	67.3 miles	83.6 miles	65.2 miles
Total Metro Funding	$5.0 million	$5.48 million	$10.0 million
Average Miles per Event	5.6 miles	5.2 miles	2.2 miles
Cost per Mile	$74,294	$65,564	$153,280

Source: Metro Open and Slow Streets grant records by cycle, mileage and funding data compiled from Cycles 4,5, 6 &7.

Three things stand out. First, Metro's total investment in Cycles 6 and 7 nearly doubled compared to Cycle 4 and Cycle 5, yet the total route miles delivered went down, from 83.6 miles in Cycle 5 to just 65.2 miles in Cycles 6 and 7. Twice the money is producing fewer miles of open streets, not more. In fact, more half of the routes in Cycles 6 and 7 were less than one mile long.

Second, the average event length has been cut by more than half. Cycle 4 and Cycle 5 events averaged 5.2 to 5.6 miles, long enough to link multiple neighborhoods, commercial corridors, and transit stations along a single route. Cycles 6 and 7 average just 2.2 miles per event, a route length that struggles to connect more than a single neighborhood or a narrow slice of a corridor.

Third, and most tellingly, the cost per mile has more than doubled, from roughly $65,600–$74,300 per mile in Cycles 4 and 5 to over $153,000 per mile in Cycles 6 and 7. Los Angeles County is paying more than twice as much per mile to deliver an event that covers less than half the distance.

This is what we mean when we say the current structure risks losing the true nature of Open Streets. The model that made this program successful, and that Metro helped pioneer regionally, was never about staging isolated activations. It was about opening long, connected corridors that stitch neighborhoods together, put transit stations along the route, and let tens of thousands of people experience their county differently for a day. Shorter, costlier, more fragmented events are a different program with a different, diminished impact. We do not believe the Board intended for Metro's investment to buy less distance at a higher price, and we do not believe that is a direction that serves the communities this program was built to reach.

What Is at Stake

If this report is adopted without revision, Los Angeles County risks losing far more than a line item in a budget.

- We risk losing over a decade of public trust and civic momentum built one open street at a time. We risk losing the very rehearsal space our region needs, the real-world experience in large-scale street closures, transit coordination, and crowd management that will make the difference between a good 2028 Games and a great one.
- We risk losing the equity outcomes that come from free, community-scale events, replacing them with smaller activations concentrated around tourism.
- And we risk losing organizational partners like CicLAvia and 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets itself, along with the volunteers, vendors, and community organizers who depend on a predictable, funded cadence of events to keep this work alive. A program cannot survive on a two-year silence between mega-events and expect to be ready to lead when the world arrives in 2028.

We do not believe this outcome reflects what the Board intended when it passed this motion, and we do not believe it reflects what Metro is capable of. Metro has shown, for over a decade, that it understands the value of open streets, not as a novelty, but as core infrastructure for building a transit-riding, bike-riding, walking public. We remain optimistic that this Board and Metro staff have the capacity, the relationships, and the track record to get this right.

Our Request

We respectfully urge the Board to decline to simply receive and file the staff report as written, and instead direct staff to return with a revised plan that:

- Commits identifiable Metro funding, not solely a redirection to local jurisdictions, to sustain large-scale, multi-community Open Streets events through 2027 and into 2028, as the original Board motion requested;
- Establishes a real timeline and process toward a permanent program, developed with meaningful input from community stakeholders and event producers, well ahead of 2028; and
- Explicitly protects the 4+ mile, multi-neighborhood event format that has defined this program's success.

A Direct Ask of the Board

We respectfully ask the Board as a whole, to introduce and adopt a standalone Board directive that formally prioritizes and institutionalizes the Open Streets Program as an essential, permanent function of Metro, on par with the other core mobility programs this agency sustains year after year, not a discretionary grant line that must re-justify its existence every cycle. That single act would do more to secure the next decade of Open Streets in Los Angeles County than any staff report could. We ask this of you directly because it is a decision only the Board can make, not another request for staff to study the question, but a Board-authored directive that settles it.

Thank you again for Metro's years of partnership and for the vision Directors Horvath, Dutra, Solis, Hahn, Sandoval, and Yaroslavsky brought to this motion. We remain a committed partner and ready to work with the Board and staff to close these gaps before Los Angeles County welcomes the world.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Pickle, a drag queen in Franklin Village and the Executive Director of Drag Arts Lab, an organization dedicated to expanding and elevating the art of drag throughout the greater Los Angeles County.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure. Our organization has partnered with CicLAVia to provide Drag Story Hours to the community at these events, and we have seen first hand the importance of their programs and the infrastructure that supports these programs.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from consent.

Sincerely,

Pickle
Executive Director, Drag Arts Lab

Dear Metro, 7/21/26

I'm 9 years old and I love biking in CicLAvia. I have participated in five CicLAvias with my Gram. We take the metro E, J, A, and D line with our bikes.

I love all the booths and riding in so many new places and seeing all the weird and cool bikes.

Please do not end CicLAvia.

RE: AGAINST Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432 — Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update — Please Pull from Consent Agenda

Dear Members of the Board,

On behalf of Pedal Movement, I am writing to ask you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion. As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028, and defers any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympics. A change of this consequence should not pass without debate.

Pedal Movement is a Long Beach-based bikeshare and mobility company. We operate the City of Long Beach's bikeshare system, run a retail bike shop and bike valet service, and provide mobility consulting across the region. This work gives me a specific vantage point on what open streets events actually do.

They are among the most effective transit and active-mobility demand generators the region has. This past weekend, both CicLAvia and Beach Streets brought large crowds into our region's streets, and our team saw the effects firsthand: people who don't normally feel safe get to enjoy their streets, families discover routes they return to, and residents connect car-free travel to the transit lines that get them there. Our valets parked hundreds of bikes at Beach Streets and CicLAvia and the Long Beach Bikeshare program experienced its busiest day of the year. That is precisely the ridership and mode-shift outcome Metro says it wants. Cutting the program for more than two years walks away from Metro's own goals at the moment they matter most.

These events also sustain an entire ecosystem of small mobility businesses. Companies like ours — along with the bike shops, vendors, and community organizations that line these routes — rely on open streets as moments of visibility, revenue, and community trust that no marketing budget can replicate. A funding gap does not merely shrink events; it undercuts the regional workforce that makes active transportation real on the ground.

Long Beach, CA 90802

Open streets matter well beyond LA's largest cities. Many of the smaller communities we serve use these events to bring safe biking, walking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in this kind of infrastructure. Erasing regular events erases that access.

I respectfully ask the Board to:

1. Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is revisited puts the program's survival at risk.
2. Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028 — without delaying the decision.
3. Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival every cycle.
4. Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made these events successful.

Metro should be proud of spending more than a decade building this movement into a proven model. As a company whose entire business is getting people out of cars and onto bikes and transit, I can tell you it works — and that walking it back now, as the world prepares to arrive for the Olympics, is the wrong move.

Please pull this item from consent.

Respectfully,

Nick Russo
President & CEO, Pedal Movement

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Alicia Avila, a resident of Chatsworth. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

- Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.
- Open street events are for everyone. Cutting funding doesn't just shrink events. It erases opportunities for communities that don't otherwise get this kind of infrastructure investment.
- I'm asking the Board to please pull this item from consent.

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028, don't push the decision down the road.
- Find a creative solution now, don't shut down the conversation for 2+ years until after the Olympics.
- Protect the 4+ mile, multi-neighborhood format that makes these events impactful.
- Make the open street events program permanent, not a grant line fighting for survival every cycle.

Thank you,

Alicia Avila

This gives me time to spend with my Kids my Family and Friends, gives kids the opportunity to get out of the house and learn how to ride a bike, gives kids the opportunity to do outdoor activities, make friends, get off those video games, I been attending CiclLAvia for over 10 years now and have always had a good experience and have made good memories.

Dear Metro Board Members:

My name is Ernesto Gonzalez and I'm a resident of Mission Hills. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multi-modal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Michael, and I'm a resident of Downtown LA. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As a car-free resident of Los Angeles, events like these boost morale and give us spaces to exist safely in our communities. The amount of times I feel unsafe as a pedestrian because of the lack of car-free spaces is too common of an occurrence.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Michael Otero

Dear Honorable Metro Board Members,

My name is Andy Au and I'm a 62 year old lifelong resident of Metro's service area. I remember when Metro was the RTD, Rapid Transit District system.

I have been a resident of Northeast Los Angeles from Silver Lake to Eagle Rock growing up.

I now live in South Pasadena.

I have enjoyed SO many Open Streets events over last 16 years having participated in the 10 - 10 - 10 inaugural CicLAvia.

I've brought my children to these events since they were 10 and 12 years old.

They are now 26 and 28 years old and I want to and plan to bring their children to future CicLAvia and ActiveSGV Open Streets events.

That will not happen if you don't take immediate ACTION.

Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.
Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

My name is Ty. I would like for you to leave this file out of the agenda. It does not serve the people of Los Angeles. This event is still young in it's growth. Many businesses have been able to have access to new customers from outside of the area, people from all over the world have also joined from time to time.

I believe the bigger picture is to turn this into a world wide event. For example: Asia has many countries full of people who live in the city where they ride bicycles, down and through Austraila and all throughout Africa and Europe and even the Middle East.

Imagine if we the people of California the Golden State single handedly made history by bringing the rest of the world together, with the long term objectives to be:

New customer business/clients, new world travelers (people who needed a reason to travel now have one), fundraisers for political and educational reasons, celebrity appearances, book signings, various classes and courses and so much more.

This development will bring more good news for the entire West Coast, not only that, imagine how much bigger the events will become once the building across from the Convention Center and Laker Stadium will do. There will be more traffic as all eyes will desire to witness what I consider to be the crown jewel of our Downtown Los Angeles.

Thank you

Agenda items #5, 55, 56, 57 (Metro Board composititon reform)

SUPPORT

Reform of the Metro Board is long overdue and highly support a board member must be a rider. However, I am a bit wary that "regular transit rider" is too broad as I don't want fare evaders and people who blast loud music be represented on the board just because they fit the "rider" description either. I would like the "rider" to be a representative who has a background in finance, law, construction, engineering, procurement, security, mass transit management, real estate development experience, etc. much as how mass transit riders of such backgrounds are the ones who are on the board in places like New York, London, Paris, Tokyo, Seoul, Taipei, Hong Kong and Singapore.

Agenda items #47 (Award BEB contract to El Dorado National)

SUPPORT

I understand Supervisor Hahn held some reservations in the Operations, Safety, and Customer Service Meeting last week as it's not union made. But I would like to remind that El Dorado National is a California based company which is based in Riverside, and that our precious taxpayer dollars should be used to help California based businesses and retain our taxpayer dollars right here in SoCal as well as going for who is able to provide the best price and top points as top priority rather than whether it's unionized or not. And, we should be supportive of this Riverside based company to help build their experience and technical know-how so that we can move away from the New Flyer and Gillig duopoly system. What better way to do that by investing our taxpayer dollars into a company based right here in CA and in Riverside? And if something needs fixing, it's much more quicker to call up a company and bring in technicians from Riverside than where ultimately the money goes to a company based in Winnipeg, Canada.

Support awarding the BEB contract to El Dorado National.

NEEDS MORE CONSIDERATION

I am formally OPPOSED to Metro forever funding the open streets and CicLAvia events as if it is welfare benefit for City of LA and shady non-profit organizations who are more interested in keeping Metro forever funding these types of events rather than the original intent of these events which was to permanently designate certain areas of City of LA to be car-free zones and be permanently open streets for pedestrians and cyclists. Rather it seems they would prefer to help keep the existence of these 501(c)(3) organizations funded and not have City of LA do it's job of creating car free zones in past places where CicLAvia has taken place, such as along Hollywood Blvd, Sunset Blvd, Melrose Ave, Koreatown, Silverlake/Echo Park, Highland Park, etc. all of which are within City of LA boundaries.

Item #13 seems to reduce the funding to this program which I would support, but long term this program should not be made permanent and MOVE to defund this program so that precious funding should be retained for Metro services (more faregates, TAP to Exit, better maintenance of stations and buses, etc.) and redirect the responsibility to the City of LA and LADOT to move past these events from pilot festivity stage to a permanent car-free section for their own city.

Dear Metro Board Members,

I've worked with Metro folks, as a mentor/coach in Glendale College's Team Internships Program. I know you care about our needs and welcome our involvement as your Metro riders. I've taken city buses, the Metro, and the Metroline many, many times. I've also ridden with my kids in CicLAvia events in Hollywood, Venice, Pasadena, the Valley, South LA, and DTLA over the past 10 or 12 years.

My name is Karen Swett, a resident of La Canada Flintridge (well, in an apt). I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

Why not keep that sense of community we already have, plus new community-building as the Olympics approach?

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

PLEASE consider the following - I'm asking the Board to:

1. Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk.
2. Fund open-street events through 2027 and into 2028 - we ALL benefit from a greater sense of community , now more than ever. Please don't delay the decision.
3. Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.

4. Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open-street events successful in the region.

Please, please, please pull this item from consent. We need to come together more than ever nowadays.

Thank you for listening to your community!

Take care,
Karen

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Elena Le, a resident of Koreatown. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion. This item goes against LA's promises to not let the games impact the local community. Why does the community have to sacrifice its community events to benefit the Olympics? If you want Angelenos to ride transit, you must make it easy and exciting for us to be a part of the community. CicLAvia promotes all alternatives to cars and LA Metro should support this mission.

This policy puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Board Members,
My name is Cynthia R., I am a resident of Los Angeles County as well as a current Metro employee. I am asking you to remove agenda item #13 from tomorrow's meeting (Thursday 7/23).

By pulling grant funding from open street events and pausing further conversation, you will destroy the hard work events like CicLAvia and Active626's Golden Streets/Active Streets have spent years cultivating. Open street events have grown in popularity over the years. It's increased awareness of multi-modal mobility, highlighted the importance of safe walking, biking, and transit access, and created a strong community.

As the world's eyes are on Los Angeles, I think it would be a terrible decision to reduce funding for these events. I am strongly AGAINST this item.

Board Members, I ask that you please find a way to continue funding these events through 2028 AND BEYOND. It would be so beneficial to Angeleno's for these open street events to be permanent.

Please, please pull this item from the consent agenda.

Thank you for your time and consideration,
Cynthia R.

To the Metro Board -
I'm Sarah, and I live in Los Feliz. I have lived in West Hollywood, Los Feliz, and Echo Park for the past 17 years and truly feel so honored that Los Angeles has welcomed me into their home. The open streets events are one of my absolute favorite things about LA, and that's why I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026 - 0432) from the consent calendar for a full and complete discussion.

Events like CicLAvia and other open streets programs matter! This agenda item would put them in jeopardy. I'm asking the Board to:

Find a creative funding solution to keep these events running now, instead of shutting them down until after the Olympics.

Fund the events through 2027 and into 2028.

Make the events a permanent program! They shouldn't be constantly at risk and fighting for their survival.

The events are multi-neigborhood and 4+ miles, which has proven to be a success and brings so much joy and awareness to the community. Protect them!

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Judy Covarrubias resident of Reseda Ca. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Judy Covarrubias

Dear Metro Board Members,
My name is Irma Aguilar and I live in Burbank, CA. I respectfully urge the Board to remove Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar and allow for a full public discussion.
The current proposal would leave major open streets events without funding through 2027 and much of 2028, while postponing decisions about the future of the program until after the 2028 Olympic Games. Such a delay creates significant uncertainty for organizations that have spent years building successful community events – and more importantly, the community Programs such as CicLAvia, ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets, and similar initiatives provide much more than recreational opportunities. They create safe, accessible spaces for walking, biking, and transit use while bringing communities together in a way unseen – and in a healthy way. For many smaller cities, these events offer one of the few opportunities to experience active transportation projects and public spaces that might otherwise never receive investment.
Over the past decade, Metro has played an important role in growing and supporting these programs. Reducing that commitment now risks undermining progress toward Metro's goals of increasing transit use, expanding transportation options, and creating more connected communities—especially as the region prepares to welcome visitors from around the world for the Olympics. Seize the moment to expand programs that will benefit the community and visitors!
I encourage the Board to:

- Identify funding solutions that allow open streets events to continue without interruption rather than postponing action for several years.
- Maintain financial support for these programs throughout 2027 and into 2028.
- Establish open streets initiatives as a permanent Metro program with dedicated funding rather than requiring them to compete for limited grant resources each cycle.
- Preserve the larger, multi-neighborhood event format that has proven successful in engaging residents across the region.

Please remove this item from the consent agenda so it can receive the thoughtful discussion it deserves.
Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Irma Aguilar

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Hannah Calistri and I am a resident of Silver Lake. Though I am not a native Angelino, I graduated from California State University, Los Angeles, and have become a proud citizen of LA.

The first time I felt true love for Los Angeles was when I took my bike to a CicLAvia event extending from Chinatown through Downtown. My bike had been collecting dust in my apartment because riding around Silver Lake with scarce bike infrastructure felt like a death wish. But when I am advertising Ciclavia to my friends, I describe it as heaven on earth. It's an event where Angelinos of all ages and walks of life can come together to enjoy our cities' urban architecture and culture. No other event in LA can take you from the heart of Culver City to Santa Monica or from my area all the way to West Hollywood. It is a chance for people to actually take a step in a neighborhood they only ever drive through, learn something new from the various tents and vendors associated with the event, or try a new restaurant that is now overflowing with bikers. (Ciclavia brings incredible foot traffic into otherwise low-traffic areas). I have never seen happier Angelinos anywhere else, enjoying each other's company and our city's uniquely expansive and multicultural community.

CicLAvia counters every negative claim about our city and these claims are being thrown around now more than ever with the upcoming Olympics. Open street programs like Ciclavia challenge all the anti-LA rhetoric: that our streets are unsafe for bikers and pedestrians, that we are car dependent, that we do not have public transportation. Of course, safety, traffic, and transportation are major issues for our city, but Ciclavia demonstrates how we are working towards a better future. If anything, Ciclavia can help us get excited and innovative about the Olympics and show the world LA through our eyes. Why shut down something that advertises and promotes the best parts of our city?

Ciclavia was able to collaborate with Netflix to promote Stranger Things Season 5, which seemed like a great model for generating funding for these events. That event was extremely well-attended and a blast to be a part of. Losing Ciclavia for 2027-28 would be losing an essential and exciting part of our city's evolving culture.

Returning to the script, I am asking the Board to:

• Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

• Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.

• Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.

• Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

And again, I am asking the Board to reconsider Ciclavia as a defining feature of Los Angeles. If you care about Angelinos, the reputation of Los Angeles, and the future of our city, you should care about and fund Ciclavia.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Grant Winfrey, a resident of Hollywood.

I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432, from the consent agenda for full discussion.

The report leaves large open street events unfunded through the first half of 2028. This postpones any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics, which would cause great harm to the tremendous momentum underway in establishing a new vision for our streets and transportation.

Important open street organizations like CicLAvia would be put at real risk. These amazing community events matter in making Los Angeles the city we want it to be, how we move around it, and use it. This is too critical for us to lose.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Don't damage this great creation. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as ridership grows and the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:
- Find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk.
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028. Don't delay the decision.

*This letter was composed by CicLAvia but it makes a lot of sense. I have been so impressed by the open street/one-day closure to motor vehicles concept. Those special days allow individuals and families to relax and enjoy walking and the outdoors; local vendor food is always extra-special as folks casually and playfully come upon something that appeals!
Best regards to what's best for Los Angeles. (I was born downtown in 1949!)

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Danielle Swiontek, and I am a resident of Santa Barbara County who frequently uses public transit to and within Los Angeles County. My husband is a longtime participant in CicLAvia events, which have become one of his favorite reasons to visit Los Angeles.

I am writing to ask that you pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open streets events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028, while postponing any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympic Games.

That creates a very real risk for organizations such as CicLAvia and programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets. These events matter far beyond Los Angeles' largest cities. They bring safe opportunities for walking, bicycling, and transit use to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure, while introducing thousands of people to places they might never otherwise visit.

Metro has played a central role in building this movement over the past decade. Allowing it to stall now would undermine many of Metro's own goals for transit use, active transportation, and regional mobility just as Los Angeles prepares to welcome the world for the Olympics.

I respectfully ask the Board to:

* Direct staff to identify a creative funding solution that keeps open streets events operating now, rather than delaying the conversation until after the Olympics. A funding gap of more than two years puts these programs at unnecessary risk.
* Fund open streets events through 2027 and into 2028 instead of postponing the decision.
* Establish open streets as a permanent, dedicated program rather than a grant program that must compete for survival each funding cycle.
* Protect the multi-neighborhood, four-plus-mile format that has made these events so successful throughout the region.

Please pull this item from the consent agenda and give it the discussion it deserves.

Thank you for your consideration.

Metro Board Members,

I am writing on behalf of the ACT-LA coalition to request that Item #13 is removed from the consent calendar during tomorrow's (Thursday July 23rd) meeting.

The Open Streets program, built in collaboration with cities across LA County has provided engaging, safe, public events that encourage public transit, and for many LA County residents are their only exposure to alternative transit experiences.

We ask staff to consider the item with the time and discussion deserved, and pursue alternative funding solutions to keep the program running to its fullest extent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Kayleigh Jankowski, a resident of Los Feliz. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program’s survival at risk

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don’t delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jonathan Bensick, a resident of Los Angeles (currently living in Mid-City). I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This jeopardizes some of our city's most successful civic events that my family, friends and neighbors look forward to every year, events that encourage bicycle, train and bus travel, and inspire Angelenos to envision a city with less reliance on cars.

It puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Virginia and I'm a resident of the Palms/Culver City area. Please pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent agenda.

Open street organizations are already underfunded and under-supported, and choosing to leave them off the budget for the next two years will be devastating both to the communities they serve and the people who work so hard to make those events happen. These events are so valuable not only as a fun Sunday outing, but as a way to educate Angelenos on the importance of reducing cars and creating safe streets for everyone to enjoy. It shows them a glimpse of what Los Angeles could do if we took Vision Zero and HLA seriously and prioritized people and a good quality of life over moving and storing cars.

Additionally, if Metro is serious about having a "car-free" Olympics, then you should continue to have these events as way to prepare the public for closed streets and restricted access to cars. Organizations like CicLAvia and Golden Streets are also wonderful potential partners to help with Olympic adjacent events, but they won't exist if you take away vital funding.

These open street events are incredibly eye-opening and with no exaggeration, life-changing. They are loved and well-attended. If you gut these organizations you will gain nothing and lose over 10 years worth of work and investment towards making Los Angeles a modern, multimodal city.

I urge you to remove this item from consent.

Thank you for your time,
Virginia

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Yolanda Davis-Oversreet, founder of Biking While Black and a resident of Los Angeles, living in West Adams and Downtown LA over the past year. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

1. Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
2. Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
3. Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
4. Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets will be put at great risk. Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Tom Hitchner, a resident of Vermont Square in South Los Angeles. I have seen firsthand the value that open-street events like Ciclavia have had on building community, encouraging exploration, and building youth interest in non-motorized transportation and outdoor exercise. Therefore, I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

These events have been beneficial to millions of Angelenos, particularly those in underserved communities. To pull their funding would be to halt the momentum that Metro has built in encouraging multimodal transportation, right before we host the 2028 Olympics.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ekatherina Buday, a resident of Los Angeles in View Park. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program’s survival at risk

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don’t delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Aaron Paley, a resident of Los Feliz, and co-owner of Community Arts Resources. I am one of the co-founders of the open streets movement in Southern California.

I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia, and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Community activists and organizers, community-based organizations, and countless individuals built the strongest movement for open streets in the United States right here in Los Angeles County over the past 18 years. With Metro's support, LA County has become the hallmark for open streets in this country and a showcase for the world. If Metro were to abandon its commitment to supporting open streets year-round, it would have negative consequences on multiple fronts and would even undermine Metro's goal of encouraging car-free alternatives for the summer of 2028. These events work because they are regular and predictable. If open streets disappear for two years, many will not have the same level of attendance if and when they do come back.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Revisit the 2028 commitments based upon the lessons learned in 2026. I know that we all learned a great deal from this "dress rehearsal" that everyone says the World Cup was. As a dress rehearsal, let's take notes and adjust for 2028. Using the existing allocations that were made in the fall of 2025 does not allow any of us to learn from this past summer.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

AGAINST Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432 — Open and Slow Streets Grant Program Update – Please Pull from Consent Agenda

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Benjamin Buday, a resident of Hyde Park. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Josué Hervey-Yoo, a resident of Palms. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Josué Lamonte Hervey-Yoo

I have participated in many Cyclavias, even in recent years as a senior citizen, using Metro rail to the routes. Cyclavia has allowed me to explore the many neighborhoods in the city and county that I would never have explored outside of an event like Cyclavia. Cyclavia allows me to visit coffee shops and restaurants and retail establishments new to me along the routes and to pass, by word of mouth, these finds to friends and neighbors unable to attend--a plus to businesses. And the Leimert Park event last month is just one example of the kind of unique cultural experiences that Cyclavia offers with the African marketplace and Festival of Masks parade at the beginning of the route. It was wonderful!

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Natalia and I have been a resident of LA County for seven years, where I've resided both in LA City and Inglewood. I write to strongly urge you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I've lived in both neighborhoods with extensive bike infrastructure and extremely limited infrastructure and these types of Open Street events have been opportunities for me to bike safely, visit local businesses and build community.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Thomas Martinez, and I'm a resident of Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Quite frankly, it's embarrassing that this proposal is even before you. Open street events are exactly the kind of investments that allow Los Angeles to grow and develop. When we look at peer cities like New York and Mexico City, programs such as NYC DOT's Open Streets and Muévete en Bici demonstrate what Los Angeles should and can become. These programs function well because there is dedicated funding.

These events empower residents to be active, connect with their neighborhoods, and become stewards of their streets. Opening roadways for people walking and biking allows us to reimagine our public spaces as vibrant community assets rather than simply corridors for cars. Because of Open Streets events, I've discovered small businesses I never would have noticed from behind the wheel. I visit independently owned corner stores, markets, and cafes multiple times a month because I found them through open street events. These events strengthen our local economy by bringing customers directly to neighborhood businesses.

Open streets events have become a cornerstone of Los Angeles culture, helping small businesses thrive at a time when many are struggling to compete with big-box retailers and online commerce.

Metro has spent the last decade building this movement. It would be a mistake to undermine Metro's own investments in ridership and multimodal transportation. I'm an active Metro rider who uses both bus and rail, and decisions like this make me and many others less likely to use transit. Please don't make that mistake.

I respectfully ask that you pull this item from the consent agenda and give it the full discussion it deserves.

Open Streets events allow for accessibility to the streets for millions to have a non-driver experience. For public and active transit users and non-users, it is an opportunity to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant Southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Metro Board Members,
My name is Birgitta Martinez], a resident of Eagle Rock, I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.
As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.
This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.
Metro built this movement over the last decade.
Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals.

Metro built this movement over the last decade.
Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.
I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.
Thank you for your consideration,

Birgitta Martinez

Ciclavia brings people together as a community. In these times, we the people need this more than ever. Ciclavia is an oasis in the rough sea of partisan politics and divisive rhetoric that we are currently experiencing. Please do not take this away from us.

My partner and I were personally able to attend our first CicLAvia event in East Hollywood this past Sunday and being able to occupy the streets safely with others in our community was such a privilege. These types of opportunities are so important in getting people outside, promoting physical activity, and feeling like part of something special.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Kelsey McGarry, a resident of Virgil Village. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program’s survival at risk

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don’t delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Kelsey McGarry

CicLAvia is an event that makes LA come alive, get people mixing, get people using public transportation and cycling. I am part of a group called Finding Female Friends Over 50 which has about 1000 members in the Los Angeles Chapter. I have organized more than seven events over the past four years to attend CicLAvia and they have been well attended, with most people using public transportation to get to the events. Some attendees have even become regular public transportation riders after attendees have ridden together.

My family and I have enjoyed numerous outings at these events. The fact that we gladly go through the effort of loading up a car full of bikes and driving over an hour each way speaks volumes about how valuable they are. These events provide a rare, safe environment for family recreation and allow us to connect with different communities in a way that simply isn't possible elsewhere.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jonathan Chue, a resident of Crenshaw Manor. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Jonathan Chue

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Aryan Ray and I'm a resident of Diamond Bar. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Casey

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Casey Newlin, a resident of Culver City (and recently moved from West Adams). I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ian Dutton, a resident of Venice. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I am a huge believer that opening streets to the people is a tiny drop in an annual budget but starts to repair the disastrous effects of generations of over-motorization. Not just in LA but in NYC, Paris, Bogota, Santiago de Chile - around the world, communities that have been torn apart by car-based development and corollary impacts are recovering thanks to reclaiming of streets. It's nothing to fund these measures to offset the billions spent by Metro and CalDOT and other such agencies to negatively impact communities.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Itzel, and I am a resident of South Central, Los Angeles. I am writing to you today to urge you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar to allow for full discussion with community members.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as CicLAvia. Open streets events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience and reimagine what a safer, healthier, and more vibrant Southern California can feel like. Reversing this program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals. Open streets prioritize people over vehicles, making it a much-needed initiative in a city that experiences high rates of traffic collisions that permanently impact community members' lives.

I urge you to take the following into consideration:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

A better LA is only possible by nurturing programs such as open streets, which are vital to fostering community and a sense of belonging across the city. Pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Lauren Murko, a resident of California. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

<3 Lauren Murko

My name is Melinda Cotton, a resident of Long Beach, who often uses Metro trains and buses to traverse our busy County. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

My husband and I have participated in a number of CicLAvias, and used our Metro A Train and busses to get to the Ciclavia. These Ciclavia events are hugely rewarding, much fun, and helpful in learning more about our 'Metro' area and meeting residents and business people across the region. They bring people together for a welcome day of bike riding and interacting with a multitude of people. CicLAvias are enjoyed by adults and children alike. They are well worth Metros continuing investment.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Michelle Rivera and I'm a resident of Westlake/MacArthur Park. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Marah Morris and I am a resident of el Sereno. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics. This board needs to make open street events a permanent dedicated program immediately, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Marah Morris

Dear Metro Board,

My name is Mike Blockstein. I live in LA in CD13.

Last Sunday I rode Ciclavia as I have many times. It is my favorite public event in LA. I was NOT there because of the World Cup. I was there because Ciclavia and Open Streets are LA at its best, a mixture of people from all over, of all ages, using all modes of active transportation, but mostly just enjoying experiencing LA in a way they can't otherwise.

When there, I met a couple who came from Woodland Hills to run and be part of their first Ciclavia. They came because they wanted to be more involved in LA.

That's what Open Streets offer. It's a vital program.

Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

It is unfathomable that funding for something that does so much for a small amount would be pulled until the Olympics. Please find ways to find funding, make this a permanent program that should never be at risk of funding cuts and let Open Streets continue to thrive throughout all of the region.

Sincerely,

Mike Blockstein

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Cesar Gallegos, a resident Koreatown, Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I am incredibly frustrated and disappointed that large-scale open street events could be unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 if this item goes unopposed. Events like CivLAvia and ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets are incredible opportunities for the community at large and come together and celebrate the neighborhoods, shops, attractions and people that make Los Angeles such a special place to live in.

I cannot for the life of me understand why the board is seriously moving forward with this decision. i am incredibly disillusioned with my representatives interest in improving the lives and conditions of their constituents. It often seems the board takes joy in stripping every bit of positive progress that this city makes toward making streets pleasant for pedestrians, bikers, and the mobility impaired in the name of saving a parking space or lane of road for drivers - whom much of the city's infrastructure is already built to accommodate.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Rachel Martinelli, a resident of Brentwood and someone who works in Downtown Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I have lived in Los Angeles for 13 years. One of my earliest memories of the city was visiting graduate schools in April 2012 and unexpectedly encountering CicLAvia while trying to navigate Downtown LA. At the time, I had no idea what was happening, but it quickly became one of the most memorable parts of my visit.

What struck me then, and still does today, is that CicLAvia reveals a version of Los Angeles we rarely get to experience. As an architect, I'm constantly thinking about how design shapes human experience, and CicLAvia is one of the rare events that transforms miles of infrastructure into a shared civic space where people, not cars, define the character of the city. It creates opportunities for neighbors, families, and communities to connect, explore the city, and experience Los Angeles in a different way. As someone who lives on the Westside and commutes to Downtown, I have seen firsthand how these events bring together people from different neighborhoods and create connections that are otherwise rare in a city as large and car-dependent as Los Angeles.

I urge you to support continued funding for open streets programs and help ensure a sustainable future for CicLAvia. Specifically, I ask that the Metro Board:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open streets events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this issue is revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk.
- Fund open streets events through 2027 and into 2028. Do not delay this decision.
- Make open streets events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each funding cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open streets events successful throughout the region.

These events are an investment in community, public health, local businesses, and the civic life of Los Angeles. They make our city more connected, accessible, and vibrant for all.

Thank you for your consideration.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Manne Green, a resident of Los Feliz. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

In addition, I strongly believe the events are a uniting force in the communities that put the event on. Ciclavia brings people together in a rare way: where people exercise and spend time together appreciating their communities and each other. This social benefit is invaluable.

I gather my pals in Santa Barbara and we take the Amtrak and then Metro to nearly every CicLAvia event. These events fill our hearts and remind us of the possibility to make any city into a temporary, car-free paradise. Oh, and we eat and drink everything in site, spending hundreds of dollars on LA businesses.

I have joined a few of the Ciclavia events each year, and I find it brings friends and families together, outside, away from the typical electronics and screens, creates awareness of local businesses, encourages healthy activity and through these impacts directly and indirectly improves our city.

To the Metro Board an d Mayor Bass:

CicLAvia is one of the great joys of Los Angeles. As a Hollywood resident, Metro rider, current CicLAvia board member, and former board chair, I strongly urge you not to cut open streets funding for the next two years and beyond.

Metro has been an incredible partner to CicLAvia - but Metro staff's short-sighted recommendation to defund open streets, and their lack of creativity in finding alternate funding sources is unacceptable. It is FALSE that the only way to fund open streets is to defund Bus Rapid Transit.

I am requesting:

- Pull tomorrow's consent calendar item Agenda Item #13, File 2026-0432
- Direct staff to find funding for open streets through Summer 2028
- Make the open streets program a permanent part of the budget.

As a reminder - CicLAvia has inspired thousands and thousands of Angelenos to take Metro for the very first time. Our impact is broad and deep - please do not let this program wither away.

Best
Catherine

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jenny, a resident of Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Jenny

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Michael, and I am a resident of Los Feliz in the City of Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events are so important to the communities that host them; they build connections between neighbors, create temporary open space in a region that suffers from park inequity and a lack of park access overall, and give local businesses and organizations a chance to interact with new clientele. Beyond that, open street events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Walking back Metro's support for open street events would undercut Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Rémy Morgan, a resident of Alhambra. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

The above is a script provided by CicLAvia, but I cannot overstate my agreement with what they have provided. Open Streets events are incredible to be apart of and a hopeful glimpse into the future. It gets the community out and about and active and shows us what could be. To shut down CicLAvia and ActiveSGV's events is to deny the people the experience of seeing truly functioning transport infrastructure. How do you anticipate anyone wanting to use the metro or the bus if they're dependent on cars and can't see a better path forward?

It's beyond devastating to see open streets events could be lost. When I moved here, I was really not sold on LA until I attended one of these events. It's what eventually led to me falling in love with the city.

On a personal note, as a Los Angeles transplant who became American in 2023 and has come to dearly love the city I now call home, Ciclavia is without a doubt one of the standout gems of the city. It brings me tremendous joy to see neighborhoods brought to life and people brought together to enjoy the event, and I look forward to attending every single one. I'd be incredibly saddened if we were to lose these, please reconsider.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

Please pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent agenda for full discussion.

My name is Sara Crump, and I live in Sherman Oaks.

I attended the first CicLAvia, and I'm still excited to attend whenever I can, after all these years.

In a region that famously doesn't have a center, or much space for large communal gatherings, CicLAvia and other open streets events provide a rare opportunity to create a moment of collective identity a few times a year, one in which all Angelenos can freely participate.

I'm deeply troubled by the idea that Metro would rather spend its discretionary funds on one-off occasions for tourists, in connection with highly-commercialized international sporting events, than on more ordinary and everyday, but much more relevant, activities that bring joy, well-being and connection in these troubled times when we are so fragmented as a community.

Thank you, Supervisor Horvath, for speaking up in opposition.

Thank you for you consideration,

Sara Crump

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jenny Chevez, a resident of Koreatown/East Hollywood. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Christine Lai and I'm a resident of San Pedro. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

-Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

As a 26-year resident of Los Angeles County and a regular and enthusiastic CicLAvia participant, I have seen Metro's commitment to funding open streets events bring a much-needed sense of shared community and joy to our many disparate neighborhoods. Metro's plan to abandon funding for these successful programs not only lets down Angelenos, all of whom can participate in these free and friendly events, but imperils preparations for the Olympics by eliminating the regular attention to our streets, neighborhoods, and transportation infrastructure that open street events provide.

Open streets events are regular proof of LA's welcoming and accessible vibe. Please fund 4+ mile open street events into 2027 and 2028 and pull this item from consent. Thank you.

Courtney Lamb

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ashley Wassamire, a resident of Hollywood/Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

• Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

• Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.

• Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.

• Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is David Lindsay. I am a resident of Long Beach, CA. I am asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Kathryn McCullough, a resident of Los Angeles, Fairfax District, where I've lived for over 30 years. I'm emailing to request that you please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

The staff report currently leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Kathryn McCullough

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is April Glatzel, a resident of Southern California, specifically Riverside, and many times per year, during events like CicLAvia and others, I drive and/or take the train to Los Angeles to participate, and spend money at local restaurants there. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and others like Active SGC's 626b Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the past decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm humbly asking the Board to:

* Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than 2 years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk.

These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Haruna Fujita, and I am a resident of Culver City. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Andrea, a resident of Beverly Grove Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I say this because I genuinely want Los Angeles to be a city that supports the ability of its residents and visitors to move around safely, regardless of how they choose to travel — on foot, by bike, on transit, or by car. That's not an abstract value for me; it's what open street events actually deliver, block by block, in neighborhoods that rarely get this kind of investment.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

Our streets are dangerous by design in too many places, and treating safe, car-free access as optional rather than essential is a choice this Board doesn't have to keep making.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Noah Mercer, a resident of Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As currently drafted, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events without funding through 2027 and into early 2028, and defers any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympics.

This creates risks for open streets organizations and programs like CicLAvia and ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets. These events matter well beyond the region's largest cities —smaller cities rely on them to deliver safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise receive little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro has spent the last decade building this movement. Pulling back now works against Metro's own ridership and multimodal goals, especially as the region gets ready to welcome the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to identify a creative funding solution that keeps open street events going now, instead of tabling the issue until after the Olympics. Waiting more than two years to even revisit this is unacceptable and threatens the program's survival.
- Provide funding for open street events through 2027 and into 2028, rather than delaying the decision.
- Establish open street events as a permanent, dedicated program rather than a grant line that must compete for survival every cycle.
- Preserve the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has driven the success of open street events in the region.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ed Peredo, a resident of Redondo Beach, CA. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro board members, I have attended dozens of CicLaVia events all over LA over the last 10 or so years. They often serve as a great introduction to a new Metro line/product and as such they've been an invaluable investment.

I ask that it continue and in fact be increased or at least solidified going forward instead of this half-arsed quietly defunding it to put money into something far less likely to have the community impact or return on investment for Metro.

Sincerely,

Jeremy M. Lang, 4/4 voter

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Kelly Ocampo and I'm a resident of San Gabriel. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program’s survival at risk

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don’t delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jaylene Ortiz a resident of La Puente. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Timothy Henderson a resident of Mid-City (Miracle Mile area). I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Emily Rosales, and I'm a resident of Los Angeles, specifically the community of Watts. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Los Angeles has the highest pedestrian fatality rate of any city in the country. In 2025, more than 150 people were killed while walking on our streets. This is the third year in a row that traffic deaths outpaced homicides in this city. This danger isn't spread evenly: just 6% of LA's street miles account for 65% of all pedestrian and cyclist fatalities and serious injuries, concentrated on wide, high-speed arterials in South LA and other underserved communities. That's my community. Watts sits directly in the corridors this data identifies as the most dangerous in the entire city and it is also a community that almost never gets an open streets event.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open streets events unfunded through 2027 and into the first half of 2028, and punts any decision on a permanent program until after the 2028 Olympics. That is not a minor scheduling gap. It is a two-year abandonment of a program that gets cars off dangerous streets and puts safe infrastructure in neighborhoods like mine, at the exact moment the data says we need it most.

I've worked with mobility advocacy organizations, including the East Side Riders Bike Club, and I've supported several CicLAvia events. I've seen what these events do on the ground.

Open streets aren't just recreation. They're an intervention. For at-risk youth in neighborhoods like Watts, an open streets event is often the first time they encounter organized biking, skating, running clubs, or sports in a safe, car-free public space. That kind of access changes what young people believe is possible for how they move through their own city. Communities like mine are rarely given the chance to experience that, and this item, as written, guarantees we'll keep waiting.

This funding gap also puts organizations like CicLAvia and programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden/Active Streets at real risk. These programs serve smaller cities and neighborhoods that otherwise see little to no investment in active transportation.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now, while pouring resources into Olympic readiness for visitors, sends a clear message about whose safety and whose neighborhoods are the priority. Angelenos who live here year-round, especially in the communities most exposed to traffic violence, should not be an afterthought to tourists passing through for a few weeks in 2028.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to identify a creative funding solution that keeps open streets events running now, rather than shelving the conversation until after the Olympics. A two-plus-year gap before this is even revisited is unacceptable and threatens the program's survival.
- Fund open streets events through 2027 and into 2028 — don't delay the decision.
- Establish open streets events as a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival every cycle.
- Prioritize underserved communities like Watts and South LA — the same neighborhoods identified as having the highest concentration of pedestrian deaths — for future open streets events.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made these events successful across the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Emily Rosales

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Virginia Flores, a resident of Jefferson Park in Los Angeles, a neighborhood that has seen incredible improvement in our access to public transit in the last few years. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I don't live in LA but i like to travel to LA for CicLAvia events. I ride metro and I spend money at the local businesses along the route. Pulling funding is a classic penny-wise but pound-foolish policy. The money you spend you get back from all the people who get to explore favorite and new areas of Los Angeles. Please don't pull the funding for open street events.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ollie Loorz, a resident of Los Feliz. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion. This is of extreme concern to me and many many others in the city!

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk.

These events are the greatest part about living in this city. When I am biking through neighborhoods on street level surrounded by people, it gives me a glimpse into what this city can be. There is NO other event that ignites connection and togetherness like these open street events. You have to continue funding these vital events if you want this city to function.

These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Eric Pratt, a resident of North Hollywood. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

The choice not to purposefully fund large-scale open street events requires your partner organizations and their events, large and small, to spend time, money, and resources fighting each other for what little public funding the Olympics has not already swallowed. By the time you get around to the permanent funding decision you're trying to punt until after the Olympics, the events of those partner organizations, or even the organizations themselves, may need quite a bit of resurrection.

If Metro believes in the movement toward active transportation infrastructure that it has spent the last decade building, then proactive investment in programming that promotes those goals is the right choice.

I'm asking the Board to please:
1. Don't Punt: Pull this item from consent and begin the discussion in earnest.
2. Huddle Up: Direct staff to promptly reevaluate possible avenues for funding open street events in 2027 and 2028.
3. Get the First Down: Implement the funding avenues staff discovers before the end of this quarter.
4. Go for the Touchdown: Using the Cycle 6 and 7 model staff generates as a template, create funding avenues for a permanent, dedicated open street events program by the top of 2027.

The multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format has made open street events successful at promoting active transportation infrastructure in the region. Please don't leave those successes to wither for two years just to fret over a shiny five-wheel mega-bike that already promises to run over local concerns.

Again, please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Eric

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Angélica María Vielma, a resident of Hollywood. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

As an Angeleno who reluctantly grew up being driven around in cars, I know far too well the consequences of a car-dominated landscape. It's not right. These open street events do not just offer a respite for the public, but encourage the full utilization of a people's respect for the place they live in.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Epifanio Rio Chinanteco Analco, a resident and community member of Huntington Park in LA County. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure. It promotes and encourages neighborhoods to come together and enjoy the outdoors without the disruption of fast moving vehicles like cars, trucks, etc. I have personally attended many of these open street events and have partaken in the activities. Many families and neighbors enjoy these events that require no price tag but a smile on your face and having a good time. Events and activities like these are a foundation for numerous communities and shouldn't be looked at as luxuries, but rather ESSENTIALS for a thriving community.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.

- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,
Epifanio Chinanteco Analco

Metro built this movement over the last decade. I have personally participated in dozens of these events since they were first launched and they have clearly generated a sense of community and introduced many to the joys of exploring their neighborhoods in a way that is healthy for them and the environment, while also contributing to the businesses along the routes. Defunding the movement that Metro did a good job of creating undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

My name is Roberta Stardust, a resident of North Hollywood. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I am a cancer survivor and Open Streets events have helped me to feel part of the greater Los Angeles community. Over a few years I have had a few surgical procedures. The last surgery I had was in summer 2023. In the Fall 2023, I was able to participate in the local CicLAmini in NoHo. I walked slowly, I was there and felt a part of my City. The accessibility that Open Streets provides is extremely important for all. On Sunday, I was at the CicLAvia in Hollywood and watched the World Cup with fellow Angelenos. With everything going on in the world we need time for joy and play.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Brannon Hollis, a resident of Los Angeles/Mt Washington and I am asking you to please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Open street events have meant so much to my family. We love riding our bicycles through the open streets of Los Angeles together. These events allow us to experience our city in a way they never could from inside a car. We discover new neighborhoods, local businesses, parks, and cultural landmarks while safely riding alongside thousands of people who share a love of cycling, walking, and being outdoors.

Open streets bring people together. They encourage fitness, strengthen communities, support local businesses, and create a sense of pride in Los Angeles. They also introduce many families to public transit, biking, and other forms of active transportation in a fun, welcoming environment.

Metro has spent more than a decade building this successful regional program. Walking away from it now would undermine one of Metro's best tools for promoting transit, reducing car dependence, and creating healthier, more connected communities, especially as Los Angeles prepares to welcome the world for the 2028 Olympics.

Please do not allow large-scale open street events to go unfunded through 2027 and into 2028. Instead, I respectfully ask that you:

- Pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent agenda for full discussion.
- Find a creative funding solution that keeps open street events operating without interruption.
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028 rather than delaying action.
- Make open street events a permanent Metro program instead of a grant program that must fight for survival each funding cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made these events such a success across Los Angeles County.

These events are an investment in healthier families, stronger communities, and a more connected Los Angeles. Please keep them alive for my family and for the hundreds of thousands of Angelenos who cherish them.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Brannon Hollis

Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Ara Lee

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Andrea Chavez, a resident of Chatsworth. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Dan Sipple and I'm a resident of Monrovia. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Aarushi, a resident of LA County. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Open street events are shining models of what a more sustainable future could look like. They are a great introduction for people to try biking around other, they allow bike and skate communities to meet up and make connections, and they provide a reason to explore small businesses in a part of town you don't usually get to explore. Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Scott Lowe, a resident of Leimert Park in the city of Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves open-street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and defers any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This leaves crucial organizations and events like CicLAvia and ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at considerable risk. These events are crucial to promoting community, physical health, public transit, and alternative forms of transportation. Removing funding for these initiatives undermines the momentum Metro has built over the last decade and will negatively impact Metro's own goals of promoting ridership and multi-modal transportation, right on the heels of hosting the World Cup and ahead of the 2028 Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable, puts the program's survival at risk, and undermines the critical progress made so far.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Cadence Corkett, a resident of Thousand Oaks. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

My name is Brianna Lopez and I'm a resident of Azusa, CA which is part of the San Gabriel Valley (SGV). Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Bryan Chastang. My family lives in Highland Park, my wife and I work in Downtown Los Angeles, our children attend public school. We commute across the city, and regularly use Metro and active transportation. This funding decision directly affects my daily life, and my own and my family's personal connection to our city. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

For me, events like CicLAvia are much more than recreational outings. They allow my family to experience Los Angeles in a way that is safe, welcoming, and connected. They encourage us to ride Metro, explore neighborhoods we might not otherwise visit, and support local businesses along the route. They remind us what a more connected, people-centered Los Angeles can look like.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

As both a resident and a daily commuter, I know firsthand that these events strengthen our transit system, support local businesses, and create lasting connections between communities. I hope you'll ensure they remain part of Los Angeles' future.

My family has discovered neighborhoods we'd never visited before because of CicLAvia, and CicLAvia gave us the confidence to try biking to destinations we now reach by Metro and bike.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Edgar Mateus, a resident of Los Angeles County.
I ask you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for a full discussion.
The current staff report leaves open-street events unfunded through mid-2028. It also delays program decisions until after the 2028 Olympics. This gap risks the survival of vital programs like CicLAvia and Active Streets. Smaller cities especially rely on these events to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to underserved neighborhoods. [1, 2, 3]
Metro built this movement. Walking it back undercuts your own multi-modal and ridership goals just as the region prepares for the global spotlight. [4]
I urge the Board to:

- Maintain Funding: Fund open street events through 2027 and 2028.
- Find Solutions: Direct staff to find creative funding now instead of waiting two years.
- Ensure Permanence: Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program rather than a cyclical grant.
- Protect the Format: Keep the successful multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile event format. [5, 6]

Please pull this item for discussion.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Edgar Mateus

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Eric Riley and I'm a resident of Los Angeles. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant Southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Daniel Brubaker, a resident of Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ixchel Boch, a resident of Boyle Heights I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

While we love the E line, we only feel safe riding bikes in our neighborhood during CicLAvia events. We are desperate for more open streets programs as well as investment that prioritizes bike and pedestrian safety!

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Emmanuelle Nueve, a resident of East Hollywood. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program’s survival at risk

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don’t delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Emmanuelle Nueve

On a personal level, these events have been the most enjoyable city events my family, friends, and I have ever participated in. We attend nearly every CicLAvia and find them to be incredible gatherings for getting to know our community and supporting local businesses / organizations. These events also help my public transit-adverse friends to feel comfortable with and excited about using LA Metro.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Sonja Lind, and I'm a Monrovia resident in Los Angeles County (my local Metro stop is Arcadia). I'm a self-proclaimed "Metro fangirl," so I'm writing this email with a great deal of affection for your organization.

Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as Ciclavia and Active Streets, which are my favorite LA events! Things I've done with both:

- Bought a yellow bike and yellow bike helmet so I could match all the yellow signs (Metro, Ciclavia and Golden Streets all use that color).
- Introduced dozens of my friends, and even coordinated a run club meetup at both Ciclavia and Active Streets events.
- Gone on biking dates with guys I matched with online (now I'm happily married, and go to these events with my husband).
- Celebrated a few of my birthdays with a Ciclavia ride!
- Sang "bike karaoke" with strangers in Culver City at a Ciclavia.
- And so much more.

As you can see above, these joyous events celebrate public transit and streets open for play, allowing millions of County residents like me to participate in Southern California communities. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please!

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

If you've ever participated (or even observed) a Ciclavia event, you've seen the love, respect, and energy boost that it gives.

I'm Metro loyal -- I own a car but take the trains regularly (love the D Line) and occasionally the bus to work. I'm on my bike at Ciclavia. I'm 71 years old, a voting citizen and a marathon runner. It has given me so much pleasure to attend Ciclavia events in multiple neighborhoods and meet people of all ages from all over the LA enclaves.

Please METRO, PLEASE protect what's been built with these events. Keep the funding in place for it.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Mary Buelow, a resident of Palms. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Christopher Duffy, a resident of Eagle Rock in Los Angeles, CA. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

CicLAvia is an incredible program that makes LA more livable, connects me to other communities, and allows me and my family to explore new neighborhoods. This is EXACTLY the kind of program that we should be supporting and expanding as a city, not jeopardizing.

My understanding is that, as written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk.

In my opinion, LA is at a critical juncture. We can build a future that's more walkable, bikeable, safer, more connected, and community minded. Or we can undercut all of that progress. Please make the right choice and direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.

CicLAvia and open streets programs have proven to be inspiring opportunities for Angelenos to experience their city and neighborhoods in new, exciting ways, and build community in the process. Literally our eldest son learned to ride a bike just in time to participate in the first CicLAvia event in 2010! It's become such a vital ritual for many folks here.

I don't like this because open street events are amazing for our city, especially in neighborhoods like mine that don't have great access to parks. Just this past weekend, we were all out in the streets enjoying the Ciclavia Meet the Hollywoods event. Losing these fun, free, and healthy events would be a huge blow.

I'm asking you to fund open street events in 2027 and 2028, and find a way to make open streets funding permanent.

Thank you for your consideration,

These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,
My name is Hayley Buchbinder , a resident of Highland Park in Los Angeles.

My family has for many many years gone to CicLAvia, it's one of the jewels of this city. It is open to all walks of life, a no cost event that means anyone can participate. It connects the residents to each other and to the city itself. Just a few days a year to go car free, to bike around in safety with other Angelenos and families. It's so precious, it's so positive. It builds community. It brings joy. It's value to this city is beyond dollars and cents. It's value is not measurable to the people of this city, but the value of CicLAvia is immense.

I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.

- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Ian Jones, a resident of Mid City. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure. These events show that many Angelenos want to bike when safe spaces are built for them. Many participants are introduced to the convenience of using Metro during these events.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Carly and I'm a resident of Highland Park. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Azad Amir-Ghassemi, a resident of Exposition Park in Los Angeles . I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics. These events are incredible for families, encouraging mobility, and access to knowledge about public transportation across neighborhoods in the city.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,
Azad Amir-Ghassemi

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Luna Romero and I'm a resident of South Central Los Angeles. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Liliana Soto a resident of Los Angeles/ Pico- Union (CD1). I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. Events like these are so important to the culture of this city. Not only do they provide outlets for people to do fun and safe bike riding around the city, but it gets people outside participating in healthy activity. My first Ciclavia was in 2013, and to think that the next few years we would go without it would end the momentum of this program.

As a car centric metropolis, Los Angeles communities only benefit from these types of programs. The city's economy benefits because of more foot traffic, people get out and use public transportation, the residents benefit because it creates community, all in all is a net positive. More than even WE NEED PUBLIC COMMUNITY EVENTS.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Gabriel Abaud a resident of the Los Feliz Neighborhood in Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Maren Gamboa, a resident of Burbank, born and raised in the Valley. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics. We saw through the World Cup how people enjoy gathering in collective celebration. This shouldn't be limited to private events. If anything, World Cup, Super Bowl, and Olympic preparation should include more open street events and activations. Meanwhile, I have a headline in my inbox about Metro planning $100m freeway expansion. The negative effects of expansion, and the minimal positive effects, are well documented.

This action puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jhoneil Centeno, and I am a resident of Montclair.

I respectfully ask that you pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the years, CicLAvia and other Open Streets events have become some of my favorite experiences in Los Angeles. Through these events, I've made many friends who share my love of cycling and exploring the city. They've also allowed me to discover neighborhoods, businesses, and communities that I would never have visited otherwise.

As someone who regularly rides a bicycle, Open Streets offer something that is increasingly rare—a chance to be active without constantly worrying about cars and traffic. For a few hours, families, children, cyclists, pedestrians, and people of all ages can safely enjoy our streets as public spaces rather than just roadways for vehicles. Those experiences are invaluable and help build stronger, healthier communities.

These events also encourage people to choose walking, biking, and transit while supporting local businesses along the route. Eliminating or delaying funding would undermine Metro's own goals of increasing ridership, promoting multimodal transportation, and improving quality of life throughout Los Angeles County.

I respectfully ask the Board to:

- Pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent calendar for full discussion.
- Find a funding solution that keeps Open Streets events running through 2027 and into 2028.
- Make Open Streets a permanent Metro program instead of a grant that must fight for survival every funding cycle.
- Protect the regional, multi-neighborhood format that has made events like CicLAvia so successful.

Please continue investing in programs that bring communities together and make Los Angeles a healthier, safer, and more connected place.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Jhoneil Centeno

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Jamie a resident of City Terrace, 90063. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Marisol Frausto, and I am a resident of Inglewood. I respectfully ask that you pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda so it can receive the thoughtful discussion it deserves.

Open street events like CicLAvia and ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets and Active Streets are much more than recreational events. They create opportunities for people of all ages and backgrounds to safely walk, bike, roll, and connect with their communities. For many neighborhoods, particularly those that have experienced historic disinvestment or have limited access to parks, safe active transportation infrastructure, and community events, these programs provide a rare and meaningful opportunity to experience public spaces in a new way.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028, while postponing any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics. This creates significant uncertainty for organizations that have spent years building trusted partnerships and delivering these events across Los Angeles County.

Smaller and underserved communities stand to lose the most. Many rely on these events to introduce residents to safe biking and walking, promote healthier lifestyles, support local businesses, and demonstrate what equitable transportation investments can look like. Delaying support risks undoing years of progress and limits opportunities for communities that already have fewer resources.

Metro has played a vital role in growing this movement over the past decade. Continuing to invest in open street events supports Metro's goals of increasing transit use, improving mobility, advancing public health, and creating more equitable access to transportation throughout the region. This is especially important as Los Angeles prepares to welcome the world for the 2028 Olympics.

I respectfully ask the Board to:

- Pull Agenda Item #13 from the consent agenda for full discussion.
- Direct staff to identify a creative funding solution that keeps open street events operating now, rather than delaying action until after the Olympics.
- Provide funding for open street events through 2027 and into 2028 to ensure continuity for communities and partner organizations.

- Establish open street events as a permanent, dedicated Metro program instead of requiring them to compete for funding each grant cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile event format that has made these programs successful, accessible, and impactful across Los Angeles County.

Open street events bring people together, encourage healthier and more sustainable ways to travel, and expand opportunities for communities that have historically been left behind. I hope you will ensure these programs continue to serve residents throughout the county.

Thank you for your time, consideration, and commitment to creating a more connected and equitable Los Angeles.

Sincerely,

Marisol Frausto

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Linsey House, a resident of West Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Carolyn Murray, and I am a resident of Los Angeles, in the Sawtelle area. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.
As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure. I've attended several CicLAvia events, and these open street events are an important way to support neighborhood businesses, improve community engagement, and increase Metro ridership around the city of Los Angeles. Removing these activities would hurt the city and engagement with Metro, when we all know that utilizing public transit and other Metro services are more important than ever.

Metro has built their open street movement over the last decade, with great success. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics. We should instead make sure we're investing in all that Metro has to offer, to encourage use of Metro's services among native Angelenos, not just for visitors.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. Many of my congregants participate in these joyous events, and my big regret is they almost always happen on Sunday when I am in the pulpit! These community-focused celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Michael O'Connell, a resident of Los Feliz. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Deborah Murphy and I'm a resident of the City Of Los Angeles and live in the Silverlake neighborhood. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Please

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running through 2027 and into 2028.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Serena Woodward, a resident of Mar Vista. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

I have lived near Ciclavia events and participated as well. They are a wonderful way to get people out of there cars and bring communities together. All the ones I have seen or participated in look to be a huge success with friends, families, and individuals enjoying a quieter way to see parts of the city.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.

Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.

Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Serena Woodward

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Morgan O'Neill, and I live in Mar Vista. I am writing to urgently ask you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for a full discussion.

The current staff report is devastating for our community. It leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028, effectively stalling any permanent program decisions until after the 2028 Olympics.

CicLAvia is truly one of the best things about living in Los Angeles. I recently took my toddler on her very first bike rides at CicLAvia, and seeing her experience the city's streets safely, without the constant threat of cars, was transformative. These events are where families like mine actually get to connect with our neighborhoods.

By punting this decision, you are putting organizations like CicLAvia and ActiveSGV at real risk. Metro helped build this movement over the last decade; walking it back now undercuts your own multi-modal goals just as we are preparing to host the world for the Olympics. A two-year funding gap is unacceptable and threatens the very survival of these programs.

I am asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep these events running now.
- Fund open street events through 2027 and 2028—do not delay this.
- Make open streets a permanent, dedicated program rather than a grant line competing for survival.
- Protect the 4+ mile format that makes these events successful.

Please pull this item from consent and fight for the future of our streets.

It is asinine that Metro is trying to cut funding from Ciclavia - one of the relatively few things that it has not screwed up recently.

Cut executive salary or perhaps do a better job of actually collecting fares??

Please pull this from the agenda, make your employees earn their salary and find some money to continue this extremely successful program.

Keep the funding for open streets events like CicLAvia. These are popular and successful events that bring families and people from all walks of life together. It's also an important economic boost for local businesses where these events happen and it's a great showcase for the community and different areas of the city and county.

People learn to think of alternate modes of transportation through these events and are the start of a culture shift toward public transportation, which is exactly what we need in the lead-up to the Olympics.

Any cuts now would be short-sighted and harmful. Please keep the funding intact!

Thanks much,

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Sergio Alejandro Gonzalez, a resident of East Los Angeles. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Sergio Alejandro Gonzalez

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Michelle Sorkin resident of Los Feliz. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics. Decisionmakers need to stop prioritizing the Olympic Games over the lives of residents now.

This board action would put open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Cutting funding for open street events is a direct assault on the culture of this city. It makes me question who you really work for. It makes me believe you are selling out the public for reasons I can only speculate about.

What is the benefit to the public? Why do you so hate the people who pay your salary? The people you are supposed to be serving? What have we done to you that you find so offensive that you would destroy one of the few collective cultural events we have? Why?

What follows is the thing they wanted me to send you. I'm sure you've already read it

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Anita Lin and I'm a resident of El Monte. Please pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent calendar for full discussion.

Over the last decade, Metro built a tremendous open streets program in partnership with cities across LA County and organizers such as cicLAvia. These joyous events celebrate public and active transit, allowing millions of County residents to experience what a safer, healthier, more vibrant southern California feels like. Reversing this small but mighty program now would undercut Metro's goals for ridership and multimodal transit, as well as our region's air quality and climate goals.

Ciclavia is one of the things that reconnected me with the world after COVID and one of the only good things I have ever thought funding went to. It strengthens our home communities in LA in a rare way bringing people from across the city together. Quietly pulling it only highlights how out of touch board members are with the communities they claim to support. We need more things to bring this city which has been wrecked by disaster after disaster together with joy and hope, not less.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Adam Long, a resident of Brentwood. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion. I was extremely disappointed to hear about the plans to defund open street events. These events have been so important to my ability to experience LA safely, and have had an incredible impact of the livability of our city. Do not lose the momentum you have built over the past decade!!

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration,

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Kristine Ocampo, a resident of Long Beach. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

Ciclavia is one of my favorite LA county events and one that makes me feel connected to the region. Please don't use LA28 Olympics as an excuse to pause these events, as LA28 will already be disrupting the city and county. If anything some sort of cross organization collaboration would be great to display how LA28 can be woven into our community and not just seen as disruptive.

I believe that Ciclavia is important in bringing transit awareness and transit safety to our communities, and they are important especially in smaller cities, who do not often invest in safe and alternative transportation infrastructure.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk

Me and my family regularly participate on both Ciclavia and Active SGV programs and as a city planner I can attest it is one of the best things a region or city can do for the residents as far as programming. It is always a huge celebration that highlights the myriad benefits associated with walking and cycling, being able to build community and even breathing easier without navigating between hostile cars releasing exhaust.

Dear Metro Board Members,

My name is Natalie Nguyen, a resident of City Terrace. I'm asking you to pull Agenda Item #13 (File 2026-0432) from the consent agenda for full discussion.

As written, the staff report leaves large-scale open street events unfunded through 2027 and the first half of 2028 and punts any permanent program decision until after the 2028 Olympics.

This puts open street organizations like CicLAvia and open streets programs like ActiveSGV's 626 Golden Streets/Active Streets at real risk. These events matter far beyond the region's biggest cities. Smaller cities use them to bring safe walking, biking, and transit access to neighborhoods that otherwise see little investment in active transportation infrastructure.

Metro built this movement over the last decade. Walking it back now undercuts Metro's own ridership and multi-modal goals, right as the region prepares to host the world for the Olympics.

I'm asking the Board to:

- Direct staff to find a creative funding solution to keep open street events running now, rather than shutting down the conversation until after the Olympics. A gap of more than two years before this is even revisited is unacceptable and puts the program's survival at risk
- Fund open street events through 2027 and into 2028—don't delay the decision.
- Make open street events a permanent, dedicated program, not a grant line competing for survival each cycle.
- Protect the multi-neighborhood, 4+ mile format that has made open street events successful in the region.

Please pull this item from consent.

Thank you for your consideration.

Natalie Nguyen (she/her)
